Trap-Nested WHITE LEGHORNS
Bred for Vigor and High Egg production.
Our primary aim is to produce vigorous, husky chicks; healthy, rugged breeding stock, and first class hatching eggs. Hence, in many cases, our customers roll up bigger egg records than we do. But we hold our mature stock back as long as possible after the moult and bring them into laying as near the hatching season as possible. Thus are our customers assured of strong, rugged chicks and high quality hatching eggs.

"A Question of Honor"

A thrilling rescue from a raging mountain torrent, a battle four hundred feet underground, a midnight race through the hills, the most beautiful scenery in America and the blowing up of a whole mountainside are a few of the attractions that compete with romance for the limelight in a "Question of Honor," a new First National attraction, starring Anita Stewart. At the Gem theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Springwater Grange Fair

In the Grange hall at Springwater, Friday September 14 an agricultural fair will be held at which there will be exhibits usual at a county fair, of all kinds of farm produce, live stock, among which will be a number of registered Jerseys and Jerseys, fancy and school work. At 11 o'clock State Market Agent C. E. Spence will speak, and a basket dinner will follow at noon. After dinner at 1:30 J. C. Mickell, State Dairy and Food Commission lecturer, will give an address, and J. C. Plummer, of the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition at 2:30 on "Equilization of Taxes." A number of O. A. C. representatives and H. C. Seymour, the Boys' and Girls' Clubs leader, will endeavor to interest boys and girls in agriculture.

The best of the exhibits will be sent to the Clackamas County Fair which meets the following week at Canby.

This occasion promises to be a notable one and all around should try to attend. The Springwater grange shows much enterprise in getting up this fair, and sets an example which other districts might well emulate.

An Appreciation.

We the undersigned wish to express our thanks to all those who supported our candidate for Queen of the Highway, and also our appreciation for the courtesy accorded to and received from Estacada, whose candidate almost defeated ours. The celebration was a marked success and we hope that the paved road which unites Estacada and Barton may be symbolical of the good feeling which exists between the two places.

Newly Weds Entertained.

Taking the place of the old fashioned charivari that usually follows the return of the newly weds from their wedding trip, a fancy dress surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wooster for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Lovelace, Thursday evening August 30, by a number of their friends.

Most of the young folks were dressed as juvenile characters and the evening was spent in playing kid games and mimicking the action of children at their first party. However when cigars and refreshments, usually indulged in by adults only, were produced the characters became quite grown up and indulged heartily in the treat.

The newly-weds were wished all kinds of success and happiness for the future.

A Serious Shooting

Mrs. Lena Underwood was called to Portland Sunday morning to meet her sister, Mrs. Mary Walthers of Underwood, Wash., whose son George had been taken to the Good Samaritan hospital. He was the victim of a sad accident last Saturday. A federal agent from Tacoma, Montgomery, was out searching for a still, and this young man with some others were in the vicinity. The reports are conflicting, one stating that Montgomery shot him, mistaking him for the bootlegger, and the other that as Montgomery was advancing over the ground, gun in hand, while facing Walthers, he stumbled, discharging the gun. The bullet struck the boy in the back passing out through the lung and paralyzing him from the waist down. His condition is said to be very serious, though hopes are held that he will recover.

Collides With Dog

As Ted Saling was going down the hill on Main street on his wheel, Monday morning, a dog ran in front of him, as he was passing the garage of Crawford Bros. His wheel went over the dog and he was thrown to the ground. Fortunately no serious damage resulted, the dog was apparently unhurt, and Ted suffered only the loss of some cuticle on his hands.

Married Fifty Years

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Dale on the golden anniversary of their marriage, which they celebrated Tuesday. Owing to the crowded condition of our columns this week, a more extended account must be deferred until our next issue.

Barbecue Roast

To roast meat to a brown finish and retain all its juices, the barbecue method is the ideal one. The beef served up Monday in the park, was surely to the queen's taste. The process was simple, a pit six feet square and five and a half feet deep was dug, the bottom of which was lined with cobble stones and a charcoal fire kindled thereon. The meat was cut up into 50 lb. pieces, wrapped in paper and sewed up in gunny sacks and laid on a grating over the coals. Then the whole was covered up and cooked all night under the direction of an expert from Portland. The nearest approach to this method for home use, is the old fashioned brick dutch oven in which New England housewives did their baking.

Goes to Conference.

The Rev. Howard Mort leaves next week for the annual M. E. conference which meets in Portland. His return has been unanimously requested by his congregation. The News joins with them in hoping this request will be granted. Mr. Mort is a bright and energetic young man and has worked hard to build up his church and to help the community generally.

Norma Has Thrilling Play

"The Voice From the Mijaret," a First National picture starring Norma Talmadge which is scheduled to open a two day engagement at the Gem theatre, Saturday and Sunday, is proclaimed to be the most thrilling vehicle in which this star has ever appeared. Robert Hichens who has gained international fame as a writer of stories of the Orient, is the author of the book on which the production is based. Frank Lloyd directed it.

Miss Ruth Hewitt of Portland, was here Monday to attend the celebration and visit at the Weagter home.

HIGHWAY COMPLETION DULY CELEBRATED

The clerk of the weather was most propitious Labor Day, as a finer one could not have been provided. Not only was it bright and clear but also delightfully cool. The streets and business houses were more or less elaborately decorated with flags, hunting and streamers. The day was ushered in at dawn by the booming of cannon, and things began to hum at an early hour. At nine o'clock those who were going to take part in the parade, started for Barton, where it was to form. It was scheduled to arrive at the Estacada schoolhouse at 10, but it was about half an hour late. Here it halted to allow those who had not gone to Barton to take their places, under the direction of Lieut. Davidson, marshal of the day. The band which had ridden in a car, got out to march on foot at the head of the parade round town. Following the band came the American Legion with the colors, and then the members of the city council in cars. The royal float came next, with the Queen of the Highway, Miss Edith Ferrel of Barton, and her attendants, the Misses Irma Gates and Irene Hayden. These made a most attractive group and won great applause. Her Majesty looked sweet and dainty, and her crown sparkled in the sunlight.

Among the floats were those of the Neighbors of the Woodcraft, Rebekahs, with Mrs. Ted Ahlberg representing Rebekah at the well, the I. O. O. F. and W. O. W. fraternal orders. The S. S. of the M. E. Church, was corralled in a gaily decorated truck which was filled to the limit.

The Christian Church was represented in a car driven by W. L. Baughman, by its new pastor, Rev. B. F. Clay, and some members of its S. S. The W. C. T. U. rode in H. C. Stephens' car, which was appropriately decorated. A comical feature was furnished by a gipsy jass band, that caused much amusement. Altogether there were about 100 cars in line.

At the close of the parade, the program in the park was rendered. The band playing a number of selections, then community singing under the direction of H. W. Mort, with Mrs. J. E. Gates, accompanist. The speakers were Hon. H. E. Cross, our county judge, who spoke on road matters, and Hon. Milton A. Miller of Portland, who spoke on Americanization. The program concluded with the singing of the national anthem.

Even before the program was ended, people began to file to the barbecue stand, where four carvers were kept busy serving out portions. After dinner the boxing matches were the great attraction. The first bout was between Joe DeMoy and Raymond Lovelace, which resulted in a draw, and the other between Guy King and Kelly Montgomery, the decision going to King. The jitney dance which came next was well patronized during the afternoon. At 3:30 on the school field a baseball game between Bojog
