Miss Gladys Kandle went to Salem last week to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Duus went to Vancouver last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Duus went to Gladstone last Sunday, to attend Chautauqua.

Mrs. C. E. Surfus and family, of Eagle Creek, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. C. L. Allen.

J. W. Shafford has returned to Portland to live, where he has been appointed assistant manager of a leading lumber company.

W. H. H. Wade has returned home from the Chautauqua at Gladstone. He reports having greatly enjoyed himself, and been much edified from what he heard.

Dave Hoffmeister, of Eagle Creek, who was charged with having liquor in his possession, was promptly acquitted last week, by a jury at Oregon City, who took only ten minutes to deliberate.

A. J. Schoth, who was a member of the high school faculty last year, was in town Saturday. He will leave shortly for Manhattan, Kansas, as he has been appointed director of a boys' club, under state management. The position is a highly desirable one.

Last Friday, the Holsum Bread car was overturned when coming here, on the Boring hill. The driver we hear, had his leg badly bruised. Something ought to be done about that hill, as it is positively dangerous, the road being very narrow and circuitous.

G. C. Schneider of the firm of McGuirk & Schneider, attorneys of Portland and Gresham, was in town Monday and called at this office. Unfortunately we were out at the time, which we deeply regret, as we are indebted to Mr. Schneider for many courtesies.

Mrs. W. W. Wallens, of Springwater, has our sincere thanks for a jar of black currant jam. Orange marmalade and black currant jam are staple articles for an Englishman's breakfast, of which he never tires. We set out some black currant bushes two years ago, which bore a small crop this year, and ought to yield well another year.

As will be seen by the notice in this issue, a special school meeting is called for August 5th. This has been necessitated, because the election of George Weatherby to the school board, was invalid, on account of the place of W. R. Woodworth, who had sent in his resignation, not having been declared vacant by the County School Superintendent, at the time of the last election.

Upton H. Gibbs, S. E. Wooster and C. E. Kilgore, of Estacada, were in Gresham to-day, arranging for the printing of the premium list of the Eastern Clackamas Fair, which will be held Sept. 8, 9 and 10. Mr. Gibbs is editor and publisher of the Eastern Clackamas NEWS, and Mr. Wooster is in the real estate business. Mr. Kilgore is connected with the People's Store—Gresham Outlook.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. McCall, who were accompanied by Warren Smith, returned from their outing last Sunday. They went from here to Albany, and thence to Fish and Clear Lakes. The road up the mountains was very steep in places, but the car rose to the occasion. The Dr. reports a bear chase by the dogs, and catching numerous trout, some of which were whoppers. During his absence he has had his office decorated—the walls in blue and cream—and the wood work painted.

Mrs. L. H. Wells arrived Sunday evening to visit her son, Dr. L. A. Wells. She returned home last evening, the Dr. driving her to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Bass and family are attending a camp meeting in Portland, this week. They are expected back on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stout and daughter, Miss Imogene, were guests Sunday of the Mr. and Mrs. Upton H. Gibbs. They are old friends, as Mr. Stout was for four or five years superintendent of the La Grande schools, and as such, did inestimable work, as he is a born teacher. He is now head of a Teacher's Agency in Portland, and his daughter is attending Reed College, where she begins her sophomore year this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hislop spent the week-end in Portland, with their son Stewart and daughter, Mrs. Inez Greenleaf. They went to the Oaks to hear the Luther College Concert Band from Decorah, Iowa, which was their old home. As they were well acquainted with Prof. Sperati, the director of the band and several members, it was like a visit home, which was a great and most enjoyable treat for them. Prof. Sperati is a Lutheran minister, who at one time was stationed at Tacoma, Wash. He will also be remembered by not a few as the very able Director of the Pacific Coast Singers. He is a very talented man, and besides being great in musical circles, he holds a classical chair in Luther College.
