MEMORIAL CERTIFICATES ARE PRESENTED

Owing to the fact that it was neither advertised nor sufficiently announced, the meeting of the American Legion on Sunday in the M. E. church, was but scantily attended. The purpose of the meeting was to present to the nearest of kin, the memorial certificates given by the French government in honor of those American soldiers who had died in France. These are engraved on parchment paper and are very handsome, a description of the meaning of the symbolism employed accompanies each certificate.

The meeting was called to order at 3:30 p. m. by Sylvester Lawrence, the commander of the Carl Douglas Post No. 74. In his opening remarks he said in part:

"It is an exceptional honor to be privileged to call this meeting upon this occasion which calls to the mind of every man and woman the valiant deeds that were performed by America's great sons, in the cause of liberty and justice. This day it is fitting, while commemorating the birth of our first president, to review afresh those heroes who, in the line of duty, gave to the world at large, their own lives that others might live."

"In voicing to you the sympathy and condolence of every member of the American Legion, this organization whose greatness of purpose is as great as its membership, I would say to you fathers, mothers, we are here united in purpose, not only to preserve on such occasions as this, as well as for all time, the memories and incidents of our associations in the great war. We are here to commemorate forever the deeds of the dead as well as the living, and for, most of all, to see to it that what our dear ones fought and died for, whose sacrifices secured the victory, shall always be preserved and cherished."

The names of those for whom

At the 92nd Mile Stone

Mrs. Artemisia Saling was feted Wednesday afternoon, in honor of her 92nd birthday, by her daughters-in-law, Mesdames E. E. and C. C. Saling, at the Hotel Estacada. A large number of friends called to felicitate her on this happy occasion. The time was pleasantly passed in visiting during which piano selections were played by Miss Naomi Padisson. A dainty lunch was served in the lobby, and the guest of honor was the recipient of many beautiful presents. In spite of her extreme age she is still quite active and does not give the impression of her years. She was born in Bartholomew county Indiana, February 28th, 1828. The NEWS joins in the heartiest congratulations.

Mrs. W. H. Kandle Passes

Mrs. W. H. Kandle of this city died at her home, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, after being in a state of coma since Sunday night. She had been under medical treatment but was able to be out and around as usual. Sunday night she suffered from an acute attack of uremic poisoning which rendered her unconscious and from which she did not rally. She was a native of both this state and county being born December 13, 1863. Her maiden name was Minerva Stormer, and she was married to W. H. Kandle January 1, 1832. They lived at Springwater until seven years ago when they moved to Tillamook county, and then returned to Estacada in November 1918. Two children Charles H. and Gladys M. were born to them. The funeral services await the arrival of the son from Philadelphia and will be held the beginning of the week, with interment in Lone Oak cemetery. John Stormer of this place is a brother of the deceased.

Defective Flue Causes Fire

A fire started in one of John Page's houses on Shafford St. occupied by the Matsons, about 11 o'clock Saturday morning. It was caused by a defective flue, and was discovered in time before much damage was done. Mrs. Matson, Mrs. John Page, Lydia and Bust Matson constituted themselves an efficient fire brigade and soon put out the fire. A hole 4 x 5 feet was burned in the roof. There was no insurance.

Educational Film

Under the auspices of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society a four reel educational film, "How Life Begins," is being shown throughout the state. It depicts the process of development in plants, fishes, birds and animals, and the part sex plays in the matter. It was given here last Tuesday, one run in the morning and another in the afternoon at the Family Theatre. These films treat in a very clear and satisfactory manner a subject which is most important yet difficult to treat because requiring delicate handling.

HOOD RIVER LOOP PROJECT

That Estacada will be connected with the county seat and also Portland in a year or two by hard surface roads, is assured. But it is yet uncertain whether it will become part of the Hood River Loop. Last fall the highway commission was favorably inclined to a route running from a point near Cherryville to the George bridge, thence to Estacada thru Upper Garfield, and from Estacada to Baker's bridge and Oregon City along the river. Since then, the county has been bonded for roads and all this route will be paved by the county with the exception of a ten mile strip between a point near Cherryville to the George bridge. It will be necessary then to secure this from the commission to bring Estacada into the Hood Loop. With effort on our part and the enthusiastic backing of the Live Wires of Oregon City, the commission doubtless will be persuaded. We understand the matter will be discussed at the Community Club, Friday night.

Christian Church

There will be services Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Subject in the morning "Brotherly Kindness" and in the evening "Influence of the Bible."

Edward Wright, Minister.
