SENATOR LODGE DIES

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts died at the Charles Gate hospital at 11:45 p. m. Nov. 9, following a stroke suffered on Wednesday, Nov. 5.

Mr. Lodge was born at Boston, Mass., May 12, 1850. He had served continuously in the United States senate since 1893, as republican leader since August 1918 and was one of the most prominent leaders of his part for a generation.

Statesman, publicist, author, lawyer and historian, his manifold activities made a wide impression on contemporaneous events. He gained his greatest prominence perhaps when as a leader of the senate he opposed the league of nations and the treaty of Versailles, during 1918-19 and 20. He was the author of the "Lodge Reservations" and was credited with a large part in moulding the policy of the Harding administration against America entering into the league.

The final rights were held Wednesday noon at Christ's Church, Cambridge with Bishop Lawrence, his college classmate, officiating.

The entire nation is in mourning for Senator Lodge and representatives of the President and Congress were in attendance at the funeral services.

THE FUTURE BRIGHTENS

Business seems to have received a new impetus since November 4, due no doubt to the republican landslide which at least satisfied the entire nation as to the fact that we are still able to elect a president without submitting it to the House of Representatives for their selection.

The fact that the minds of the people are resting easy following such a long period of uncertainty in regard to this matter, has had a tendency to force them to again settle down to the regular habits with a feeling of security that has long been absent. We at least feel confident that the country will go through no great change under the present administration, and since the republican party is in such complete control of all branches, the promises made during the recent campaign should be fulfilled.

Powder Demonstration

The County Agent's office will give a stump blasting demonstration on the W. P. Ferrell ranch, one mile south-east of Marquam, on Estacada road. Demonstration is to show the use of pyrotol, the new government powder which is being sold through the office of the County Agent, at about one-half the cost of ordinary stumping powder.

The demonstration will start at 1 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 20. Orders will be taken at that time and it is suggested that due to the limited quantity to be disposed of this year, orders should be given early before the supply is exhausted.

The Eastern Clackama News $1.50 the year.

THE ESTACADA HOTEL

ON THANKSGIVING DAY, NOVEMBER 27, there will be great feasting at the ESTACADA. We will serve the regular 50c dinner, and, of course the Turkey and all the fixings will cost 75 cents, but it will be a Humdinger Dinner, fit for a king, prince, potentate or any other person who should happen to journey this way. All will be made welcome and personal service and attention given.

Essay Contest

The conditions of the "Home Lighting essay contest" were put before the English classes last Monday and were enthusiastically received by many of the students. Only those desiring to do so were registered as contestants. The contest is under the direction of the electrical industry in the United States and Canada and its purpose is to inform the people of the proper use of electric lights so that in future years there will be less eye trouble. The contest is open to all school children of United States and Canada. In the essay the students are to tell how they would change the present lighting system in their own home to make it better. The essay is not to be over 600 words in length. The contest closes November 21.

Football News

Although the game between Estacada and Milwaukie was played on a field of mud and water, the Estacada eleven won from the visitors to a 6-0 score. Maurice Bullard made the only touchdown during the game. During the first quarter Milwaukie almost made a touchdown, but was prevented by the quick maneuvering of the home team.

Owing to the fact that the weather was very cold and wet, it was hard for either team to gain any headway.

Friday, Nov. 14, Estacada will play Stayton at Stayton. This promises to be a hard fought game as it is understood that Stayton has a fairly good team.

Thursday night the E. H. S. students held their second football rally of the season in order to advertise the Milwaukie-Estacada game on Friday. After giving many of the high school yells, the students gathered around the bonfire and enjoyed an hour playing games and having a general good time.

Junior News

The juniors who entered the "Home Lighting" essay contest are, Florence June Reed, Emma Coleman, Florence Hassel and Bertha Tiffany.

Junior news is awful scarce, but the way I try to write is something fierce. So be content with what you get, even though it's a little bit.

