Pre and post War Prices in Germany

A clipping from a Seventh Day Adventist publication, gives the following comparison of prices in Germany. At the time of writing an American dollar was worth 300 marks in exchange, but since then the mark has risen somewhat. Before the war the normal rate of exchange was four marks for a dollar, roughly speaking.

In Germany, three pounds of bread cost one-half mark in 1914; in 1922 36 marks.

One hundred pounds of potatoes cost 1.20 marks in Germany in 1914; 600 marks in 1922.

One quart of milk was worth .12 marks in Germany in 1914. At the present time a quart costs 9.51 marks in Germany.

One pound of flour in 1914 could be bought for .10 mark in Germany. The present price is 20 marks in Germany.

One pound of butter in Germany in 1914 was priced at .90 mark. The cost at present is 60 marks in Germany.

One hundred pounds of coal in Germany in 1914 cost .90 mark; it now costs 115.

One suit of clothes of medium grade could be bought for 60 marks in Germany in 1914. Today it takes 7,000 marks to buy the same grade of suit in Germany.

One pair of shoes cost 15 marks in Germany in 1914, and now costs 700.

Wrong Kinds of "Stunts"

For taking part in stunts held to have overstepped the bounds of propriety at their interfraternity vaudeville held February 7, 84 O. A. C. men incurred varying degrees of college discipline. Five have been suspended from their fraternities for one year and required to carry 40 hours additional work that will take up their entire vacation period. Forty others also have to do the 40 hours work, and 39 more were publicly reprimanded.

The vaudeville did not have the approval of the students, and assurance was given W. J. Kerr, president, at a meeting called to consider the matter, that the affair never would be repeated.

Just settlement with the students concerned, with unmistakable intention that the college does not tolerate infractions of rules, and not a desire to inflict punishment, was the purpose of the discipline. Members of the student assembly met with the administrative council before the decision was arrived at.

The duty of every student to uphold the honor of his college and to be worthy of the institution and the state, was urged upon all students at the regular convention.

"The value of your diploma rests more than you know on the reputation of your college—on the standards of scholarship, measuring the efficiency of your work—but more than all else on the standards of your conduct," the president declared.

DOESN'T KNOW HOW TO LOVE

Gilbert Frankau Believes the Young Woman of Today is Not Capable of Self-Sacrifice.

You have to watch the modern dance to see the modern girl at her most self-revealing. Regard her carefully, this beapainted, bepowdered, be-manicured product of our hectic age, as she circles the ballroom. She dances emotionally, but her emotions are for the rhythm and the music, not for the mere male, her partner. Even in a man's arms she is as nearly sexless as the ladies of the Lysistrata. Gilbert Frankau writes in the Forum. Regarding her thus, one cannot help answering the question which stands at the head of this article in the most emphatic negative. No! Give her all her good qualities, her poise, her efficiency, her intelligence and you will still be forced to admit that—judging her superficially—the modern girl is not capable of a great and enduring love. To begin with, she is too selfish, too self-centered, too set on the pursuit of what she considers pleasure, to abandon herself to that self-sacrifice which is love at its best. And then, perhaps, she is too wise.

Myself, I am and have always been, a strong supporter of the civil contract in matrimony. Matrimony, after all, is—however much sentimental, middle-aged fogies like myself may like to regard it as a pure love affair—a legal undertaking. And I think that it is high time for the young man of today to understand that his legal undertaking when he marries a self-supporting or an independent young woman is not confined purely and simply to housing her. The modern woman, you see, is something more than a mere domesticated pet. She requires her pleasures, her pleasures and, more perhaps even than these, her full partnership rights.
