The High School Lecture Course

The senior class of the high school has assumed the management and responsibility of a lecture course for the year 1920-21. This is a worthy enterprise and should receive the cordial support of both old and young throughout Estacada and vicinity. It has always been the opinion of the writer that no high school properly functions unless it contributes something to the upbuilding of the social and intellectual life of the community, in which it is situated, and it is with this object in view that the present senior class has undertaken the task of managing and financing this lecture course.

The course is furnished by the Ellison-White Lyceum Bureau, which is a guarantee of the quality of the material offered. It consists of five splendid entertainments three of which are musical. Each of these will be given in the evening at the High School auditorium thus affording opportunity for all to attend without interfering with other business.

The price of adult season tickets is $2.00, child's season tickets are $1.00. This places the price within the means of everyone and is very reasonable considering the quality of the entertainment provided. When one considers the amount expended every week in Estacada for the movies, there remains no reasonable excuse for not patronizing this worthy enterprise for the upbuilding of the community.

The continuation of this lecture course by the high school after this year will depend upon its financial success this year. The class does not wish to make a profit from the course but it does expect the community to see to it that it does not suffer financial loss by the venture. It is hoped that everyone will boost by buying a season ticket.

F. E. BURNS, Principal.

Miss Gertrude Dixon entertained the teachers of the grammar and high schools. A very pleasant and social time was enjoyed which was followed by a corn roast.

The Right to Happiness

Manager Linn of the Family Theatre has secured the great Universal production, "The Right to Happiness" with Dorothy Phillips in the stellar role, for Saturday night and Sunday. Five thousand people took part in it and an entire city was built and burned in producing it. The author is Allen Holubar, the master mind who created "The Heart of Humanity," which was shown here last summer. "The Right to Happiness" is the great love story, a picture of that love for humankind which alone can solve the problem of human existence and bring true happiness. But it is more than a picture, it is a revelation, an overwhelming drama of life's greatest struggle revealed as if by a lightning flash. It contains eight reels which took six months in the making and the most talented of the Universal's staff are included in the leading characters. No one should miss this opportunity and here are ten vital reasons why they should see it:

They'll cry, they'll smile, they'll shout, they'll yell, they'll wonder, they'll stare, they'll be thrilled as they have never been before. Don't forget the dates, Saturday and Sunday, and look up the Family Theatre ad in this issue.

ATTENTION

In compliance with the instructions of the Public Service Commission we are requesting that all unpaid accounts be settled before Nov. 1st. ESTACADA HIGH TRIMS CAMAS

Estacada started the football season with the old-time fighting spirit. The home warriors held their opponents at will. Although the field was wet and slow there were many sensational tackles, and the way the home boys broke up the Camas passes was a delight to all who had the privilege of seeing the game. The line exhibited remarkable skill in breaking up the Camas defense. "Fat" Norris was seen using his hands in more ways than one, and Rae Lovelace sure had his eye on the goal line. He promised to carry more over the next time. Spectators predict the fastest, snappiest, scrappiest, sure-to-win team ever turned out. The back field deserves all the praise that is possible to bestow upon them. The Camas coach expressed it all when he said "Some team."

The final score was 14 to 0 in favor of Estacada. The boys are not satisfied with what happened Friday, their goal is—every game a victory. Will the people of Estacada help them to realize this goal? the boys are depending upon you; show your faith in them by attending the games. Live up to the ideal, "We never know defeat." "Let's Go!"

The season's schedule will be published soon. The next game is billed for Saturday, October 9, with Jefferson High of Portland on the Estacada field.

Jefferson vs. Estacada

A football game worth seeing, will be pulled off Saturday afternoon on the school ground commencing at 2 p. m. when the home team will battle with that of the Jefferson High school of Portland. Our boys should have strong support for this match promises to be "some scrap" of Greek meeting Greek.
