CHAPTER X

"FIRE AND WATER"

Pitts is found lying unconscious. He relates how he was thrown from his car by a man in a checked coat, having failed to recognize Helen in his assailant.

Helen and Rev. Thompson, preacher at the works, superintend the construction of the tenement homes. Pitts recovers and believes Helen is dead.

Pitts and his gang are desperate at their inability to keep the Thurstons out of the big gold profits found in the Mountain King. Helen saves the preacher's baby in an heroic dash across a burning bridge. The bridge falls under her.

Manager.

Mrs. Marshal Alspaugh, of Seaside, was the guest of Mrs. R. H. Currin last week.

Miss Dorothy Eschleman left Sunday for her home in Salem after a two weeks visit with her young friends at this place.

Mrs. Burt Moore entertained as week end guests, her mother Mrs. Richmond and sister Miss Nell Richmond, of Sellwood.

F. D. Fuller of the P. R. L. & P. Company, and wife of Portland and F. F. Fuller of Palo Alto, Cal., were Estacada visitors last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Moore with Dr. McCall drove out to North Fork, Tuesday morning. From there they were going to hike out and spend a few days hunting and fishing.

Miss Leila Howe left Sunday for Monmouth where she will attend summer school. She was accompanied as far as Portland by her mother, Mrs. C. F. Howe and her brother Ted.

Albert Wickerland, recently of Canada, has purchased the Joe Nicholson place, one mile east of Estacada and expects to move there with his family. The deal was made one day last week by S. E. Wooster of Estacada.

A. R. Hawkins is going about with crutches. Last Thursday, while hauling a load of wood from Cazadero, the neck yoke broke and the wagon tipped over with him underneath. The consequence was that his knee was very severely strained.

J. V. Barr has received a card mailed at Charleston, S. C., announcing the arrival at that port, of his son J. W. Barr from France. He belonged to the 13th Co. of the 20th Engineers and expects to receive his discharge very shortly. He served about fifteen months in France.

A card received recently from Mrs. E. W. Bartlett from Colton, California, states that they are enjoying their vacation and that the weather is cool in the mountains where they are, but hot in the valley. They rose at 3 a. m. the day she wrote, and drove to the desert, where they saw a beautiful mirage.

The Editor went to Oregon City Saturday to attend a meeting of his brethren of the quill. Bro. Hoss of the Clackamas Banner took him in charge and kindly escorted him around, but we were sorry to miss seeing Bro. Brodie of the Enterprise when we called at his office. Our visit while brief, was a very enjoyable one and all the more so as we met some old friends we had not seen for several years.

Mrs. Arabella Couse, her son Corporal A. E. Couse and her grandson Will Garmon left Tuesday morning for Portland, where they will make their future home. The best wishes of their friends go with them.

LIBRARY MEETING