PNEUMONIC PLAGUE

From time immemorial the very mention of plague has struck terror to the hearts of mankind in practically every land and nation of the globe. With the establishment of international travel the tragedy of plague began. No other disease of man has ever assumed the alarming proportions of this one dread malady that could, when enshrouded in medieval superstition, decimate one-fourth of the entire population of the known world.

With the knowledge of the exact cause and most of the factors underlying the mode of transmission, plague has lost its ability to spread death and destruction broadcast; yet until the world can be induced to take certain essential precautions, plague will continue to exist. It is only on the actual eve of an outbreak that the public will demand active measures of prevention.

Sanitary control of plague, like that of most other communicable diseases, is concerned first with infected human beings and animals. The plague bacillus does not exist long outside of the body and the disease is spread by the discharges. The prevention of plague consists of a campaign for the extermination of rats and vermine, and the proper isolation of human cases. Long range preventative measures are necessary. All seaport towns having communication with plague countries should examine rats caught about wharves and other places, for plague. Plague may slumber in rats, ground squirrels and other rodents for years before other cases occur. Plague can be controlled effectively by measures directed against the rat.

Exterminate the rat: 1. By starving him, through the use of rat proof receptacles for food, and covered metal garbage cans.

2. By depriving him of breeding places, through the abolition of plank yards and passageways.

3. By refusing him admission to the comfort of your buildings, through rat-proof construction, and screened basement openings.

4. By killing him at every opportunity.

5. By demanding city anti-rat ordinances and state anti-rat laws.

A Big Industry Looming

Flax growing in the Willamette Valley gives promise of becoming a great industry, and through the work of Governor Pierce it is attracting attention throughout the country, and representatives of milling interests are looking over the Willamette Valley with a view of establishing factories here.

1123 SONOMA STREET

October 30th, 1924.

Chevrolet Motor Company
Oakland, California.

Gentlemen:

The following may interest you in connection with our 100 Hour Endurance Run.

After the Star and Overland came out with their remarkable and impracticable gas mileages, we decided to give the public a real picture of mileage obtainable under actual driving conditions. We held our Chevrolet at an average speed of 34.89 miles per hour for the full 100 hours, or the equivalent of 264 miles more than the distance from Vallejo to New York, averaging 24 miles per gallon of gas.

The third day of the run we challenged the Star and Overland dealers to an additional endurance run to Lake Tahoe, and return, a distance of 425 miles, starting at sea level and obtaining an altitude of 7394 feet.

Nothing was heard from Overland but the Star dealers, lacking nerve themselves, called for help. The Star factory responded, sending their Trick Stunt Driver, Julius Dusevoir, who worked 12 hours getting the Star ready. At 12:15, October 11th, both cars were on the line, the Chevrolet having ended the 100 hour run at 12 o'clock, and not stopping the motor.

Everything was peaceful until we reached the Vacaville Detour, an exceptionally bad 8 mile stretch, where Mr. Dusevoir shot around us. This ended the ENDURANCE RUN and a RACE started. We immediately took the lead again.

The law held Chevrolet up at Loomis and we were forced into second place, but as soon as the grades were encountered we passed the Star, this time holding the lead to Colfax where the Chevrolet stopped to put on chains. On the Alta grade, where Mr. Dusevoir persisted in holding the center of the road for a considerable distance ("CHEVROLETS Do Not Hold Other Motorists Back On The Hills") we took the final lead and held same to the Tavern at Lake Tahoe.

On the return trip Chevrolet pulled away from her competitor a distance of three miles on the twenty-six mile Emerald Bay grade and saw nothing more of them until Vallejo was reached. The Star arrived 15 minutes later.—BUT GET THIS—THE STAR WHICH ADVERTISED 36 3-5 MILES PER GALLON ON THEIR 100 HOUR ECONOMY RUN, ACTUALLY GOT 19.6 MILES PER GALLON ON A REAL PRACTICAL RUN, AFTER BEING ADJUSTED AND DRIVEN BY THEIR FACTORY EXPERT.

Yours for Chevrolet Superiority,

L. M. DUDLEY,
