Oregon Stands by the Boys

The Veterans' bonus and loan amendment carried throughout the state by about 3 to 1 in its favor. By so doing Oregon has done what is right by the service men. Not that this implies any special merit, for it was a simple matter of duty, but it would have been a smirch on the state's escutcheon if it had been turned down. When the call to the colors was being sounded, and the boys were flocking to the camps, entraining for overseas and fighting in the trenches, many voluble and emphatic assurances were made that Oregon would stand by her own. If they had not been made good, it would have been an everlasting disgrace to the state, and have a bad effect when another like occasion arose. While it is true a man should come to his country's defense without inducement of reward as a patriotic duty, yet this duty is reciprocal, and the country should give recognition to the fact.

The time is drawing near when Mr. Jack Dempsey, of the U. S. A. will meet M. G. Carpentier, of France, for the World's Championship in fistic combat. The fate of nations may hang on the issue, and from now on, the suspense will increase until its settled. We do not know the exact amount which the winner will receive, or the loser as a consolation prize, but in both cases it demonstrates that brawn has a much higher market value than the most skilled brains.

The Rose Festival is on in Portland, but is not as elaborate as in former years, and not nearly as much publicity has been given to it. Perhaps Portland is conserving its energy for the World's Fair in 1925.

It is a wonder that the U. S. keeps from going into bankruptcy with the daily reports of hundreds of millions of damage done in various parts of the country.

Big Legion Show June 11th

The Portland Post of the American Legion, on the above date, will stage one of the most thrilling and spectacular exhibitions ever put on in the northwest.

Two seventy ton locomotives traveling at the rate of sixty miles per hour, will be sent to destruction on a specially constructed track far out in the field, but in full view of the crowds.

There will also be girl jocky races, motorcycle races, and best of all a fat man's Ford race. Band concerts and special events will fill out the afternoon's program.

The show will be staged at the Rose City Speedway, Saturday, June 11th, 1:30 p. m. You can't afford to miss this great event. General admission will be $1.25.

Yeggman Convicted

The trial at Oregon City, of John M. Mebus and James Steele for burglary in Estacada, when Finch's, Dale's and Rose's stores were broken into, resulted in the conviction of Steele and the acquittal of Mebus. The two were apprehended in Portland, occupying the same room, but Mebus got off through an alibi, and a record clear of court and police proceedings. His employers also testified in his favor.

Later: Steele received not more than five years in the state penitentiary.

The German trials of war criminals proved an utter farce. A few underlings received light sentences, while the arch criminals remained unmolested.

The Johnstone Flood which made such a sensation some years ago, was nothing compared to the present Colorado flood.
