

LOWER EAGLE CREEK

Mrs. Mary Fletcher, who has been with her brother at Bridal Veil for some weeks, had the misfortune to fall while sweeping and broke her hip. She was taken to Portland to the Good Samaritan hospital where all is being done for her possible. As she is 80 years of age it is very serious.

Joshua Brumet has returned home from St. Vincent's hospital having almost recovered from an operation for appendicitis.

Grant Test and his mother were called to Eugene last week on account of the death of the former's sister, Mrs. Hill who died from paralysis.

Several of our Eagle Creek families have returned from camping two weeks at the Gladstone Chautauqua.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas have gone to Lakeview, Ore., to visit their son Harold who conducts a Hot Springs at that place.

VIOLA BREEZES

Mrs. M. J. Cockerline has sold her farm. Nephews of B. Fennler from Portland are the owners now. Clark Cockerline will move on to his brother Frank's place.

Babe White sold his two horses and three cows to a Logan man and he now owns a span of mules that H. Wooster used to own.

Fred Brash and family are new living in the house on his place. He moved from the parsonage last week.

Mrs. Eva Craft and daughter Minnie, from Portland, were visiting for a few days at the home of Wm. Hicinbothan and other old neighbors.

M. L. Sevier spent two weeks camping at the Chautauqua and enjoyed it very much.

Harry Reid is holding forth at the Viola store with a nice supply of groceries and produce. We wish him success.

Mrs. Wm. Kaake and children camped at Gladstone part of the time during the Chautauqua.

J. Randolph and family and Wm. Hicinbothan and family started on Wednesday for Nertart for an outing of a few weeks. They went in their autos.

Mrs. Clara Hicinbothan and daughter Alice camped at Gladstone with her mother Mrs. Sevier a few days last week.

W. H. H. Wade another of Estacada's representatives at the Gladstone Chautauqua, has returned home and speaks enthusiastically of the assembly as being the best one ever.

Travelers Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sparks returned home last Saturday morning, both looking extremely well. They say that their visit was delightful as they were in Oakland, California, where the weather was pleasantly cool. Business was brisk there as well as in San Francisco. The roads in California were, for the most part, very good and put to shame those in Oregon. This state will have to wake up and see to her highways, otherwise much travel will be diverted to other routes. California is engaged in a stupendous road program and soon will have her main traveled roads all paved. Mr. Sparks says the Californians do not take very kindly to the drouth imposed upon them by prohibition, but very generally have laid in supplies to tide them over for a time. They made the trip in their new Essex car.
