

The Watteau Girls

The third number of the Lyceum course at the High School last Thursday evening, proved up to the quality of the previous ones. The Watteau Girls were two young ladies from Texas who entertained the audience with songs and readings. They made a very pleasing appearance on the stage, their smiles being most bewitching. More than half the program consisted of child dialect and songs. The temperature of the auditorium this time was about right.

Monday night's Portland Journal contained a story of Lewis Jones a former Estacada boy and graduate from the High School. Louis is a sophomore at Reed College and is one of the debating team for that institution. Last Friday night as he was getting ready to go to Reed-Oregon debate at Eugene, the storm threw all lights out of commission, but equal to the emergency, Lewis used his safety by the light of the window and the glossy shirt front of room mate.

The Estacada Feed Co. sent a large shipment of live poultry, consisting of chickens, ducks and turkeys, yesterday morning, to Portland, by the P. & E. Transportation Co.
