

From the County Judge

"As to the Court's treatment of your part of the County. At the present time there are four market roads in Clackamas County. These market roads received appropriations this year somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000.00. Your country receives two of these market roads, one from Eagle Creek and one from Estacada, which, in my judgment, puts your neighborhood in a class by itself in respect to favorable treatment by the County Court. These market roads are made at the expense of the general tax payers of the State and of the County and they are thus of extraordinary benefit to the localities where located."

"In other respects, your country has, and will receive, exactly the same treatment as has been, and will be accorded to each and every part of Clackamas County, friends and foes alike."

Concerning Blue Laws

To the EDITOR:

I make no war on the man who believes Sunday should be kept as a sabbath, but I certainly do object to his trying to compel any one else to observe the day.

When the Lord's Day Alliance or any other association announce that they desire to get legislation that in effect will invade the rights of the individual conscience, and when they give out that they desire a return to the Puritan Sunday, we have a right to investigate the workings of that sort of laws when they are enforced.

The Puritans did not know or practice religious liberty. All they wanted or understood was to have liberty to do as they themselves thought right, and they laid heavy hands on those dissenting from them.

Without entering into the question which day of the week is the Christian sabbath, it can be said with the most positive assurance that if it is Christian, it should be observed as Christ would have observed it, and the attitude of Christ's followers towards those who do not observe it should be in harmony with the way Christ talked and acted toward those who did not follow or believe on him when he was here on earth as our example.
