WAR FILMS MAKE DEEP IMPRESSION

The Carl Douglass Post deserves thanks for bringing here the war films taken at the front. These must be seen to get an idea of their educational value, so the writer will just record some impressions derived therefrom.

1st: The bewildering complexity of modern warfare and its astonishing development in recent years.

2nd: The magnitude of its scope and operations.

3rd: The high order of inventive genius it calls into play, for devising means of destruction.

4th: The wonderful system by which the operations are conducted and supervised.

5th: The high morale among the men which was developed and maintained.

6th: The tremendous waste and destructiveness of war.

7th: That it was a high privilege to have taken part in it.

8th: That war is a breeder of future wars. The vanquished are imbued with an overwhelming desire for revenge.

9th: That the paramount duty of every nation is to maintain peace, and the stronger it is, the greater the obligation.

10th: That to wantonly bring about war is a most heinous sin.

11th: That it is absolutely necessary to be adequately prepared for self protection.

12th: That the next great war will be ten fold worse as both air and submarine operations will be vastly increased.

GOD SAVE AMERICA!

New Tailor Shop

Dan Quinlan, of Portland, an experienced tailor, has opened a tailor shop in the Odd Fellows' building, for cleaning, pressing and altering suits. He will also do dress making. This will be very gratifying to our people, as a shop of this kind is badly needed, and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

Patriotic Service

The union service under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. last Sunday evening in the Christian church, was in honor of the completion of the first year of national prohibition. An interesting program was presented in which the children took part. One striking feature was "The Appeal of Nations" by Misses Carrie Hannah, Irene Saling, Helen Wooster, Neva Clute, Nova Smith and Lydia Matson representing respectively, Japan, China, India, Turkey, France and Sweeden. Four appropriate addresses were delivered by the mayor, the editor, the school superintendent and the pastor of the church.

Thrift Week

Monday was the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, and it fittingly ushered in Thrift week," as he was the great apostle of economy. To learn to save is more important than to make money.

MUSIC SUPERVISOR ASKED FOR SCHOOLS

The January meeting of the Estacada Parent Teacher Association, Monday evening, at the High School, was well attended and great interest was shown in the topics under discussion. Miss Tozier, of Portland, for four years Play Supervisor, Peninsular Park, delivered an address on "the Value to Children of Supervised Play." Miss Tozier is a pleasing speaker, and her address was both interesting and instructive. After her address, the Association voted to begin work at once to raise money for the operation of a supervised play ground this coming summer.

The round table discussion on the regulation of social activities during the school week, was entered into with energy by the members of the Association, and many strong points were brought out. It seemed the consensus of opinion, that parents and teachers should co-operate for a closer regulation of social affairs during the school week.

A pleasing vocal solo was rendered by Miss Ruth Dillon and the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs. Each contributed two songs for the evening's entertainment. These were well rendered, and showed that our high school boys and girls have real talent, and that this talent is being developed in the right way. It is pleasing, indeed, to see our high school students so willing to do their part in community affairs.

A petition, directed to the school board and signed by a number of legal voters, asking that a special school meeting be held to decide upon employing a music supervisor for the balance of the year, was discussed and endorsed by the association by a vote of 23 to 2.

The Estacada Parent Teacher Association is steadily growing in membership, and is showing itself to be keenly alive to the needs of the school and the best interests of the boys and girls of the community.
