COMMUNITY CLUB ENJOYS FINE PROGRAM

The monthly meeting of the Eastern Clackamas Community Club last Friday night, proved one of the best so far enjoyed. A more varied program than usual had been drawn up, which made the time pass quickly and pleasantly.

President Stephens called it to order and spoke, as also did J. W. Reed, on the recent developments in road matters. It is stated that the engineers have agreed to start at this end with the paving and lay it just as fast as the base is ready.

Musical numbers interspersed the speaking; a duett was played by Leta Possen and Thelma Hay who showed marked proficiency for their age and received much deserved applause.

Two special speakers had been secured by President Stephens through the good offices of the Portland Commercial Club secretary. These were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips of Portland who are doing organizing work among the lumbermen, representing the L. L. L. L. Mr. Phillips asked what was the government going to do for the farmer and returned soldier? Henry Ford might go broke and no one would suffer in particular but if the farmers failed what would become of us? He outlined what the British and German governments are doing in housing the returned soldiers and settling them on a piece of land, suggesting that something of the sort be attempted here.

The girls glee club entertained the audience with a number receiving a deserved encore. Mrs. Phillips in her talk spoke on Americanism, its standard of morals as applied to business and religion. Miss Nova Smith followed with a pianoforte selection which showed she has considerable musical talent. W. C. Schuppel of Portland was called upon for a few remarks and responded with a brief talk on community cooperation and the need

OBITUARY

DIED—In Portland, Dec. 23rd Iva W. Head, aged 3 months and 9 days.

This little baby was born at the home of his parents in Garfield, September 14th. He was taken October 10th by his parents to Portland, for eye treatment, and while there contracted pneumonia from which he never recovered. His body was taken to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dillinger, in Garfield, and the funeral was held at Mt. Zion Church, December 24th.

"Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."

of every one getting behind the club. The program closed with a splendid solo by Lee Dillon who was accompanied by Mrs. McCall. R. C. Deming was chosen to represent the club at the Chamber of Commerce in Portland, Dec. 29 and 30.

A Christmas Party

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Krigbaum of Garfield had a family gathering at their home Christmas Day, consisting of their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren with some friends. A most sumptuous repast of turkey and abundance of other edibles was served by the hospitable hosts, to which their guests did ample justice. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Krigbaum and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Possen and daughter Leta, Mr. and Mrs. Hass Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gurber, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wooster and son Harry, Jacob Gurber, Ray Lovelace, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wooster and daughter Helen.

The Real Estate Outlook

"The past year has been very good in the real estate department of our office," says S. E. Wooster, Sr. member of the firm of S. E. Wooster & Son.

"We have negotiated a great many sales in the year of 1919 and from all appearance 1920 will bring something of a boom in real estate in this community, with the road work that is now laid out to do, and the building that is contemplated for the coming year, it should be a hummer. One of the great problems that confronts us at this time, is how to get houses for people to live in, as all the houses that are habitable are occupied, and we are turning people away daily, not having houses to rent."

OPEN HOUSE ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

On New Year's afternoon and night, Messrs. and Mesdames E. E. Saling, R. Graham McCall, S. E. Wooster, J. W. Reed, Theo Ahlberg, R. C. Deming, U. H. Gibbs, F. C. Bartholomew, and H. C. Stephens will keep open house at the Estacada Hotel. No formal invitations will be issued, but every one in Estacada and in the surrounding community is invited to call in the afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, or in the evening from 8 o'clock. In the afternoon there will be music, and in the evening games and dancing.

The Prayer Heard

Around the World

With "the prayer around the world" the New Year will be ushered in. In a thousand tongues it will be spoken at Watch-Night services in near and distant places; in the great cities of the western world no less than in distant villages on eastern hills. It will be heard by the kneeling woman in a New York pew, by the bare-foot Igorot headhunter, by Chinese converts with bowed heads, by Hindu women listening reverently with their arms folded crosswise on their breasts, by Persian, Japanese, Syrian, Russ, indeed by all the peoples of the world.

From New York, its starting point, the prayer has been sent around the world by the Interchurch World Movement of North America, a movement to bring about Protestant cooperation.

This prayer is the first ever to be sent around the world, the first ever to be translated into a thousand languages and spoken simultaneously in countless places. With one voice, though in many tongues, it calls for "the elevation of justice and of brotherhood" and appeals for the hastening of that "Kingdom where justice, mercy and love shall rule the hearts and hands of men."
