MAY HAVE AERO- PLANE LANDING

Estacada may be chosen for a stopping place of the aeroplane fire patrol. John Ferguson, the fire warden, went Wednesday to interview the Forestry Board at Salem, and lay the matter before it. He seemed very confident of the outcome. Mayor Bartlett has selected a suitable site, and been laying it out, north of the school house. If the Forestry Board decides on Estacada as a landing station, we shall have an opportunity of seeing and examining these machines, which have revolutionized war, and promise to do the same with freight and passenger traffic. The age long dream as exemplified in the myth of Icarus and his son putting on wings and flying, has become a fact. Men are now able to mount the heavens and wing their flight to the uttermost parts of the earth.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Goodrich of Portland, the parents of Mrs. J. F. Dunlop, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Friday. They were married in Iowa and came to Oregon thirteen years ago. In the presence of all their children, of which there are four, and other relatives, they renewed the vows pledged fifty years ago, their son-in-law the Rev. J. F. Dunlop officiating. The mother of the bride, Mrs. Ann Wilkins, who is 85 years old, had come from Missouri on purpose to be present on this occasion. This estimable couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts from their children and friends. Besides their children they have eight grandchildren, ranging in age from 2 to 21 years of age. Both Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich are known and have friends here, who will join in heartily congratulating them on this auspicious event.

Cited For Gallantry

Sgt. John A. Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Page, has been cited for gallantry in action at Mouzon, France, last Nov. 4th, in going to the aid of a wounded officer under a violent barrage. This entitles him to wear a silver star on the ribbon of the victory medal. He has arrived at New York and is expected home shortly.

Profit in Belgian Hares

A. C. Cooper went to Portland, Saturday to negotiate the sale of spring chickens and Belgian hares. Mr. Cooper who bought the former W. C. Whitfield place makes a specialty of raising these and finds them very profitable. He says the hares clear the land of dandelions, allowing white clover to come up in their place, and the cost of their keep is almost nothing.

Farm Home in Garfield

Our neighbor A. E. Sparks kindly took us out one evening last week, for a ride in his car. We went up towards Garfield and it was a pleasure to note the flourishing aspect of the country. Evidently the crops, whether of grain or fruit, are splendid this year, which means prosperity to the whole community, for when the farmers have money it becomes widely distributed. We stopped at the farm of George Armstrong, where we were hospitably received and treated to cherries and plums. This is one of the prettiest places in this part. The house stands near the turn of the road and is surrounded by good sized cherry trees on which there was still some fruit remaining. South of the house a field of oats was just about ready for harvesting and promising a goodly yield. On the north side there is the vegetable garden and orchard, while the land on the northeast end slopes down to the canyon where there is some heavy timber, forming a most picturesque back ground. Mr. Armstrong has his house fitted with modern conveniences, as he has a well containing an abundant supply of water, which is piped and pumped to the house by a Fairbanks Morse engine.

Only Boiling Point Test Can Tell True Value of Gasoline

The old gravity test for gasoline really tells nothing of its efficiency because gasolines of the same gravity may differ greatly in boiling points, and boiling points are the only true measure of gasoline value. By mixing two gasolines of high gravity and low gravity, a combination can be obtained which will meet whatever gravity test is desired, but such fuel would not work efficiently in an automobile engine.

When, however, the boiling point test is used, the refiner can be sure of maintaining the quality of his product and the motorist can be sure of a uniform gasoline. Every gasoline for good service, must possess a gradually rising series of boiling points. Low boiling points are absolutely essential for starting but are useless for high power. High boiling points give power, but no motor would start if only the high boiling points were used. The full chain of boiling points must be presented.

Only straight-distilled gasoline has the necessary boiling points. Red Crown is a well-known gasoline which possesses the full and continuous chain necessary for easy starting and full power.

A Birthday Party

Sunday a party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Standish and children, Phil Standish, of Portland, Mrs. M. H. Evans, Milton Evans, I. D. Wright, formerly cashier of Estacada State Bank, Mrs. Helen Dunlop of Seattle, and E. W. Bartlett and family, to spend the day at the Country Club in Garfield. The reason of this reunion was to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. R. M. Standish. A jolly time was passed, Mrs. Standish receiving hearty congratulations and best wishes for many happy returns of the day. We are not informed as to which anniversary this was, but it is well known in regard to married ladies it is proper to put them at twenty-five until they become grandmothers.

SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 8TH

School will begin Monday, September 8th. Bulletins are ready for distribution and will likely be mailed during the week. Those who wish a copy may address M. B. Signs, Superintendent, Estacada, Oregon.

Attention of soldiers, sailors and marines who served overseas, is called to the new law providing financial assistance in the attendance at Oregon educational institutions including the high schools. Those who can qualify will be allowed $25 per month, for not more than eight months per year and for not more than four years. A supply of application blanks has been forwarded to Superintendent Signs, and he will assist any applicant in filling out the same for whatever institution is chosen. Applicant should bring all papers and records referring to their service and discharge.

Those having housekeeping rooms, or place for students to work for board or room or part of same, or people who have places for teachers to board and room, may find it of service to file specifications with Mr. Signs.

Prof. Barrows of the O. A. C., State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, held a conference with the school board Monday night, and the board concluded, that since Mr. McCormick's place was now vacant, to offer instead of the conventional manual training course the coming year, a course in farm shop work in connection with the agricultural work under Mr. Straughan. By this arrangement, no manual training teacher will be engaged, and the high school faculty will be reduced by one.

Miss Lillian DeWitt, of Oakland, California, a teacher of considerable experience and business training, has accepted the position of Commercial teacher.

If there is a modern or semi-modern cottage available for rent to a teacher, please notify Mr. Signs at once.
