The Portland Exposition

In spite of some newspaper opposition, the idea of holding an Electrical Exposition at Portland in 1925 is gaining ground. Portland's willingness to raise the necessary funds by taxation is a fair proposition to the rest of the state. The authority is asked in a bill submitted to the voters of the state at large and it is probably one of the few measures that will carry. It cannot be successfully argued that an enabling act to permit one county to tax itself to accomplish some desirable or needful purpose, which the people of that county deem essential and important should not be legalized by the rest of the state. The Electrical Fair will benefit the entire Northwest and advance the development of Portland and the entire state an hundred fold.—Industrial Review.

MARRIED

At Oregon City Thursday, August 31, 1922, Richard G. Palmateer Jr. to Miss Lora M. Davis. Mrs. L. J. Palmateer is visiting at the Edwin Burlingame home at Fairview this week.

Dr. Owen Leaves

There has been a stange unrest of late among the medical and dental fraternity in Estacada. Both Drs. Carey and McMillan have left and now Dr. C. E. Owen, the dentist, has taken his departure to Portland, where he will go into partnership with his brother on the east side. He had not been here very long but his departure will be regretted as he had made himself many friends by his courteous treatment. His successor is Dr. Chas. P. Johnson who comes here from Portland. He is a graduate of the Kansas City Dental College and has been practicing for about ten years. During the war he was with the army and served overseas. He is a married man with a baby. Both he and his wife will no doubt be valuable acquisitions to the social circles of the town. They have taken the house formerly occupied by Dr. Carey. The NEWS bids them welcome.

Broke His Leg

R. S. Coop met with a serious and very painful accident last Friday. He was hauling wood for W. F. Cary across the river, when the wagon tipped over and threw him out. The wheel went over his leg and broke it in two places just below the knee cap. Dr. Rhodes was called, who had Mr. Coop placed in a car and taken to Gresham, to the hospital, where an X ray picture of the fracture was taken, and where he will remain until he can be moved home. At his age such a fracture will be slow of mending. His many friends sympathize deeply with him.

Auction Sale

Emil Sampert will sell at public auction, on the farm belonging to Mrs. Nora Reid, one and a half miles north of Springwater, on September 20, a number of farm implements, household furniture and stock. See bills around town. M. H. Hostetter is the auctioneer, and Fred Bartholomew the clerk.

Aeroplane Does Stunts

As last Monday the weather was cloudy C. S. Woodruff, the aero-photographer, could not take pictures, but he and his pilot, Edward Hantack did some stunts in the afternoon, circling and swooping over the town like a hawk after its prey. The machine was exceedingly graceful in its movements, and absolutely under control. At times it flew quite low, as if it would hit the telephone wires, and then it would dart up again in a half circle sweep. Everybody ran out into the street to watch it.

You can get Simmon's Iron Bed and Springs at Rose's, they are most satisfactory.

IMPRESSIVE RITES OPEN CONVENTION

The opening ceremonies of the Episcopal General Convention in the Auditorium yesterday morning were very impressive. The more than one hundred bishops in their robes, backed by a vested choir of two hundred and fifty, presented an imposing sight, as they were ranged on the stage.

The somber hue of the bishops' vestments was relieved by the scarlet of their academic hoods, which was augmented by the gorgeous copes of the visiting archbishops and bishops from the Near East, representing Jerusalem and Antioch. Nearly every seat was filled, the audience being about 5000. The service consisted of the usual form of Morning Prayer, and the sermon by the bishop of Newark, N. J., was most timely, treating of the burning questions of the day. But while the auditorium is unsurpassed for hearing and seeing it lacks the devotional atmosphere of a church, and this unavoidable want, was the only drawback to a most inspiring service.

To Recall County Judge

A definite organization has been formed for the purpose of getting machinery started in an attempt to recall County Judge Harvey E. Cross, according to a statement yesterday from H. F. Gibson of Barton. Gibson is president of the organization and G. R. Hobbs of Oregon City, secretary. A meeting was held at a Mt. Pleasant home last Saturday afternoon at which time a committee was appointed to call on other county residents who might be interested in the recall movement, and to interview prospective candidates for the successor of the incumbent in case the recall movement is successful. An attorney has been secured to draw up formal charges for a petition which is to be circulated. County Treasurer W. W. Everhart yesterday advised the committee from the recall organization that he would have to decline from allowing his name to be used on the fall ballots as recall candidate for the office of County Judge.

Judge Cross when asked yesterday for a statement, said: "I have nothing to say, whatsoever."—Oregon City Enterprise.

Social Function

The beautiful home of Mrs. H. C. Stephens in Terrace Addition, was the scene of a delightful social function Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. C. S. Allen entertained in honor of Mrs. F. E. Burns, who left this morning for her new home at Freewater, Oregon. The guests enjoyed record musical selections and indulged in gymnasium exercises with music, which furnished unusual diversion and much merriment. To complete the charming hospitality of the hostesses, a delicious two course luncheon was served at two prettily arranged tables in the cozy dining room, where a fire in the grate lent comfort and cheer. Those present were, Mesdames U. H. Gibbs, A. E. Sparks, G. R. Ellis, G. E. Lawrence, Loyd Yocam, O. E. Smith, J. E. Gates, W. J. Moore, N. B. Ecker, the guest of honor Mrs. Burns and Misses Gertrude Dillon and Bertha Burns.

Garfield Dorcas Society

meets at the home of Mrs. T. B. Young, Oct. 14, 1922. All cordially invited.

Mrs. Ida Palmateer, Secy.
