AN ETHICAL PRESS

An important step was taken at the session of the State Editorial Association which met at Eugene last week, in the unanimous adoption of a code of ethics. This will have a profound beneficial effect on state journalism, in elevating its tone and adding to its prestige, as indicating that its members are men of honor and gentlemen in the best sense of the word.

It had been prepared and was presented by Colin V. Dymont, dean of the college of literature, science and arts of the University of Oregon, and ex-journalist. It recognizes that of all agencies the printed word is the most widely diffused and most powerful. This involves the highest ethical responsibilities, and the code is for the purpose of enunciating these responsibilities and enabling the profession to live up to them.

These ethics are based on the fundamental principles of sincerity, truth, thoroughness, accuracy, mercy, kindness and justice. It is pointed out that the news for publication has a social as well as commercial character, so that regard must be paid to its effect on the social good. Touching upon advertising, it is urged that the same canons of truth and justice should apply in advertising and circulation as in news and editorial matter.

The report for which Dean Dymont must receive the credit, is one of which the state editors should be justly proud, and see that it is strictly maintained by them.

Only recently we received a letter from a member of a prominent legal firm in New York City in which he stated: "It is a rare paper nowadays that has an editor with a sense of responsibility to heaven for what he puts under the eyes of the readers as news. The accepted rule with most is, that a newspaper must exhibit with photographic realism, the daily happenings of heaven, earth and hell, and that is no concern of the paper if the exhibit is 90% hell. There may be some sound reasons for this in journalistic ethics. I don't know. But I prefer the other idea, that the news ought to be edited by an editor with trained judgment and sound moral instincts."

The Oregon papers are singularly free from a charge of this sort, but this code will help maintain the high standard already achieved, especially when outside pressure is brought to bear on an editor to lower his ideals.

FINANCING THE FAIR

It is pretty evident now, that the only way to finance the fair will be by subscription. As the fair would benefit the whole state, there was an argument for a moderate property tax, but to put one on gas was preposterous. The attempt to do this, has put a quietus to the taxation method. But as many of those most strenuously opposing a tax, declare themselves willing to subscribe for it, in a much larger amount, than they would have to pay as a tax, they should be given the opportunity so to do.

SHERIFF CLEARED

At the trial of Sheriff Wilson for larceny by bailee, last week, he was completely exonerated. The charge was so flimsy, and such a long period, nearly two years having elapsed since the alleged crime was committed, that on the face of it, it looked like a desperate attempt of some of his enemies to get even with him. The affair has cost him, no doubt, some annoyance and expense, but it leaves him stronger in the regard of the people of the county.

SITS DOWN ON A TACK

By a close vote the U. S. Senate has allowed Senator Newberry of Michigan to take his seat. But with the censure of excessive campaign expenditures, by which it was accomplished, he will think a sharp tack was left sticking up in the upholstery.

Will H. Hays resigns as postmaster-general, to accept a position as head of the motion picture industry in the U. S. Whereas his salary as a cabinet minister was $12,000 a year, and his new one will be $150,000, it is not surprising. But it presents an interesting problem in relativity, whether covered or not by the Einstein theory. Perhaps cabinet seats in the future will be more eagerly sought for as stepping stones to the most highly paid positions.

Report of County Nurse

Miss Hilda Morris, the Clackamas county Public Health nurse, has made an interesting report of her work, dividing it into three divisions: General nursing service; social service and school service. Under the last head she states:

- 1. School building inspection.
- 2. Calls at the home of school children.
- 3. Advice to children and mothers.
- 4. A routine physical inspection of school children, observing their posture, skin, teeth, nose and throat, testing their vision and hearing.

Incorrect posture is a very common defect and often indicative of chest or spine disorder. 1020 children were inspected for communicable diseases; 60 were excluded.

Routine physical inspection was given 384 children. 360, or over 94 per cent of these children had defective teeth, many of them permanent. 101 had abnormal tonsils. 26 had defective breathing. 41 had defective vision and 40 defective hearing.

A form letter was sent to each parent who receives a notice of a physical defect of his child.

