

Lower First Cost and Upkeep

THERE is triple economy in the Ford car, that materially lowers the cost of transportation for private business and municipalities alike.

1st—A Ford car is the lowest priced car on the market.
2nd—It costs little to drive and little to maintain a Ford car.
3rd—Ford cars stand up under severe and constant usage.
Stripped to bare facts, these three points mean that the Ford car gives the greatest amount of actual transportation service at the lowest possible cost.

The ever increasing use of Ford cars in various city departments, indicate to some extent the degree of confidence born of experience, which department managers have in their Ford fleet.

For city work as well as for doctors, salesmen, collectors and others, who must cover considerable territory and make frequent stops during a day's work, the Ford roadster or coupe is an ideal transportation unit.

Ease of handling in traffic, or parking at the curb in limited space, quick acceleration and carefree performance, are features to which Ford drivers are accustomed and to the busy man in the city, this means a great deal.

"Yes, sir, that old Ford hasn't soldiered a day since I took to using this new Zerolene 'F' for Fords."

Ford owners who "tried out" Zerolene "F" for Fords when it was first put on the market have been sticking to it ever since.

Zerolene "F" for Fords is made by the Standard Oil Company's patented vacuum process. It lubricates all the bearing surfaces where oil is needed, especially the wrist-pin bearings and the upper half of the cylinder walls, which are frequently "oil-starved" when an unsuitable lubricant is used. The result is improved gasoline mileage, quicker starting and increased freedom from carbon and other motor troubles.

A Ford is an A-1 transportation investment. Protect your investment by proper lubrication.
