WHITE LEGHORNS
Bred for Vigor and High Egg Production.

Our primary aim is to produce vigorous, husky chicks; healthy, rugged breeding stock, and first class hatching eggs. Hence, in many cases, our customers roll up bigger egg records than we do. But we hold our mature stock back as long as possible after the moult and bring them into laying as near the hatching season as possible. Thus are our customers assured of strong, rugged chicks and high quality hatching eggs.

Cranberry News.

Cranberry harvesting is now in full blast in the cranberry bogs of Oregon and Washington. The crop this year locally will be a large one. The total crop of cranberries in the United States will also be very large. The fruit which is grown on the Pacific coast bogs will average better this year, as to size and general quality, than in previous years.

Pickers are receiving 25 cents per peck for the berries, and as the berries hang more heavily on the vines better money is earned by the pickers this year than last year. Pacific Coast cranberries are generally readily distinguished from their eastern cousins, in that they have a lighter cheek, a fact which is now well known to the trade and often demanded by the housewife, as it is claimed the Pacific Coast cranberry needs less sugar.

An Interesting Trip

Mr. and Mrs. George Forman and son Leroy Till, of Barton returned Monday from a twelve days' business and pleasure trip following the old Oregon trail, through eastern Oregon over the Blue Mts. From Pendleton to the summit there is a wonderful view of the large farms looming in the distance, like a checker board of grain fields and summer following. The monument, dedicated by the late President Harding, is viewed by hundreds daily. The Grande Ronde valley is at the foot of the Blue Mts. with large fields and good roads.

Boise, Idaho, has the best equipped, and St. Anthony the most unsanitary of all the tourist camps encountered on the trip. But if properly cared for, it would be the most beautiful. The auto-park at Sugar City, is the only one where the mayor sees that the tourists have wood, milk and cream etc.

The views in the Geysers Basin are just wonderful, and Old Faithful beautiful to witness. But Oregon surpasses it in roads and mountain views. Lake Camp has a very large hotel with a magnificent view of the Yellow Stone lake. The sunrise is also most beautiful.

The Yellow Stone falls are 109 feet and Gibbons falls 80 feet. While they were in the park, the rangers told Mr. and Mrs. Forman, that there were 12,000 people in the park and all accommodations taxed to the utmost. The trip was made in a 1920 Model Chandler, and covered 2,066 miles. On the Continental highway an elevation of 8,345 feet was made without difficulty.

Last Tuesday night the band was entertained royally at Barton. Short speeches were made, among them one by Rev. H. W. Mort, who spoke on the "Community Spirit," and invited the Barton people to attend the Community Club in the Estacada hotel on Friday night.

Community Club Will Meet

The Eastern Clackamas Community Club will hold its first fall meeting tomorrow, Friday, night at 8 o'clock in the lobby of the Estacada hotel. This is for the purpose of organizing and a good attendance is particularly requested. A short program, including orchestra music by the band, will be rendered. Later refreshments will be served.

CARUS WINNER OF CHAMPIONSHIP

We lost, folks, and Carus is the champion ball team of the Clackamas County League. The score of 14 to 10 gives one an idea of what the game was, considering that only seven innings were played.

Jack Smith started the game for Estacada, and we never saw Jack working so nicely. He had everything and Carus was helpless. In the third inning he threw his arm out, and away went our old ball game. Brother George went to the mound, but his speedy ball seemed to be easy for the Carus sluggers and the fireworks started. John Moger was sent to the rescue. John has pitched some dandy ball this season, but down at Canby he had nothing but a toe-plate and a windup. It was an off day for him and the fireworks continued. George Smith went in again and finished the game. The game was played in a drizzling rain, balls and bats were wet, slippery and muddy. The score book got wet, so did the scorer. Everything went wrong. We tried to relieve the strain by being pleasant to a cute little flapper in the hot dog stand. She looked us over critically and said "bunk," so the day was utterly rained.

We do not like to indulge in faultfinding criticism, but we cannot figure why Owen Scott was sent to the bench in the 3rd. Scotty was up once, got a dandy clean cut hit and apparently was in for a good day. The fact that Scott pitched a mighty good game against some heavy hitters of the Estacada team a week ago last Sunday, that he has a nice curve and good control, and that Carus seemed to be helpless against a curve, was evidently overlooked. We would have liked to have seen Scott sent to the mound, King behind the bat, Boland to second and Jack Smith to right. In this way the batting order would not have been changed and things might have been different. It is easy to figure all this out after the game, but not so easy while the game is being played.

Estacada and Carus surely got a rotten deal down at Canby. We would like to tell you about it all, but as it took three days for Canby, Oswego, Carus, Estacada, the League officials and the Fair Board to settle the controversy, we do not think the editor would allow us sufficient space for all details. Pres. Howland and Sec'y Yonce of the League, seem to lack the nerve to make a decision and stick to it. The one who talks to them last is the winner, and Oswego and Canby were the last. Both of these officials were absent. Estacada will lose nothing by keeping out of such "entangling alliances" in the future.

Next Sunday Stafford will play Estacada on the local grounds.

A week from Sunday Carus will be here. If the weather is right, two good games can be looked for.

Final Notice
