A few friends of Mrs. Walter Douglass spent the evening with her the other night, it being her birthday. COMMUNITY TREE MONDAY NIGHT

It was a most happy idea of the Community club to arrange for a joint public Christmas celebration by all the communities in this vicinity, instead of dividing it up between the various churches and lodges. As Christmas day falls on Sunday, the exercises will take place on Monday night at 7:30, in the high school auditorium. Everybody is invited to attend and enjoy the occasion and make it a large family gathering. This will also take the place of the usual monthly meeting of the Community club, which otherwise would be held on Friday of next week.

The program arranged by the committee under Mrs. F. E. Burns, is as follows:

Songs—Holy Night and Christmas carols, 4th to 8th grades inclusive.

Prayer—Rev. Upton H. Gibbs. Violin Solo—Legende-Wienjowski, Theo. Ahlberg, Mrs. R. G. McCall accompanist.

Recitation—Wilbur Pimm. Santa Claus Songs—Primary department of Christian and M. E. Sunday Schools.

Recitation—Arnold Anderson. Song—Edna, Richard, Wanda and Helen Carter.

GARFIELD BREVITIES

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Standish motored to Portland for the week-end.

A wave of sadness passed over the community on Monday when word came that one of Garfield's pioneers had passed away, R. G. Palmateer. And on Tuesday of last week, D. W. Robertson, father of J. B. Robertson. The families have the sympathy of their many friends.

Mrs. W. Salzvedel had a most pleasant surprise on Wednesday afternoon, when on answering the door she beheld a number of neighbors, who had come to wish her a happy birthday. Those enjoying the event with her were Mesdames Downey, Lamberson, Coe, Dillinger, Weatherby, Carpenter and Gunter.

"Laugh and grow fat", some one has said, so if that is the case everyone attending the Hard Times social at the Grange hall Saturday evening, had a chance to gain an average of five pounds each, as it was one continuous laugh. Much credit is due the committee, Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. M. J. Weatherby and Mrs. Theo. Carpenter for the good time had by all. Those carrying off the first prize were Mrs. Earl Gunter and Mr. Shaffer; a close second Mrs. Coe and Theo. Carpenter. Little Gilbert Weatherby was first in the children's class. Hard times were in evidence every where; lantern lights, refreshments of brown bread and beans, but delicious coffee made by Mrs. L. Palmateer. Fines of one cent each amounted to over four dollars.

A Christmas Thought

"Thus were the Earth and Heavens made," so run The words of Holy Writ,—no counter strife Throughout the ages,—Earth and Heaven one,— Spirit pervading all created Life.

And so the mist that watered Paradise, Descending from on high with heavenly birth, In order to have power to fertilise Must needs "go up" from the dark depths of earth.

Blest cloud and mist that veil our uphill way, The robes of Merciful Divinity,— Why try to see beyond the mists, when they Enwrap the Person of the Deity?

'Twas thus the God came down this earth to bless, Making mankind the medium of Grace, And thus the soul's ideal of loveliness Through mortal image we may clearly trace.

And not in man alone, but everywhere In Nature's realm we find a Hand can turn Each common form to Beauty, strange and rare, Ennobling all that we are apt to spurn.

We look too far,—how oft the gem is found Close to our feet in what seemed lifeless clod, Who knows when mists are wreathing from our ground What shape a soul may take that comes from God.

A world of Beauty, with a Life Divine, Such is the heritage that has been given,— No cruel Fate, but Love that shall refine The twofold Being, and keep earth a Heaven.

ALL "Sons of God," through HIM,—such is to-day Our earthly joy, the prayer of happy homes And families, that this same Spirit may Make Earth and Heaven one, when Christmas comes.
