The Race for Sheriff

The field of candidates for Clackamas county sheriff has been entered by Simon MacDonald of Oregon City and Percy T. Shelly of Sandy. Both of these men made definite announcement of their intentions the latter part of the week. Both seek the nomination from the republican party. MacDonald was the first to file with the county clerk on Friday. W. J. Wilson is still non committal as to his candidacy for renomination for a fourth term while the wise ones shrug their shoulders and remark about the uncertainty of the outcome with several contestants in the field. It is expected that W. B. May, chief of police of Oregon City, will soon announce his candidacy. And it is probable that other would-be sheriffs in other parts of the county will soon get into the political game.

That the race for the chief executive office of the county will be a spirited one is gleaned from the go-get-em qualities of the contestants.

MacDonald is an ex-service man, first commander of Willamette Falls Post, American Legion an aggressive advocate of law enforcement and a successful representative of an insurance business.

Shelly is widely known personally, has been a practicing attorney, and a good campaigner. May has made a good record as police chief, and has had much experience with official work similar to that of the sheriff's office.

Wilson, altho criticized for poor judgment in choice of some of his subordinates and for the recent unfortunate escape of prisoners from the jail, retains the confidence of many voters.

Mass was for two terms sheriff and still retains a strong hold on his political allies and friends.

Fortune has made good as constable and will prove a strong contender for the political plum, if he goes after it.—Oregon City Banner-Courier.

George Pointer went to Portland on business, Monday morning.

WILL THIS SOLVE WATER PROBLEM?

Otto E. Jansen of George, who is an experienced well driver has made a tentative proposition to the city council, which has created considerable interest and discussion. He proposes that an artesian well be bored on the hill above the city, and for $20,000, he will guarantee a flow of 200 gallons a minute. Mayor H. C. Stephens has requested him to put his proposition in writing for further consideration. If a good artesian well can be obtained of sufficient volume, this would do away with the water problem. But there would have to be enough for all purposes not only for present demands but for increased ones in future years. To secure such an adequate, unfailing supply of pure, clean water, would be worth $20,000, if it could not be had for less.

A Musical Evening

There will be a special musical service at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, inaugurating the National Week of Song.
