Otis Wagner Writes
Los Angeles, Calif.
November 4, 1922.

DEAR MR. GIBBS:

We reached Los Angeles Sunday morning. We had a nice trip most of the way down except through the northern part of the state where the wind was blowing and the hail came down like peas.

We are having nice warm weather here, it is just like summer. At night it seems a bit chilly, but it's partly due to our not being acclimated.

We went down to San Diego, but Los Angeles seems a better place for young men, as we have a better chance to gain our success, which we now have to strive for. For old people who want a place to live in peace and comfort and the nicest climate on earth, San Diego can't be equaled. But I must take my hat off to Los Angeles for she is going to crowd old New York for population in another census.

Yours respectfully,
OTTO C. WAGNER.

Mr. Atchley will present the evening subject at 7:30, a number of musical selections will be given. Come and bring a friend.

E. F. Atchley, pastor.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends for the beautiful floral offerings, and for sympathy and kindness shown to us in our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Ethel Townsend,
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Townsend and Family.

Thanks Kind Friend

An unknown benefactor left in the office for us, yesterday morning, a box containing two dozen exceptionally large and fine apples. We have tried to find out the names of the donor and the apples. The latter some said were Kings, others Northern Spies. Well, by whatever name they are called, they taste as good.
