 The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE II.—PENNSYLVANIA

THE second state to adopt the Constitution was P ennsylvania. Its area of 45,126 square miles is larger than the combined New England states, except Maine, with New Jersey thrown in for good measure. Its name means "Penn's Woodland" and was so named by King Charles II, who granted this territory to the Quaker, William Penn, and named it in commemoration of Penn's father, who had been a distinguished admiral and on terms of peculiar friendship and intimacy with the royal family. This grant was made in lieu of £16,000, which the king owed Admiral Penn. On this basis it originally cost about $2 a square

Pennsylvania has assumed such an important place among the states that it is often called the Keystone state. This term was probably derived originally because her name was carved on the keystone of the bridge over Rock creek, between Washington and Georgetown. Later on it was applied on account of the great importance of the state in national elections. Its delegation to congress totals 38, second only in size to that from New York, and Pennsylvania accordingly has 38 presidential electors.

William Penn first came over to America in 1682. The following year he laid out the city of Philadelphia, or "Brotherly Love," which was named after a biblical city in Asia Minor. As Pennsylvania was the only colony without a seacoast, Penn obtained from the duke of York the control of Delaware, and until the Revolution these two provinces were under the same proprietary government. Quarrels with Maryland over boundaries caused a formal survey to be made by two surveyors, Mason and Dixon, and it was this which became famous during the Civil war as the Mason and Dixon line, the dividing mark between the slave and the free states.

Microscopic Infants.

A tiny baby was born at liford (Eng land), recently. At birth it weigher two and one-half pounds and gained three ounces in a little more tha three weeks. Perfectly formed, the baby gives promise of growing into a healthy child. This is not a rec ord, however. In 1824 Sir Everard Home described a baby which weighed just one pound at birth and lived to was born in a Philadelphia hospita which weighed one and three-quarter pounds.

New Kind of Tombstone.

What he calls a "new and improved tombstone" has been invented by an Oklahoma man. A life-sized figure of the dead person is made of galvanized iron, the lower part filled with cement to make a heavy base. The body is hollow and in it is placed an urn containing the ashes of the deceased. It will be noticed that this "tombstone" can only be used in the case of dead persons who have been cremated.

Queer Coincidence.

Peculiar coincidences were revealed at a Tonbridge (England) inquest on a boy sixteen years old who was killed from a stray shot from a rifle range at a local fair. Thirteen years ago i lad of sixteen was killed on the same spot in exactly the same manner, and the doctor who was called to him wa the medical witness in the presen inquiry. He produced in court the bullet which he took from the other dead lad 13 years ago.

Coughing Restored Speech.

After being dumb for 33 years woman living in Christina Maeford, England, coughed back her speech The woman who is sixty-one years old has been bed-ridden for 49 years Three weeks ago, during recovery from a serious attack of bronchitis, her voice was restored while coughing,

Amusing Mixed Metaphors.

Rather a Flous case of mixed metaphors a red in a Middle West ern newspape recently: "In closing, she asked that the hinges of their friendship never grow rusty, but always be links in the golden chain of fellowship."

Pine Trees' Peculiar Growth. A reader sends a description of two pine trees growing into each other or a farm at Poland. Ontario. They are two distinct trees at the ground; at a height of ten feet they are separated by a hand's breadth, and thence to the top they are one tree.

EVERYDAY MYSTERIES.

"This much I do not understand,"
Said Hezeklah Bings.
"I don't know why a friendly hand
Unto another clings

With such a sense of confidence
When things are going wrong.
And makes the universe immense
A realm of smiles and song.

"I don't know why the roses bloom,
Nor why the snowlinkes fall;
Nor why the stars dispel the gloom—
And yet I love them alk
And life, though wisdom's way is grand,
Seems sweetest for the things cannot hope to understand, Said Hezekiah Bings.

Famous in History.

Built in 1748, the State house in Boston was the pride of the city long before the Revolution. It was, when constructed, a fine edifice, with an imposing front, and surmounted with a gilded dome. Much of its original appearance has been preserved, and it is today a Mecca for the tourist who visits the sacred shrines connected with the birth of liberty in the United States of America.

TWO IMPORTANT EVENTS

For the welfare of our district have developed this week. The berry growers have shown their ability to pack their crop and prepare it for market without outside assistance. The power plant development by the P. R. L. & P, Co., has commenced, which means that all our people who want it may have work, and that the prosperity of our district is assured.
