SENIOR CLASS PLAY PLEASES AUDIENCE

The participants in the senior class play may well congratulate themselves on drawing a record breaking audience. The play chosen for the occasion was, "For Love or Money," in which love comes out ahead. For a time the course of true love ran far from smoothly, but eventually the right couples paired off and the only one left in the cold was the scheming widow. The girls looked charming, and if we have a criticism to make it is that the boys did not manifest sufficient ardor in their wooing. In actual life there must be some pep put into the pursuit of the fair one, who likes to be shown.

Burchett's five piece orchestra played several attractive numbers and the class history, prophecy and will were read between the acts by Frances Hassell, Vernon Anderson and Frederick Burns respectively, in which much prescience and wit were manifested.

Why He Smiles

Mrs. Robert Smith of Colton, California, will arrive tonight, with her twin baby daughters, to make an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bartlett.

Additional Brevities

Rev. J. O. Staats of Oregon City, will preach in the Christian Church Sunday, both morning and evening.

The M. E. Church is being painted on the exterior, which will vastly improve its appearance. J. R. Hughes and George Pointer are bossing the job.

The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Cossman, will be glad to hear of the arrival at their home in Marshfield, of a little daughter, Margaret Ruth, on May 6, 1921.

Birthday Party

A social event which gave much pleasure to those who participated, was that of last Thursday afternoon, May 5th, when a number of friends and neighbors met at the John Irwin home to celebrate the 76th birthday anniversary of Mrs. M. E. Dubois. The time was pleasantly spent in visiting and a splendid supper, including two delightful birthday cakes, was enjoyed by the guests. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Craig and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Krigbaum, Mrs. Syron and son, Mrs. George Hislop, Mrs. G. R. Ellis, Mrs. Syms and little son, Mrs. Wm. Dale and Mrs. Edith Coleman.

Hymeneal

While the event was expected, yet W. J. Moore and Mrs. Anna K. Morton sprung a little surprise on their friends, Tuesday, May 10, by slipping off quietly and getting married at Portland. Judge Martin W. Hopkins tied the knot at the court house, after which they enjoyed a wedding dinner at "Wykoff's." They are receiving many and hearty congratulations.

Thanks Expressed

The High School senior class wishes to express its sincere thanks to the members of Burchett's orchestra, for their kindness in donating their services, at the entertainment, Tuesday evening, which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

A Day of Enjoyment

The grade school field day was enjoyed by the children with their parents and friends, on last Friday. The unanimous verdict of those present was: "The best program ever given in Estacada." Perfect weather combined with the wonderful beauty of the park, and supplemented by the dancing of the fairies, and other pleasing exercises. Provided a day of entertainment not soon to be forgotten.

The boys and girls showed noteworthy ability in the field sports. The records in pole vaulting were especially remarkable.

Prof. J. A. Finley, of Portland, led the audience in mass singing, and his solos were appreciated by all.

Sufficient funds were raised to make the final payment upon the Stradivara presented to the boys and girls of this district by the pupils and teachers of the Estacada grade schools, 1920-1921.

New Styled Pawnbroker

A brand new kind of pawnbroker appears in Marguerite Clark's Paramount-Artcraft picture, "Luck in Pawn," to be shown at the Family Theatre next Saturday and Sunday. Generally such a character is represented as a grasping, selfish person without a heart who takes advantage of innocent people. Marvin Taylor, who wrote "Luck in Pawn," is convinced that there are kind-hearted pawnbrokers as well as hard-hearted ones. With the idea of vindicating in some degree the much maligned profession, he portrays Armsberg, the pawnbroker in the picture as a sympathetic individual who helps the heroine, Miss Clark, out when pressed for funds and even stakes her in her attempt to shine at a fashionable ball given by her millionaire admirer. The part is played by John Stepping.

The juniors entertained the seniors one day last week by taking them on a trip up the Columbia Highway.

POPULAR TEACHER CUPID'S MARK

One of the interesting social functions of the past week, was the "At Home" reception for Miss Vere Murray, given by Misses Josephine Connors and Helen John, at Hotel Estacada, Saturday afternoon. The guests assembled in the north parlor, where they were met at the door by little Dorris Holder attired in fancy costume who presented the guests with tiny cards announcing the engagement of Miss Vere M. Murray and Herbert W. Coddington. The room was adorned with spring blossoms, and tea table was presided over by Mrs. H. C. Stephens and Mrs. F. E. Burns. Misses Nova Smith and Pauline Rose served the light refreshments. The special guest was Mrs. W. P. Folsom, of Portland, mother of Miss Conner.

Play Ground Benefit

A benefit program will be given in the pavilion in Estacada Park, on Thursday evening, May 19th, at 7:30, for the purpose of helping to provide funds for carrying on the work of a supervised play ground in Estacada during the summer vacation. The work in supervised play, already carried on by Miss Connor, has been so popular and beneficial to those children who have availed themselves of it, that there developed a decided sentiment in favor of its continuation. It is hoped that the parents of Estacada will give this benefit entertainment their hearty support. An admission of 35 cents for adults and ten cents for children will be charged.

American Legion Notes

The Carl Douglass Post will give a program Decoration Day at Estacada.

Graves of ex-service men in this vicinity will be decorated, and the day generally observed in a fitting manner.

The Fourth of July Committee promise the greatest celebration the town has ever had.
