A HEALING LOVE.

When forth into life's rough highway they fare
To make anew each old mistake
And laze themselves with error-purchased care,
Let not the old home love forsake
Them in that piteous hour of sorest need
As in a hostile world they roam.
Instead, this gentle resolution heed:
Love still shall wait for them at home.

The wrong things they may do you'll not condone;
Still is no need to stand aghast
Or speak to them in harsh and chiding tone—
God knows they know, and it is past.
One time you kissed the baby hurts of them
As they sobbed to you, in the gloam.
There'll be no lack of those who will condemn—
So let love wait for them at home!
—Strickland Gillilan, in Farm Life.

Why the Electric Cleaner?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removes dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease."

But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.

SALVATION ARMY MAKES MEN OF SOCIAL OUTCASTS

Following a well known rule the Salvation Army, in its industrial homes, is taking the class of man who early finds his way to the poor house and rehabilitates him, makes him over, gives him confidence in himself and turns him over to employment that enables him to sustain himself.

The County Government makes its "down and outs" habitual indigents. It makes them a monthly allowance of money or goods for which it requires no service.

The Salvation Army takes the same man and gives him, not money, but work.

It pays him money for his work, and renews in him the knowledge that conscious and directed effort is entitled to and will bring him commensurate return.

It bathes him and wins him again to clean habit and thought.

It builds up his strength and his morale until he is fit again for the fight with the world.

Then it finds him employment and sends him forth to work that he is fitted to do.

Here in a nut shell is the story of the Salvation Army's Industrial Homes and the story of the Industrial Home in Portland, where scores of men from all over the state have found themselves.

All Gall.

"What has become of the Hon. Flushdub, who did everything he could last session to handicap the army?"

"He's out after the soldier vote."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SALVATION ARMY RESCUE WEEK MAY 1 TO MAY 10

Following the meeting of the advisory board representatives in convention in Portland March 17, John L. Etheridge, appointed to the post of state president of the financial phase of the Home Service program of 1920, started to form his committees under county president throughout the state.

The dates of May 1 to May 10 were picked for the financial campaign to meet the budget of $284,000 approved by the convention, at which were representatives of nearly every county. The period was designed as Rescue Week because all of the funds raised during the period will be devoted to the work of rescuing the poor from their poverty, the unfortunate and downfallen from their slough of despond and the girl mothers from their betrayal.

The work is carried on among people in all walks of life, among children, among young men and young women who have fallen behind in the race of life, among old men and old women whose years are drawing to a close.

The work of the army is always constructive. Throughout forty years of work in the slums of larger cities the organization has developed lines of service that no other organization would or could enter upon.

Wasted Sympathy.

"You know last night they got into the grocer's, broke open his safe and took $3,000."

"He should worry! He'll get that back in a few days."—New York World.
