Intake Freezes

Wednesday morning the water supply in Estacada was shut off causing many to believe that the low temperature had frozen the water pipes. As a result much time, energy and patience was spent in thawing out supposedly frozen pipes.

The real difficulty was at the intake where the supply was cut short. A man was sent out and the trouble soon remedied much to the relief of all.

Postpones Carnival

COOPERATIVE CANNERIES MAY FORM SALES AGENCY

Five cooperative canneries in the Willamette valley have joined in a request to C. J. Hurd, extension specialist in marketing, and R. H. Kipp, representing the Portland Chamber of Commerce, that they prepare a written market agreement whereby these canneries would market their output through a central sales agency similar to that formed by the prune associations.

The new movement which is in line with recommendations made at the agricultural economic conference last winter is expected, if put in practice, to go far toward stabilizing the market for the cooperatives and insure an orderly disposal of their output. Expansion of the canning industry in Oregon is expected to be along cooperative lines, as by this means the farmers provide themselves with an outlet for their products.

Children's Farm Home.

The last news of the Farm Home broadcast thru the newspapers of the state related largely to the campaign to raise funds for the Boys Building. As we have two cottages for girls and only one for boys this building was and is a pathetic need. Not a sufficient sum was raised to warrant building this fall, so we must go into the winter with an ever increasing pressure for place to house the children we now have and the necessity of refusing almost every day admission to most pitifully needy little ones.

While building cannot now be undertaken until spring we trust that funds will be forthcoming to begin at the very earliest possible time. Our friends will rejoice with us that this first of December we are signing a check to pay off the last cent of our contract on the farm, leaving only a not very large mortgage which can be handled in the next few months. To do this we are borrowing a small sum from the building fund but there are land pledges to cover this by the time we can begin building.

There are many things to encourage the outlook for the new year. Larger Thanksgiving offerings from union church services are being made, and women's organizations are evidencing their increasing interest by more generous and frequent contributions. Lane county is undertaking an independent campaign for funds to build a Lane county cottage. We trust that this will not only succeed but that it will be an inspiration to others to do likewise.

The need for clothes dryers for the winter is being met, one being provided largely by that good friend of the Home, Mrs. C. S. Jackson and the Journal making a campaign to pay for two more. The employees of the American Can Company are planning to give a Suer-Heterodyne Radio which can be moved from cottage to cottage to gladden Christmas time, and Mrs. E. B. Hyatt of Portland has just sent a Victrola with a lot of records.

There are now seventy-five children at the Farm Home, most of whom have never known a real Christmas time, until they came to us and many who came this year will see their first one. We are depending on the generosity of the friends of little children throughout the state to see that they have the "time of their lives." We trust that their tables will be spread with a real "Christmas feast" and that Santa Clause will bring each child a gift of their "very own." Any questions as to specific needs will be answered promptly if addressed to Ada Wallace Unruh, 806 Stock Exchange Bldg., Portland, Oregon.

Water Power Has Its Limitations

The demand for electrical energy for industrial and domestic purposes has already passed the point where it could be supplied by water power, even if all the available water power sites of the country were developed, declares Dr. George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey. Thus the water fall is not a rival of the coal mine, but its partner.

"Many of us, when the word power is spoken, think only of or at least first, of water power," says Dr. Smith. "At the session of the World Power Conference in London, however, it was made plain enough that coal far outranks water as a source of power. Statistics there cited for six leading countries of the world showed that the coal production represented five times the energy output of the water power utilized. And we know that even in the United States with its great development of water power—about three times that of any other country—steam and internal combustion engines not including those of locomotive or automobiles, produce more than three times as much power as our water wheels."

Little Kilowatts Now Used To Lay Bricks

An electric bricklaying machine which it is claimed lays 1,200 bricks an hour, is the latest application of electric energy to industry.

Upon rails placed around the outside walls of a building, a traveling boom is set, and upon this are the mortar tank and laying mechanism, driven by a three horsepower electric motor.

The laying wheel rotates, taking two bricks from the carrier, while another wheel spreads mortar as the carrier moves along the boom.

At the end of the wall the machine changes direction and proceeds as before until it has laid one row of bricks entirely around the building. The boom is then raised the thickness of one row of mortar and bricks, and another trip begins.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Say it with a Christmas Seal. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. M. Browne are the parents of a son born, Dec. 7 at the Lovelace hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Close of Vancouver, and Mrs. McKinley of Portland, were Sunday guests at the W. A. Wilcox home.

A carload of steel was sent to Roaring river the first of the week to be used in the construction of a new bridge across that stream.

Mrs. L. W. Fox of Garfield who has been visiting in Portland returned to Estacada, Tuesday evening and spent the night as a guest at the S. E. Wooster home.

Bids are called for by the Highway department of the Clackamas county court for lumber to repair the north approach of the Clackamas bridge at this place. The lumber must be delivered by the first of February, 1925.
