BIBLE QUESTIONS

How can we gain an absolute assurance that our prayers will be answered?
—John 15:7

What did Jesus say in regard to worthwhile investments and safe banking?

SPIRIT OF 1776

Seven score and seven years ago a document was issued which was fraught with most momentous issues and developments, because it enunciated clearly the fundamental inalienable rights of a people against the usurpations of entrenched caste and privilege. The divine right of a sovereign king had been extended beyond all reason, and now the divine right of a sovereign people was to contest with the former. It was an issue which was not to concern this land alone, but all where abuse of power prevailed in high places, and where the will of the king was the supreme law above the will of the people.

The spirit of '76 was the spirit of a people recognizing themselves as free, and boldly challenging not only the king of England, but anyone who should seek to curtail or deprive them of their liberty. The Declaration of Independence was not only directed against King George III in the first place, but against King Oligarchos and King Demos as well, who might come afterwards. It protests equally against a group or coterie of men, or even majority rule, as against an individual rule if such seek to deprive the weakest of their just rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

This spirit is needed as badly today as in 1776, for wherever powerful combinations exist, there will be attempts to crush out opposition. This applies equally to capitalistic groups and unionized labor groups, when they do not consider that there is a third group which is involved in their struggles for the supremacy. In these days of strikes either provoked or called for by the selfish interests of a few whereby the welfare of the people as a whole is endangered and affected, it should be asserted with no uncertain sound, that the right to work is inalienable for every man, and any attempt to deprive him of it, whether by force, intimidation, or artificial restrictions is treason. At the same time the right to work carries with it the right to adequate remuneration and hours for recuperation and rest for the worker, and for the employer the right to a full day's work for a full day's pay.

FORD AND ROCKEFELLER

In a recent interview Ex-U. S. Senator Chauncey M. Depew, after seventy years of political experience, expressed his amazement at the apparent popularity of Henry Ford as a possible presidential candidate. He said: "How is it to be explained?" "Take John D. Rockefeller. He has spent some $500,000,000 to help humanity, has all but eradicated the hook worm in the South, has been responsible for doing away with the yellow fe-reaped a field of grain. Afterwards he laughingly asked Senator Capper if this did not qualify him to join the farm bloc? Mrs. Harding might do a few stunts also in the bread making and dishwashing lines. She did, however criticize the way the president held up a baby while having his picture taken.

The U. S. authorities have seized the liquor stores of foreign ships entering the port of New York, although these were under seal of their respective governments. Secretary Mellon has left for Europe and will confer, it is said, with the English prime minister. There will no doubt be a good deal of verbal bluster but friendly relations will not be endangered.

Protests are being made against the staging of the big prize fight at Shelby, Montana, on July 4th, as being a desecration on the national day. Will its promoters claim that it partakes of "The Spirit of '76"?

How Securities Are Made Valuable

Experienced investors pick utility securities because the service they render the people is stabilized. Those who are experienced in investment are coming to hold good public utility securities in higher regard every year.

There are many high grade utility issues in the market. The investor who does not own public utilities issues will make good use of his time studying and good use of additional investment funds buying the best of them.

These properties are giving the people the benefit of constant improvements. The change from carbon lamps to Mazdas saves two million tons of coal annually, or about $150,000,000. Here is another item: Twenty years ago a ten horsepower electric motor weighing 1100 pounds and cost about $350 (equivalent to $1000 at present). Today a motor of the same power weighs 270 pounds and costs approximately $225. Service and efficiency make these securities valuable.—Industrial News Bureau.

STATE MARKET AGENT DEPARTMENT

Lane county presents a remarkable demonstration of what cooperation rightly handled can accomplish:

In 1908 Eugene organized a cooperative association to handle the county's fruit. It started with but 80 members and has now grown to 1400 and it handles 90 per cent of the fruit of Lane county. This association has had amazing success. It now has a modern canning factory employing 500 people; has a large box factory where the containers are made, and it manufactures the sprays used by the fruit growers. Two and a half million pounds of prunes and walnuts were handled by the association last year and about eight million pounds of fruits and vegetables.

Following the conference in Kennewick, Wash., June 4, an organization of hay growers was held in Pasco, where by-laws and contracts were agreed upon and when approved by the commissioner of agriculture, active canvass for contracts will commence. This cooperative association embraces the alfalfa sections of Oregon and Washington. Each state will have its own separate organization but the hay will be marketed thru a central agency. It is proposed to secure 75 per cent of the hay under marketing contracts. L. A. Hunt of Hermiston; C. E. Spence, state market agent of Portland; C. J. Hurd, of the extension service of the O. A. C. at Corvallis and G. W. Beddow of Hermiston were the Oregon representatives at the organization.

The potato acreage of the Willamette valley is about 20 per cent less than last year, but growing conditions have been so favorable that the yield will be about the same as last year. A large crop is practically assured. Hay in the Willamette valley and alfalfa in eastern Oregon and Washington have been damaged to some extent by the heavy rains the first part of June, but there will be a heavy production. The aphid is injuring vetch in some sections. Fall oats will be a big yield.

A 97 per cent normal wheat yield is practically assured for Oregon. Rains at favorable times have caused rapid and strong growth with full heads. The crop will be ready to harvest the latter part of June, about two weeks earlier than last year.

Cattle raisers in convention at Union, Ore., have named a marketing committee and a cooperative selling plan thru a central agency is being worked out.

While the United States only exports about ten per cent of its grain production, yet it is stated that the Liverpool price on this 10 per cent surplus determines the price of the 90 per cent home sales.

The big manufacturing industries of the country market their surpluses abroad at low prices, but the foreign price has little or no effect on the home market, because the management is in entire control of production and marketing.

Wheat raisers realize that they must manage along the line of big business concerns if they would make a living profit, and the national association, recently organized, is working to the end of controlling production and selling all the wheat from a central agency. Cooperation points the way for producers to run their own business and make it a profitable industry.

The bankers are cooperating with the many producers' organizations to help them to succeed. The business world realizes that farmers must be successful if the cities are to prosper.—Market Agt. Dept.
