BETSY CULVER CHILDS

Betsy Culver Childs died Tuesday morning, June 16 at the home of her brother, O. E. Culver, in this city. Mrs. Childs was born May 24, 1853 in Sparta, Mich. where she resided until about six and one half years ago when she came west to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Culver.

She was united in marriage to James Childs at the age of sixteen and a daughter was born to this union who died at the age of twenty-one. Mrs. Childs was a member of the Christian Church and had been an invalid for many years. She is survived by two brothers, O. E. Culver of this city and Frank J. Culver of Sparta, Mich. and a sister, Mrs. David Crowley of Sparta, Mich. The funeral was held Wednesday, June 17 at 2 P. M. at the Culver home with the Rev. B. F. Clay officiating. Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Estacada.

FARM REMINDERS

From Department of Industrial Journalism, O. A. C.

Watch the chicks more than the thermometer. They will show you if the temperature is right, no matter what the thermometer reads. Watch them constantly during the first week as this is the critical period, advises the O. A. C. experiment station.

Anthracnose canker and fruit rot are prevented by a single thorough application of bordeaux mixture 4-4-50. Good economy is to put the bordeaux on with the July or August worm spray, says the O. A. C. experiment station.

Have you sprayed the brooder house yet? Contaminated houses and equipment are the cause of spreading much disease in Oregon, the experiment station says. Use any good spray material with a coal tar base and be sure to reach all the corners and cracks in the house.

Red spiders, which are likely to strike at almost any plant in Oregon from low-growing annuals to tall trees, develop most rapidly and become most harmful in dry weather. The best protection so far reported by the Oregon experiment station is dusting with sulfur. Most sulfur containing insecticides are effective if applied thoroughly, and some growers use liquid sulfur solutions.

Anthracnose disease of gooseberries is indicated by the presence of many small dark spots on the leaves that often cause the leaves to drop. Bordeaux applied in 4-4-50 strength thoroughly to both surfaces of the leaves is the remedy found effective by the Oregon experiment station. Directions for making and using the spray may be had on application to the agricultural college at Corvallis.

Mrs. Ray Keith, Worthy Matron; Mrs. R. H. Carter, Associate Matron; and G. E. Lawrence, Worthy Patron, attended the session of the Grand Chapter of O. E. S. in Portland last week, returning to Estacada, Thursday. As far as it is known Mrs. Keith had the distinction of being the youngest worthy matron in attendance.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

On Saturday evening June 13 the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Mier on Sylvan Farm was the scene of one of the most beautiful weddings it has been the writers' fortune to witness in many years.

The house was tastefully decorated with syringa or mock orange and other beautiful flowers that abound in that section. As the shadows of evening gathered a button was touched and the large reception room was flooded with light. There were guests from many places including New York, Seattle, Portland, and Milwaukee.

It was nine o'clock when Miss Hallock, the daughter of the bride took her place at the piano and began the wedding march, the minister, Rev. B. F. Clay of the Christian church of Estacada took his place and Mr. and Mrs. Mier took their places on either side of the minister, Theodore Rehberg of Milwaukee, the groom and Mrs. Ola Anna Hallock of Portland, the bride entered. Rev. Clay in a brief and impressive ceremony united them in marriage.

The guests present were all relatives of one or the other of the contracting parties. Many handsome and useful presents were given the bride and groom and each was accompanied by a message of regard.

WILLAMETTE BERRY GROWERS SET SCALE

Salem, Or., June 13.—Loganberry pickers this year will receive one and one-half cents per pound, according to an agreement reached at a meeting of Willamette growers here today. Pickers last year received two cents a pound. Berries will be larger and more plentiful this year than last, which will more than offset the reduction in the scale for picking, the growers said.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 19

Question: Why is a used Buick the next best buy to a new Buick?

Answer: Because the correctness of Buick design and the quality of Buick manufacture are not altered by use. A used Buick is a better investment than many new cars of other makes.
