On Saturday, Miss Sturgeon will have the formal opening of her new building to which she cordially invites the public generally to attend as her guests. She has an announcement elsewhere in this paper telling of the special attractions for the occasion. The whole community should take an interest and turn out as evidence of its appreciation. It shows that she has confidence in the future of Estacada and thereby pays a high compliment to the city and its citizens, which they should not be slow to reciprocate.

The Pharmacy was started in 1904 by Dr. W. K. Haviland and his brother and then acquired by E. F. Surface and J. W. Reed. Miss Sturgeon came to Estacada in 1906 and for three years worked in the store as a registered pharmacist. In 1909 she bought the business which she since has conducted. During this time she acquired an enviable patronage and a reputation for reliability. The fire last fall proved costly, but she courageously used it as an opportunity for improvement and expansion as shown in the erection of a building which is up-to-date in every respect, fireproof and equipped with every convenience for a pharmacy and rendering efficient service to the public.

C. H. Kandle and his daughter Mrs. Vernie Duus have gone to North Bend, Or., to visit their son and brother, Charles Kandle and his family.

CHILDREN'S HOME APPEALS FOR HELP

The Multnomah County Fair at Gresham will open on Tuesday, July 29, and continue for six days, closing with a racing program on Sunday afternoon, August 3.

Tickets for this fair will be on sale in various Estacada business houses this week and next. The reason, we learn from the Gresham Outlook is, that the fair board has turned over to the Federation of Women's and the state W. C. T. U., 100,900 daily admission tickets to be sold on a fifty-fifty basis, from which the W. C. T. U. expects to realize a fund of $25,000 for a much needed boy's building for the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis. The Campaign is endorsed by the state and city officials, judges, business, labor and civic organizations. Several hundred volunteer solicitors are aiding.

The Children's Farm Home is not a charity. It is a home for dependent boys and girls where they may have a homelike training for useful citizenship. It is under permanent and unquestioned auspices. It is a new undertaking—about 70 boys and girls are now cared for under the cottage home plan. Hundreds more are seeking and needing its safe sheltering care. The immediate need is for a boys' building. To meet this the funds realized from this campaign will be devoted.

Remember the 50 cent tickets are good for any one day of the fair. But in order that the home may benefit they must be bought at one of these agencies, not at the fair ground. Have a heart and buy a ticket whether you can attend or not. They do not cost any more here than at the fair ground.

Infantry Reunion

All are supposed to bring lunches, coffee will be served free on the grounds.

On behalf of the organization Major West has extended an invitation to all the veterans of all wars to join with the merry makers on August 10.

Library Closes

Nina B. Ecker, Librarian.

The Masonic building is so far along that an idea of its ultimate appearance, outside and in, can be estimated. There will be three fine stores below, and the lodge will have a spacious hall besides other rooms upstairs. The theatre at the rear will be first class, with sloping floor. We understand that a Portland house will lease it and install a pipe organ.
