The following resolutions were adopted:

Be it resolved that we in convention assembled work with renewed efforts for God and home and every land.

Be it resolved that we use every effort to safeguard the purity of the childhood of the nation by raising the standard of books, magazines, moving pictures and music, and we hereby protest against 1. Suggestive songs and stories being broadcast over the radio. 2. The so-called funny pictures which lower our ideals of love and marriage. 3. The obscene magazines that appear on our newsstands. 4. Those moving pictures which give insidious suggestions to sanctity of the marriage state.

Be it further resolved that we deplore the growing habit of smoking among women and girls and protest against private smoking rooms for women in our public buildings.

Be it further resolved that we give greater publicity to our work through the press and any other means of bringing our work before the public.

Be it further resolved that we give a rising vote of thanks to our joint hostesses, the Oak Grove and Evergreen Unions for their royal entertainment.

We also thank the Oak Grove M. E. church for the generous use of their church building.

SPRINGWATER FAIR GREAT SUCCESS

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the fair was a decided success in every point of view. The exhibits even up to the usual standard. Boys' and Girls' club work was better than in former years which was due largely to the management of the fair board.

Governor Pierce, who was scheduled to speak at 2 o'clock, arrived at the Springwater store about 1 o'clock and was met by the Estacada band and marched with a large number of school children to the grounds adjoining Springwater school. Here Rev. Mr. Kirkwood welcomed the governor on behalf of the community and in addition to this Betty Ward, a second grade Little Miss, who marched with the governor from the store, welcomed him on behalf of the Springwater school.

Dinner was ready and everybody had just that which they liked best and all of one kind if they so desired. After dinner all moved to the school pavilion, when the speaking was to take place. After the ordinary routine of functions of this character, the governor was introduced. In his preliminary remarks told a number of interesting stories, followed by remarks on the wave of crime that always follows in the wake of wars. The interesting portion of the governor's argument was on taxation and comparison with that of other states. The pavilion was filled to its full capacity and was in hearty accord with the governor.

Named as Crop Observer.

Appointment of George H. Brown, of Oregon City, and G. G. Randall, of Oregon City, as crop observers in Clackamas county for the Sears-Robuck Agricultural Foundation Index, is announced from Chicago by P. V. Ewing, director of research for the Foundation and editor of the Index.

They will form a link in the nationwide chain of county agricultural observers elected because of their first-hand knowledge of farming conditions and their ability to observe these and intelligently interpret them.

The Index, to which the observers from this county will contribute, is a compilation of the monthly reports of 3,450 observers in every section of the country, and this number is being added to steadily. All the observers are practical, thinking, farm-minded men, each chosen because of the opportunities he has to observe the needs of agriculture in his own locality and for his ability to apply economic principles to current farm problems. As a group, they represent a cross-section of the thoughts that the man in the furrow is thinking, and their joint analysis of existing agricultural conditions, as expressed in the Index, is considered a forward step in helping agriculture help itself.
