Republicans Hold Rally

At the republican rally held in the Gem theatre last Friday evening the following speakers were present: Hon. Thomas B. Kay, former secretary of treasurer and candidate for that office for the next term. Mr. Kay reviewed the work accomplished by himself during the time he held that office and very ably defended himself against the statements now being broadcast. He was in possession of several letters that were evidence of the work he had done and that were sufficient to clear him of these statements.

Liev Stipp of Oregon City, candidate for reelection to the office of district attorney of Clackamas county, gave a short review of his work in that office and stated that he would pursue a similar policy if returned to the position for another term. He said that the work had increased materially and that his idea was for more cooperation on the part of all peace officers for the strict enforcement of law in regard to crime.

S. Macdonald, candidate for sheriff of Clackamas county, outlined the policy he would follow if elected, saying, "I believe firmly in strict law enforcement, decency in the home and community, and will work with all officials as long as they remain clean."

W. Linn of Portland, touched on the national issues of the coming election and said, "That all honesty is not found in any one man or party." He urged particularly that all the voters at the coming election use their best judgement in casting their ballot at that time.

Mayor H. C. Stephens presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers of the evening. A fairly large crowd was in attendance and considerable interest was shown.

Estacada Boy Honored

Word has just been received in Estacada from a former student of this high school, Lewis Jones, concerning his activities at this time. He is now attending the Robert Brookings Graduate School of Economics and Government in Washington, D. C., having received a fellowship from that institution.

As Lewis writes, "I am here on a fellowship, living in an old southern mansion, surrounded by maids, valets and books. We are only about two blocks from the White House and but a short distance from the national capitol, Washington's monument, Lincoln memorial, government parks and buildings. Needless to say I am supremely happy."

He spent the summer in New Canaan, Connecticut, but intends to remain in Washington for the next two years. This young man graduated from the Estacada high school in 1918, from Reed college in 1923 and has done graduate work in Columbia university in New York, working his own way through all of these schools. He has an enviable reputation as a debater, having been a member of the Reed debating team for two years.

No matter where he may go or what kind of work he may engage in, we predict for him success, for he has shown those essential qualities so necessary for success in all that he has undertaken. Estacada may well be proud of this young man and look forward to his future with interest, always keeping in mind the fact that he is one of our boys.

The Democratic meeting in the Gem Theatre Tuesday evening was not very well attended. Joseph Hedges of Oregon City was the speaker and spent the greater portion of the evening reviewing the national issues of the coming election and especially stressed the life of the Democratic candidate for president. He appealed strongly to the members of the Democratic party to do their utmost at this time in preserving the party principles.

LOGAN RIDGE

LOGAN RIDGE

The Upper Logan P. T. A. met at the usual hour in the school house Thursday night. The attendance was not as large as it sometimes is. Those present enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable evening. The regular business was transacted with the president in the chair. At the close of this meeting our county health officer, Dr. Brisco of Oregon City, addressed the assembly on contagious diseases, their symptoms and care of the same. He also explained the wonderful work our County Health Unit is endeavoring to accomplish in the upbuilding of the health of our school children throughout the entire county.

The local W. C. T. U. met last week at the home of Mrs. Nellie Kohl. The attendance was very good and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Boss; vice-president, Mrs. Zina Cromer; secretary, Helen Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Hovey. Mrs. Andrews of Oregon City was present and gave us a very interesting talk on the State Convention held in Corvallis and the management of the orphanage at that place. Simon MacDonald, the republican candidate for sheriff, was present and gave a short talk on his plans for the conduct of that office if he is elected to it in the November election. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess and her assistants.

The Union Sunday School at the Logan Baptist Church on Sunday showed evidence of a continued growth, there being 33 present.

The Young People's class had the honor of having the Star banner, there being the largest number in that class.

S. Kirchem and A. Appling were among the week-end hunters.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Teathers and son, Clayton, returned to Oregon City Sunday.

Jess Cromer, who is employed in the road work at Springfield, spent Sunday at the home of his uncle, E. S. Cromer.

Miss Helen Tracy is visiting at Astoria.

Miss Daisy Bouch, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Arnold, returned to Portland Sunday, where she will resume her school work.

Miss Helen Bovett was home for the week-end.

Pete Tracy reports a successful hunting trip.

J. Arnold is helping C. Sprague farm this week.

Highly Amusing Picture

From postmaster to senator. Milt Brown, of the cast of the James Cruze Paramount production of "Ruggles of Red Gap," which will be shown at the Gem Theatre, makes such a jump in the course of the story. The feature is highly amusing. Edward Horton plays the title role, and others featured are Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson, Fritz Ridgway, Charles Ogle and Louise Dresser.

ESTACADA MAY GET SOUTH FORK WATER

Representatives of the city council were in Oregon City recently, again discussing the possibility of obtaining South Fork water for Estacada. The new water commission of that city entertained quite favorably the $25,000 offer made by the city for the supplying of water for this community. This money with other appropriations of the Oregon City water commission, would be used by the Oregon City water board in making some important extensions at the intake and along the system, so that an adequate supply would be assured at all times.

The commission has taken the matter under advisement and it is hoped in the near future the question may be answered in such a way that we may be assured of an ample supply of pure water for years to come. The matter of fire protection is one of the important problems that will be solved to a great extent, if such a supply is obtained.

Hunters Bring in Deer

Hass Tracy and Harold Wooster vie with each other as to their hunting ability. Just now they are even, for last Monday while hunting near Camp 8 each brought down a fine buck weighing about 100 pounds. They hope to go back into the woods next year and complete the wager as to which is the best hunter.

Pioneers See Their Film

Last Saturday and Sunday evening the special attraction at the Gem was the pioneer film, showing these people as they appeared at the first annual gathering held in Estacada Saturday, October 4.

Many of them again came into the city for the express purpose of seeing themselves on the screen. The film was unusually clear and it was with little effort that all the faces were recognized.

The P. E. P. company have donated this film to the Pioneer association and it will be kept among their records for use at any time the members may see fit.

Interest in Sheriff Contest

There has been little or no change in the political situation in Clackamas county during the past week. Interest locally continues to center in the fight for sheriff. It is becoming evident that Macdonald is getting the backing of the political active church members and this is expected to come more to the surface with the passage of time. E. T. Mass the democratic candidate, and his friends are also active. Mr. Mass seems to have the edge over his opponent in that he served four years as sheriff of Clackamas county, and was four years U. S. deputy marshal for Oregon. In which capacities he is said to have made a good record. This promises to be a most interesting fight, with the outcome so uncertain, according to observers who have lived in the county for years, that there will be little betting on the outcome.

Reception to Pastor

On Friday evening, Oct. 24, at 8 o'clock, there will be a reception to the new M. E. pastor, Rev. Rankin and Mrs. Rankin, at the parsonage. There is to be a program. Everybody invited.

See J. E. Gates and get that suit cleaned and pressed. I. O. O. F. Building. 10-11tf.
