CHAPTER XIII
"DISOWNED"

Helen was wounded in the arm in the thrilling battle with the bandits.

Pitts tries to convince General Thurston that Helen is trying to undermine him in control of the Thurston estate. The old General attacks the secretary and is taken aback when Pitts shows the original telegram from Helen ordering a sale of the Thurston home. She is too weak to defend herself.

Mrs. W. E. Dunn, of Spokane, Wash., is visiting at the home of her sister Mrs. J. R. Hughes.

Mrs. J. E. H. Simpson and Miss Eleanor went to Seaside Monday morning for a weeks visit.

W. F. Cary of Boring, was transacting business in this locality last Thursday and greeting old friends.

Mrs. Mary Adams was a visitor Sunday at the home of her daughter Mrs. T. Ahlborg returning to her home in Portland the same evening.

Mrs. George Hardin of Detroit, Michigan, and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Clayton, Illinois, arr visiting their brother and sister, W. E. Linn and Mrs. Julius Kreiger.

Banker H. C. Stephens has a new Buick, the body of which is painted a dark green. It is a very handsome appearing car and is commensurate with his professional dignity.

Dr. McCall, E. E. Saling and son Ted, and Theodore Ahlborg went to the North Fork on a fishing trip last Sunday morning early, in the Doctor's machine and had excellent luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Yonce and son Virgil, with a young lady friend, attended the dance at this place Saturday night. The Yonce family were former residents of Estacada but now are residing at Oregon City.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wagner returned Thursday from an extended trip. They had been to Corvallis and thence went to Waldport, and report a pleasant time, enjoying the salt air, water and sea fishing. They both feel very much recuperated by the rest and recreation. They made the trip back and forth in their car.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Farrar, of Portland, have rented Mrs. M. H. Evans' little house, which formerly was the real estate office of R. M. Standish. They are accompanied by a Miss Martha Porter of Iowa. They expect to spend the summer here, as Mr. Farrar has the contract for removing cord wood to the Boring Wood & Coke Co.

A. G. Ames who was in Eastern Washington when he received word that his father-in-law the late W. H. Kellendonk had died, started for home immediately but only reached Portland just after the remains had been taken to the crematorium. He made the trip to Republic on horseback in about twelve hours, riding all night, and just managed to catch the train. When the telegram reached him, he was 85 miles from the railroad.

Mrs. M. H. Evans received Monday a batch of seven letters which she had written to her son Milton last fall when he was in France, and had never been delivered.

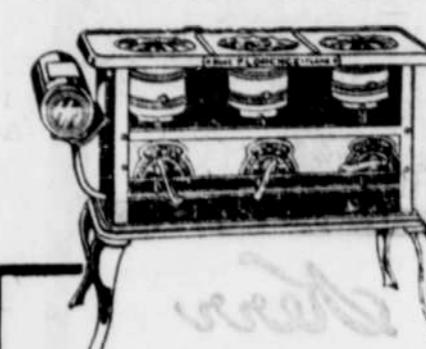

A card from Mrs. E. W. Bartlett informs us that they were going to start home last Saturday. If so they will be here about the time this issue goes to press.
