ESTACADA, OREGON THURSDAY DECEMBER 11, 1919

$1.50 PER YEAR

FIRE PROOF BLOCKS TO RISE IN SPRING

If the plans of some of our business men do not miscarry, Estacada will see a building boom next spring. As mentioned in the News two or three weeks ago, J. W. Reed intends to erect a fireproof block on the lots now occupied by Wooster's real estate agency, McWillis' grocery and the pharmacy, J. W. Lovelace and Harold Wooster bought last fall the vacant lot adjoining Wm. Dale's store and a half interest in the wall and will erect a two story fireproof building on it. J. C. Hillman bought the lot and the building he now uses as a meat market a short time ago, and it is in the wind, that he may join forces with Messrs. Lovelace and Wooster in putting up a building to cover both lots. There is a strong feeling that the coming year will be one of marked growth for Estacada. A number of new families are planning to move here, and it only needs one or two adventurous and progressive spirits to lead the way, in making substantial improvements for better business and housing accommodations.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary Louisa Brown died December 3rd, at "the Maples," the home in Eagle Creek, of her son A. J. Brown, after a lingering illness of some months. The deceased was born at Martinburg, New York state, in 1837, so she was eighty-two years of age. When she was a child her parents removed to Illinois settling at Richmond, where she was married to John G. Brown. In 1884 they came to Oregon near Currinsville, where she lived until a few months ago when she went to her son's, home. She was well and favorably known to the old pioneers around here. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. F. Dunlop last Friday and the interment took place in Lone Oak cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Carlson of Gresham.

The Western Winter Poultry Show

The Oregon Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold its tenth annual exhibition at the Auditorium next week commencing Monday and continuing to Saturday. Edward Shearer of Springwater, is superintendent and was in Portland Monday on business in connection with it. He says it promises to be the biggest of the kind ever held in the northwest. The guaranteed cash premiums amount to $1,500 and there are already 1,500 entries with many more to come.

An Apology

Owing to a variety of causes, partly owing to the weather, the News is late this week. We offer our profoundest apologies to our readers asking forbearance. Accidents will happen in the best of regulated families.

The American Legion

The Odd Fellows have kindly lent the use of their hall for the use of the American Legion. There will be a meeting of the Legion in this hall on Monday night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A Letter from Gotham

New York City Dec. 2, 1919.
Editor, Eastern Clackamas News
Dear Sir, I am sending a money order to pay for the News from Aug. 1919 to Aug. 1920.

The Eastern Clackamas News is always welcome and the reading of it never fails to bring loving memories of the years spent in Estacada.

I wish you success in your work among such splendid people.

Very Sincerely
Mrs. W. A. Wash.

Red Cross Seals

The campaign for the sale of these seals is being pushed with vigor. The school children are actively engaged in it, and all the business houses have a supply on hand. It is hoped five thousand will be disposed of in this locality.

Public Health Nurse

Miss Jane C. Allen, R. N., State Advisory Nurse, was in town Friday accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Weinhold who has just been appointed public advisory nurse for the county. She is appointed by the Red Cross and her salary is paid out of the proceeds of the sale of the Christmas Red Cross seals. She visits the schools of the county, inspects the children and gives hygienic talks. She visits the homes and advises the parents. The examination of the children is not compulsory, so that if any parents object their children are not examined. Miss Allen comes from New Jersey and is thoroughly qualified for her position. She expects to visit at this end of county one week in each month. As her advice and examinations are entirely free, this should be an additional inducement to invest in the Red Cross seals, as what is expended in this way, is returned by the services of this competent official.

NUPTIAL CHIMES

The announcement of the marriage of Philip F. Standish to Miss Edna Irene Deming of New York, has been received. The happy event took place at Salt Lake City, Utah, where Mr. Standish met his bride on her journey from the east. They proceeded afterwards to San Francisco where a brother of the groom is in business. Mrs. Philip Standish is no stranger here as she has visited in Estacada with her brother, Roscoe F. Deming. The many friends of the bridal pair extend to them hearty congratulations with best wishes for their future career, in which the NEWS joins con amore.

Apron Sale

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church will hold an apron sale all day at the store of Ely & Son, Saturday December 13. Cake and coffee will also be served. This will be an opportunity for procuring a useful and inexpensive present for the good housewife.

M. E. Quarterly Conference

The Rev. T. B. Ford, D. D., of Salem, District Superintendent, arrived Saturday to hold quarterly conference. He preached a very powerful sermon Sunday morning to a large and appreciative congregation. His subject was "sacrifice and service," drawing these lessons from the miracle of feeding the five thousand, showing that the church has enough to supply the hungry multitudes but it requires sacrifice and service on the part of the members in its distribution. After the service the conference was called to order, but soon adjourned for dinner, which was served by the ladies of the church in the basement rooms. This was a very happy affair as the tables groaned under the weight of the good things provided for the occasion. The hungry having been fed, the conference was resumed and finished its business. The prospect for the coming year is bright and with its pastor and people working with one mind, there can be no doubt as to the outcome.

Albert Lichthorn had the misfortune to break his collar bone while skiing today, Thursday.