Teachers have been especially helpful in school work, in their efforts to have defects corrected and in teaching children habits of healthy living.

747 children in the county have been weighed and measured. 487 were found to be under average normal weight. Many teachers have weighed their own school children.

Respectfully submitted,
 HILDA MORRIS,
 Clackamas county public health nurse.

People's Night

The Methodist church will hold its first People's Night, Monday evening, January 23rd, at eight o'clock. This is a new departure here but the plan has met with great appreciation in other communities. The local church expects to have two social evenings a month, with varying programs. Next Monday evening the members of the Ladies Aid will act as hostesses, and promise a good time to everybody, with entertainment, games and sociability. A very cordial invitation extended to all to attend.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their words of sympathy and acts of kindness during our late bereavement in the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Ruth.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
 XIX.—INDIANA

IT WAS the French flag which first floated over Indiana. In the middle of the seventeenth century La Salle's explorations brought him through the wooded wilderness of Indiana. Shortly there followed Jesuit missionaries from Quebec and in their trail came adventurous rangers and fur traders. French forts and trading posts were soon established. In 1763 the British took possession of this territory after the French and Indian wars, and remained in possession until the Revolution.

One of the boldest campaigns of the Revolution was that of Clark's little army, whose indomitable courage and audacity finally defeated the large British garrison at Vincennes and won the Northwest territory for Virginia. Pioneers from the East and from Kentucky made their way into this new territory, and among these was Abraham Lincoln's family. It was in 1816, the year that Indiana became the nineteenth state, that Lincoln attained citizenship in Indiana. With the increase in population by 1800 Indiana Territory was formed, extending from the Ohio border west to the Mississippi and north to Canada. Vincennes was selected as the first capital. In 1804, when the Louisiana Purchase was made, the government of Louisiana was placed in the hands of the Indiana Territory officials, so that for one year the capital of Louisiana was also at Vincennes in Indiana.

Although nicknamed the Hoosier State, from the old southern slang for rough backwoodsman, Indiana, with its 36,254 square miles, its fifteen Presidential electors, and containing as it does the center of population, is considered of utmost importance politically.

RATES WILL GO DOWN

P. R. L. & P. Co. Announce
 Drastic Freight Reductions
 Effective January 21.

Carrying out the announcement made to our merchants and shippers by officials of the railway company sometime ago, E. L. Meyers, traveling freight and passenger agent states supplements have been filed with the Public Service Commission to the present tariff, reducing Class and Commodity Rates 15 to 30 per cent.

The new rates are effective on January 21st as to intrastate (business moving wholly within the state) and February 20th as to interstate (moving from or to points outside the state.)

Some idea may be had by checking the table showing the present rates both Class and Commodity, with the new rates between Estacada and Portland. The reduction should be a great help to the farmer as well as to the merchant, as the rates on grain, flour and mill feed, the amount saved on carlot shipments being 80 cents a ton and on less than carload $1.40 per ton.

Comparative Table

	Old Rate	New Rate
1st class rate	55 1/2c	36c
2d class rate	50c	31c
3d class rate	41 1/2c	27c
4th class rate	36 1/2c	23 1/2c

Most groceries move under 4th class rate, the reduction being more than 30 per cent.

Commodity Rates

	Old Rate	New Rate
Grains, flour, mill feed & potatoes, carload	14 1/2c	10 1/2c
Same, less carload	25c	18c
Hay, straw, lumber & plaster, carload	12 1/2c	8 1/2c
Same, less carload	25c	18c
Cement, carload	14 1/2c	11c
Same, less carload	25c	18c

Fairview to Estacada

Grain, flour and mill feed,	9 1-2c	8c
Hay and straw	8c	6 1-2c

About the same scale of reductions are made in rates to Gresham, Boring, Barton, Eagle Creek and intermediate stations.

In Confidence

The relationship of a Bank to its customers is necessarily one of confidence. It is essential that the bank should understand its customers financial condition in order to extend to them the best service possible. It is equally essential that such information should be held in the strictest confidence. We ask our customers to consult us freely about their financial plans and problems. This is merely one feature of our up to date banking service which we are extending to the people of this community.
