

OUR SLOGAN:

Community Cooperation

KEEP YOUR EYE
ON ESTACADA!

Eastern Clackamas News

Devoted to the Interests of Eastern Clackamas County

VOLUME 12, NUMBER 52

ESTACADA, OREGON THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 18, 1919

$1.50 PER YEAR

SOCIAL FAVORITE BECOMES BRIDE

A very pretty wedding occurred Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Reagan, when their daughter Kittie Ellen, was united in marriage to Charles Russell Betts. The rooms were decorated with asters and dahlias, with a bank of ferns as a background for the bridal party. About a dozen intimate friends were present to witness the ceremony, which was solemnized by Rev. J. F. Dinlop, the simple but impressive ring service of the Methodist ritual being used.

After congratulating the groom and wishing the greatest happiness to the bride, who looked charming in a handsome blue traveling suit, the guests were served a delicious luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Betts then took their departure by automobile to the accompaniment of rice, old shoes and a shower of good wishes.

Mrs. Betts is well known and loved by the whole community and will be greatly missed, as she goes to her new home.

Mr. Betts was a former Estacada high school student, later taking a course in electrical engineering at Oregon and Stanford Universities. After the entry of the United States into the war, he enlisted in the 37th Engineers and later served in France for a number of months. He has now accepted a position at the University of Oregon, where he has charge of all the electrical and mechanical work on the campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Betts will proceed at once to their new home in Eugene and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

Rebekah Anniversary

Odd Fellows and friends are invited to the Odd Fellows Hall, Saturday, September 20th, at 9 p. m. Games, dancing and refreshments will be in order.

A Log Cabin de Luxe

Through the courtesy of H. C. Stephens, the editor and his better half were taken out to Log La Barre last Sunday. It was their first visit to that hostelry of which they had heard much. The drive on the way was enchanting, as one passed ever hill and along dale, past substantial farm houses, past orchards of ripening apples and prunes, past country churches and school houses until after winding thru an avenue of majestic firs, the road emerges into the open, and Log La Barre stands disclosed. It stands on a slight eminence, facing an extended panorama of landscape which rolls out on every side to the horizon, bordered on the east by mountains among which towers snow capped Mt. Hood. The building as its name suggests, is of logs, four-square with broad piazzas. The rooms are ceiled and in the lobby and dining room are massive stone fire places, from which on chilly days blazing logs send forth a grateful heat. The bedrooms upstairs open by French window doors on to the piazza, besides a door into the hallway at the rear. The windows viewed at a certain angle reflect the landscape making them resemble choice paintings by noted artists. Every thing was immaculate and inviting. The writer thought of the lines, "I will take my ease at my inn." The stork was evidently aware of its merits, for Wednesday of last week, it left there a seven pound boy with the forest ranger and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carter.

Cafeteria Supper

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist Church, will serve a cafeteria supper in the basement of the church, on Tuesday evening, September 23rd, beginning at 6 o'clock.

M. E. Church

There will be services both morning and evening next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m., Young People's Meeting at 6:30 p. m. Everyone cordially invited to attend these services.

J. F. Dunlop, Pastor

SCHOOL NOTES

The music work in the high school is being organized somewhat differently from last year. Mr. Godfrey will hold a regular class once a week for those who wish to learn to read music, and examinations will be given and credit allowed in accordance with the work done as in other subjects. Besides this, there will be a weekly general assembly for singing practice. Mr. Godfrey came on Wednesday to begin the work.

Miss Jessie Hannah of the primary department, and Misses Morrison and McKnight and Mr. Straughan of the high school, were excused a few hours on Monday that they might go to Gresham for a glimpse of President Wilson. Many pupils were absent on that day, because of the opportunity to see the president. Miss Gertrude Dillon went to Portland Monday evening to hear him speak.

Several additional students have been registered this week. Among them are Bruce Randolph and Ralph Wade, former students who have returned to us after a year's absence, and Chester Morgan who comes as a junior from the Myrtle Creek high school.

There will be a football game on Friday between the high school and the alumni. This game should be of general interest because it is the first tryout of our boys this year. Five of last year's football letter men are now here with at least three more to enter soon. These with the new material on hand, give promise of an excellent team.

CRYSTAL WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Saling of Currinsville, celebrated their crystal wedding last Sunday, by an elaborate dinner. Among those fortunate to be present, were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sparks, Mrs. M. H. Evans of this place, and Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Adix of Gresham.

Watch next week's paper for "The Unkonkerabul Karnival."

C. E. DRAW UP YEAR'S PROGRAM

The officers of the state Christian Endeavor societies of the Presbyterian Church, met here in executive session last Sunday. There were about twenty-one in attendance and were accompanied by the Rev. Chas. W. Hays of Portland, who acted in an advisory capacity. The object of the meeting was for conference and the drawing up of a schedule for the work of the coming year. The delegation made the Estacada Hotel their headquarters and held their sessions in the park pavilion.

Week Day Religious Schools

Believing that good citizenship implies loyalty to some form of organized religion and that, to this end, weekday religious instruction should form part of the education of every child, the Episcopal Church in America has forged a new link in its proposed chain of weekday religious schools to be conducted in cooperation with the public school system of the country and which is part of that program of the Episcopal Nation-Wide Campaign now in progress.

The church school will give religious instruction to public school pupils who are children of Episcopalian families. According to the plan proposed, the public school authorities will issue "Parents' excuse cards," to be distributed by the rector of the parish to those of his parishioners who have children attending public schools.

If these cards are signed and returned to the public school authorities the children will be excused from their regular studies for certain periods each week, during which they will devote themselves to religious studies in the church school.

This scheme is no new experiment but has been in operation for some years, at Gary, Indiana, where it proved highly successful.