"The Turn in the Road"

Family Theatre, Thursday
Night, Oct. 9th.

Who and What is God? Does he visit upon man afflictions as well as blessings? Paul Perry, a faith in the orthodox God was blasted when his young wife died, and he went in search of the True God and sank to the depths of degradation. How his own child led him into the light of Truth is told in a drama of pathos and humor, thrills and climaxes that stir the deepest emotions. A beautiful story of the power of Love over Hate, and the simple faith of a child that overcame Fear and Unbelief.

E. W. Bartlett and wife and E. E. Saling and wife motored over to Battleground, Wash., to visit the Lasswells, last Sunday. Coming home their machine refused to go, so they were forced to sit out on the highway for four hours, until they could phone to Gresham for assistance. They spent the night in Gresham and returned home the next morning on the 8:30 car.

Back Home Again.

A vast pile of incongruous baggage at one of the large London stations has attracted the attention of many passengers. It tells its own story. Beds and bedding, chests of drawers with handles removed and the drawers held down by strips of wooden lath, rough crates containing mattresses and pillows, zinc bath tubs filled with every conceivable domestic property, are labeled "Belgian refugee," and the name of the owner, the identification number, and the place of destination are clearly indicated among the directions. This is all a silent testimony to the effect of war. The migration of all these thousands of people back to what remains of their native towns cannot but evoke sympathy from all those whose homes are still intact, whose fields and orchards and gardens are gay with white and pink blossoms.

Common Sense View.

"Do you know what is meant by bolshevism?" asked the contentious man.

"Not exactly," answered Mr. Gipping.

"Then, how can you say you are opposed to it?"

"Well, I don't exactly understand the mechanism of a buzz-saw, but I have sense enough to let it alone."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
