

PUBLIC SCHOOL

Vote 314 x Yes

The purpose of the compulsory public school attendance bill is to insure the instruction of all Oregon children of grammar school age in a common language, a common history and common ideals, to the end that American unity shall be promoted, American ideals safeguarded and American institutions perpetuated.

This bill is proposed because its supporters believe that only by universal education of our children on standard and uniform lines can these things be achieved.

This bill proposes no religious restrictions. It contemplates no limitation of the right of the parent to teach religion to his child in his own way and according to his own belief. It raises no issue of religious difference.

This bill is purely a measure to insure that all children by attending the public schools shall be taught alike during their grammar school years, so that their outlook may grow to be a unified outlook for the common weal and for their country and its institutions.

To make an all-American nation we must have all-American instruction of our children along recognized standard lines. Ignorance of American ideals and institutions and language is the greatest menace to them, because those who do not understand them properly do not support them.

Artisan Degree Work

On Saturday October 21, 1922, at 7 p. m. the Artisan's special train will leave Portland headed for Estacada. On its arrival here the well known drill team of Progress Assembly, with its officers and members, will march through the streets of Estacada and thence to the pavilion to put on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd degrees, to a class of about twenty candidates. After the degree work, Field Manager L. C. Langlois will make a short talk on the value of insurance. He will be followed by a few remarks on Artisanism, by Supreme Master H. S. Hudson, after which there will be a dance for the remainder of the evening.

Mr. Langlois will gladly and willingly give anyone any information they may want to know about Artisanism, and will explain any one of their several policies which they have to offer to the public. Mr. Langlois makes his headquarters at the Estacada hotel while here and word can always be left for him there, also at the depot, Norton's barber shop or Marchbank's confectionery.

Our Contemporaries Say

Melons are said to be ripe in Wall street. The public is certain they are mostly "water" melons.—Gresham Observer.

The world is anxiously waiting for some kind of a dependable plan whereby it can reform some of its reformers.—Vernonia Eagle.

Never be satisfied with a thing as it is. There is always a way of bettering it. Never send good money after bad. It doesn't pay.—Aurora Observer.

At the coming elections the people will have an opportunity to refuse to vote for new tax raising schemes and to express themselves as in favor of tax reduction and economy in government with resulting encouragement to industrial development.—Manufacturer.

The Turks announce that violators of their prohibition law will be punished by 49 lashes, three months in prison and a fine of 60 to 300 Turkish pounds. All the bootleggers will agree that these atrocities must be stopped.—Oregonian.

There is something appealing in the act of President Harding buying the old farm home where he was born and building it up for a home to which he can retire after climbing to the highest position of honor to which an American born boy can aspire. He is doubtless gratified that his father has been able to live to see the climax of the remarkable achievement of the son. It all makes a very beautiful picture.—Molalla Pioneer.
