RALLY ROUSES REPUBLICAN VOTERS

The Republican rally at the Family Theatre last Friday was well attended, although the night was stormy and very disagreeable. The main speaker was Major Cassius R. Peck of Portland, who is a war veteran with an overseas record. He proved to be a brilliant and forcible speaker and made a deep impression on his hearers. He devoted most of his time to denouncing the inefficiency of the administration in its war department showing the flagrant waste in expenditure and handling of supplies. He paid his respects to the league of nations, which he denounced and showed what he considered the dangers to this country from it, if it should be adopted. He urged also that a Republican senator should be elected from this state as it was most important that the Republicans should have a majority in the upper house, otherwise if Harding is elected he will be seriously handicapped in his efforts. Major Peck was followed by Atto ney Levy Stipp of Oregon City, who is running for election, and Harvey Cross who is Republican candidate for county judge. Both these gentlemen dwelt on their past services for the county, promising a square deal to the whole county.

Community Club

The October meeting of the Community Club will be held on Friday evening of next week in the Odd Fellows hall. The principal matter of discussion will be the Japanese question, Sylvester Lawrence will support California's position and Upton H. Gibbs will criticize her contemplated action. The entertainment committee is making special preparations for a Hallowe'en party with appropriate games, music and stunts, to follow the business meeting. Every one in the community is invited to become identified with the Club. Please bring sandwiches and the club will serve coffee and cream.

Power House Burns

Estacoda was suddenly plunged in darkness last night between nine and ten o'clock. The reason was that the power house at Faraday caught fire. It started with one of the generators and spread to an oil switch which blew up, and ignited and completely demolished the roof. A crew from Portland was sent out to the scene and have been busily engaged in repairing the damage so as to get the light service restored. The estimated loss will be considerable.

Foot Ball Game

Our school team will play on the homeground, Forest Grove, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Our boys in spite of their injuries last Saturday are in fine fettle with their morale unshaken. Come and see them give the visitors the game of their young lives.

Democrats Will Rally

The democrats are to have an innings Tuesday night at the Family Theatre. It may be expected that Cox will be lauded, Harding lambasted, Wilson apotheosized and his league of nations extolled to the skies. Well turn about is fair play. Let us hope after election that the republican and democrat will live as peaceably together as the lion and the lamb when the millennium comes.

Called at News Office

We had the pleasure Saturday of a call from R. B. Beatie of Oregon City, the Democratic nominee for county judge. He publishes in this paper a statement of what he accomplished when county judge some years ago, in getting the timber holdings in the county cruised of the various timber corporations, so as to properly tax them.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wagner at the Lovelace hospital, Estacada, October 20th, 1920, a daughter. All doing well with Dr. R. G. McCall in attendance.

Church Fair

The ladies of the Christian Church will give a Church Bazaar in the near future. There will be booths to represent different days of the week. In the Monday booth will be found for sale, kitchen aprons, clothes-pin bags, and things needed on wash day. The Wednesday booth will contain fancy aprons, caps, bags, quilts, etc. Friday will be parcel post day, and in the Saturday booth will be found all kinds of good things, cookies for your Sunday dinners. This will be a splendid opportunity for laying in your first supply of Christmas gifts.

The time and place will be announced later.

A Montrosity

The Astoria Budget may be credited with a striking and homely illustration of the utter utility of the 4 and 5 per cent interest bill. It is:

Would a law prohibiting fishermen from selling salmon in Oregon for more than 5 cents a pound compel them to sell for 5 cents? It would not. They would market their salmon in Washington, where higher prices were offered. No more, either, will a law limiting the legal rate of interest to 4 and 5 per cent compel lenders to put their money in Oregon. They would send it across the border, where they can get 7 and 8.

Economic law is not concerned with state lines. No mere state statute can repeal it. But it may do great mischief. That was what was intended, no doubt. It is inconceivable that so bald and gross a montrosity was put on the ballot in good faith.

M. E. Church

A Little Nonsense

A friend who frequently sends squibs to the Portland papers, has favored us with this one:

Widow Buckley was arguing a debate with her daughter on marriage, when the Mama said to the daughter: "Hold y'r whist, shet y'r tongue, I was married before you were born."

At La Grande some years ago, one of the ministers was leaving for California. It was then fall and he was talking with another minister outside the hotel. The latter was groaning about the cost of his winter's supply of fuel, when the other remarked with evident self congratulation, "I'm going where I won't need to buy fuel." Just then a passing traveling man said with a grin, "I thought ministers were headed in a different direction."
