MY LAST FAREWELL.

By DR. JOSE RIZAL.

Farewell, dear fatherland, clime of the Let the sun draw its vapors up to the sky, sun caress'd, And heavenward in purity hear my tardy sun caress'd, Pearl of the Orient seas, our Eden lost;

On the field of battle, 'midst the frenzy of fight,
Others have given their lives without doubt or heed;
The place matters not—cypress or laurel or lily white, Scaffold or open plain, combat or martyrdom's plight, 'Tis ever the same, to serve our home and country's need.

I die just when I see the dawn break Through the gloom of night, to herald the day
And if color is lacking my blood thou shalt take.
Pour'd out at need for thy dear sake.

To dye with its crimson thy waking ray My dreams, when life first opened to me, My dreams, when the Lopes of youth beat high, Were to see thy loved face. O gem of the Orient sea.

From gloom and grief, from care and sorrow free; No blush on thy brow, no tear in thine

Dream of my life, my living and burning desire, All hall! cries the soul that is now to take flight; All hall! And sweet it is for thee to expire! To die for thy sake that thou may'st aspire;

And sleep in thy bosom eternity's long

If over my grave some day thou seest

In the grassy sod, a humble flower, Draw it to thy lips and kiss my soul so, While I may feel on my brow in the cold tomb below

The touch of thy tenderness, thy breath's warm flower. Let the moon beam over me soft and Let the dawn shed over me its radiant Let the wind with sad lament over me keen;

And if on my cross a bird should be seen, Let it thrill there its hymn of peace to my Gladly now I go to give thee this faded Let some kind soul o'er my untimely fate And were it brighter, fresher or more And in the still evening a prayer be lifted Still would I give it thee, nor count the From thee, O my country, that in God I may rest.

Pray for all those that hapless have died, For all who have suffered the unmeasur'd

For our mothers that bitterly their woes have cried, For widows and orphans, for captives by torture tried; And then for thyself that redemption thou may'st gain.

And when the dark night wraps the graveyard around,
With only the dead in their vigil to see; Break not my repose or the mystery profound,

And perchance thou may'st hear a sadhymn resound;
Tis I, O my country, raising a song unto

When even my grave is remembered no more. Unmark'd by never a cross or a stone; Let the plow sweep through it, the spade turn it o'er,

That my ashes may carpet thy earthly Before into nothingness at last they are flown.

Then will oblivion bring me no care, As over thy vales and plains I sweep, Throbbing and cleansed in thy space and with color and light, with song and lament I fare.

Ever repeating the faith that I keep.

My fatherland adored, that sadness to my sorrow lends, Beloved Filipinas, hear now my last goodbye.
I give thee all: parents and kindred and friends;

For I go where no slave before the oppressor bends,
Where faith can never kill, and God reigns e'er on high.

Farewell, father and mother and brothers. dear friends of the fireside! Thankful ye should be for me that I rer at the end of the long day.

Farewell, sweet, from the stranger's land,
my joy and my comrade!

Farewell, dear ones, farewell! To die is to rest from our labors

Maryland Visitors

Mrs. L. A. Sagle and Miss M. Elizabeth Bell of Baltimore, Maryland, arrived here Monday, stopping over till Tuesday afternoon. Salt Lake, Colorado Springs, St. Louis and home, where they expect to arrive August 21st. A reason for their visiting Estacada was that they know the sister of E. J. Stevens who lived in this vicinity some years ago and then went to Virginia, where he died. They got S. E. Wooster to drive them out to the former Stevens' ranch and took a picture of the house. They expressed themselves as much delighted with the west, which they were visiting for the first time, and also with the picturesqueness of Estacada and its surrounding country.
