PRESENT RESOLUTIONS TO CITY COUNCIL

The City Council met Tuesday evening, August 18, in the city hall with Mayor H. C. Stephens presiding and Councilmen J. F. Lovelace, U. S. Morgan, J. S. Osborne and R. Wilcox and Recorder Dale present.

The regular routine of business was completed and all bills were approved by the finance committee and a motion duly made and carried that such bills be ordered paid and warrants drawn for the same.

H. C. Stephens submitted the plans and specifications of the new Estacada State Bank building. A motion made by Councilman Wilcox that said plans and specifications be accepted met with the unanimous approval of all councilmen present.

A number of persons were present representing the various churches of the community and the local W. C. T. U. and two resolutions were presented to the council by Mrs. O. E. Smith, one from the local W. C. T. U. and one signed by the official board of the Methodist church to the effect that:

"We do earnestly deplore the use of Sunday (which is commonly used for religious instruction and worship) for dances, rodeos and similar activities; and that we do respectfully urge the City Council of Estacada to take such action as may be necessary to prohibit the same."

Rev. B. F. Clay, pastor of the Christian church, stated that his congregation a few weeks ago had taken a vote and were unanimous in their support of the same resolution.

Mrs. W. J. Moore read paragraphs from an address delivered by Dean Kate Jamison of the Oregon Agricultural College in defense of the modern young person and urged those endeavoring to do away with such activities to proceed slowly and endeavor to find some form of recreation which could be substituted for those so openly deplored at this time.

Miss Ruth Dillon urged that some effort be made to aid the organizations now deriving some form of revenue from such things by providing some other means of assistance.

W. F. Cary spoke in defense of the young people, stating that if all these amusements are deprived them in this community they would go elsewhere where more freedom is accorded them.

Reverend Kirkwood of the Springwater church stated that the church is often in danger of saying that you can't do this without providing something as a substitute. We ask that the church be given at least one day a week in which to appeal to the young people.

Rev. Rankin, pastor of the Estacada Methodist church, expressed the opinion that restraint is necessary and that through this they were only proposing something better for the young people.

G. E. Lawrence expressed faith in the present council to handle this matter properly.

After considerable discussion by the council a motion was made by R. Wilcox that the matter be taken under consideration and that a plan be formed to work out a solution to the problem under discussion. The motion carried unanimously.

W. G. Hall and A. G. Ames, representing the Estacada Band, asked that the city council if possible aid them in the work that they are now carrying on. The present expenses of the band are unusually heavy and they are endeavoring to pay a debt of about $300 on the suits as well as making preparations for a trip to Portland during the Odd Fellows grand lodge meeting there in September. The expenses of this trip will be heavy and the band boys feel that Estacada will gain considerable advertisement from the trip and should aid in a portion of the expense.

The council decided to defer the matter until after the Labor Day celebration, which is being given to aid both the band and the public library. Council then adjourned.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY TO SPEAK HERE LABOR DAY

Congressman Hawley will be the speaker here at the Labor Day celebration September 7. The program arrangements have been completed. Some of the outstanding features will be the crowning of the queen, competitive drills, musical program by a chorus of thirty voices, boxing, dancing, races and sports.

DIVERSITY SAFEGUARDS ALL INVESTMENTS

Liberty bond drives during the war and the campaigns of public utility companies to sell their securities to employes and customers have done more to educate our people how to make sound investments than any other agency.

Banks are beginning to follow the lead of utility holding companies by organizing separate investment corporations which utilize their funds and savings to buy high grade securities in all parts of the world. These combined securities form the assets of the investment company which offers its stocks or bonds to the public backed by this wide diversity of securities. The idea is old, but the practice is new.

The Bancitaly corporation, organized by the officials of the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, has encouraged this movement on the Pacific coast.

FARM REMINDERS

In some rotation experiments at the Oregon Agricultural College rotation has resulted in 50 per cent higher yield than was obtained by continuous crops, and the difference is growing larger every year. Beans grown continuously yielded 9.85 bushels an acre, while beans rotated after grain or clover yielded 15.74 bushels an acre.

"Liming" the soil was a well established practice in early Roman husbandry. Evidence has been found that even the ancients knew the value of limestone soil for producing satisfactory crops.

Results secured at the Union experiment station on the increased value of steamed alfalfa hay are not extensive enough to warrant conclusions. A slight advantage for steamed alfalfa was found, but not enough to justify the expense for steaming. Steaming alfalfa or clover for hogs has not proved satisfactory at Corvallis.

Light land-plaster applications have helped vetch yields slightly in the experiments and paid for a short time. On some soils large increases are secured. Lime applications did not pay on this trial, although on some very acid soils good results are obtained.

SPRINGWATER FAIR PLANS FORMULATED

Now that the harvest is nearly over, the time of year is drawing near when we should and must take stock and find out whether we are going forward or backward in our agricultural endeavors.

The fall fairs, with their competitive displays in agricultural and livestock exhibits, have proven to be one of the best stimulants yet found for the farmer, stock raiser, poultryman or those interested in any branch of agriculture or horticulture.

The Springwater Community Fair fills a long felt need as a stimulant to this part of eastern Clackamas county, their fair coming as it does just before the Clackamas County fair at Canby. The date for the Springwater fair this year is Friday, September 18.

The program for this season will be somewhat different from those of former years. The livestock entered will be judged by specialists from the Oregon Agricultural College who are connected with the Department of Animal Husbandry. They will talk to those interested in such work while examining the livestock.

Governor Walter M. Pierce will deliver an address during the afternoon. Mrs. Wilson, secretary of the State Fair Board and a member of that board have signified their intention of attending this fair.

Ribbons will be awarded to the winners in all departments and cash prizes will be awarded the winners in the boys' and girls' divisions.

No admission to the fair is charged and free coffee will be served during the dinner hour. A concession will sell ice cream and other confections, while a basket dinner will be a feature of the noon hour.

Exhibits of grain, fruit, vegetables, livestock, poultry, cooking and fancy work will be made and the Springwater Girls' Canning club is planning an interesting display of canned fruit and vegetables.

The Estacada band will play during the day and everyone is especially urged to attend.

The Springwater Grange is sponsoring this fair and are endeavoring to make it a community enterprise, and all are invited to take an active part in it.

TRUE FISH STORY

Many are the fish stories circulated during the course of the piscatorial season. Some are true, some are plain facts, others colorful facts, still others plain unadulterated lies. This is of the last variety:

J. E. Shook—just plain "Jack" to his many friends and admirers, came out from Portland to spend the week-end whipping Eagle creek for the speckled beauties. He brought his eight-year-old son, Jack Junior, along and the youngster landed two fine ones Saturday evening, while the elder disciple of Friend Isaac got nothing.

The pair returned to the fishing grounds Sunday morning, Mr. Shook promising to return and show us his son was not the best fisherman in fact, but as we didn't see them again it is to be presumed Master Jack retained the championship.

GARFIELD SKIP-A-WEEK

The Skip-a-Week club will hold a cooked food sale at Tom Morton's store Saturday, August 22.
