J. O. TUNNELL,

CURRINSVILLE, OREGON.

CURRINSVILLE

Atley Erickson, Mrs. E. E. Erickson, mother, and Mrs. Henry Keiple, sister, returned home Saturday from a two weeks' visit at Spokane, Walla Walla and other places. Iver Erickson, son of Mrs. E. E. Erickson, lives in Spokane. They report financial conditions good in the Inland Empire.

Fred Ely and family have rented the Sarver place and took possession last week. Mrs. Ely, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dowty, will take care of the old folks in future. The Elys came from the state of Washington.

CURRINSVILLE'S NEW HALL

J. O. Tunnell has remodeled the upstairs part of his warehouse, and in future it will be known as the Community hall. A stairway, two fire escape, floor, stage, walls and ceiling have been constructed out of new material, which makes the hall a fine place for entertainments, meetings, etc. Four carpenters have been employed remodeling the place. It is now ready for occupancy. It is understood that the Currinsville school students will give a home talent play in this place November 24, under the tutelage of the teachers, Elsie Poole and Margaret Tyberg.

CONCERT AT HIGH SCHOOL TOMORROW EVENING

Miss Dorothea Shoop, who will accompany Mr. Delepine at the violin concert tomorrow night, November 20, at the high school auditorium, is a Portland pianist and teacher. The following are the opinions of the press: "A talented and cultured musician." "Her efforts are always artistic." "One of the most finished and brilliant pianists in the west."

Mr. Delepine is going to considerable expense in obtaining the services of Miss Shoop for the evening. It goes without saying, however, that an accompanist of Miss Shoop's ability will add greatly to the program.

The public might be interested in knowing that such numbers will be played as the second Beethoven Sonata, an Indian group, featuring Indian Snake Dance (Burlleigh); Indian Lament (Dvorak-Kreisler); From the Land of Sky Blue Water (Cadman), and Pale Moon (Logan-Kreisler). Such composers will be represented as Mozart in "Landler," Winternitz in "The Blue Lagoon," Dvorak-Kreisler in "Going Home," Schubert in "Moment Musical," and Krakauer-Kreisler in "Paradise. This is mentioned to give some idea of the high type of this entertainment.

It is to be hoped that the people of Estacada and vicinity will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this excellent musical program at reasonable prices.

FARMERS' MEETING

Marshfield, Nov. 18.—Cooks county's big two-day agricultural meeting closed at Coquille yesterday afternoon. The gathering was one of the most important from a farmer's standpoint that has been held here. It was sponsored by Oregon Agricultural college and the business organizations of the county.

Stress was laid upon the importance of sending produce to market in attractive containers, rather than forwarding it in gunnysacks or old, dirty boxes, which had been the rule for many years with many ranchers.

Ranchers were urged to raise one crop which is a known certainty, rather than mix too much and not being able to supply the local markets in anything. It was stated that the county imports more than 75 cars of potatoes annually, and this could easily be changed by increasing acreage. Large quantities of eggs are also imported into the county, but the convention urged amateur poultry raisers to go slowly until they get their bearings.

An organization has been perfected which will watch all markets outside the county.

Recommendations for growing more vegetables for canning; closer co-operation between logging operators and ranchers to utilize logged-off lands; employment of a dairy inspector, cutting away of orchards producing less than 150 boxes. Pears and nuts, it was said, are not to be encouraged, but those planted should be cared for.

TEACHERS 100 PER CENT

One hundred per cent of the teachers of the Estacada school district No. 7 are enrolled in the National Education association. This is the second year all the teachers of this district have been members of the association. The National Education Association was organized in 1857. Through its efforts the United States bureau of education was established. It has more than 100,000 members. It is the largest professional teachers' association in the world and the greatest publisher of literature on education. Among the planks in its platform of service are: A competent teacher in every public school position in the United States; such inducements to enter the profession as will attract the most talented men and women; the establishment of a department of education with a secretary in the President's cabinet, and ratification of the constitutional amendment authorizing Congress to regulate child labor.

Mrs. R. M. Brown of San Francisco, with her little daughter Lois Jean Moore, was in Estacada this week visiting at the W. J. Moore home. She has been visiting her

DENVER MAN ON TRIAL FOR MURDERING INVALID OF YEARS FREE MAN -

TRIAL WAS INTERESTING ONE

Prosecutor Requested Court to Dismiss Charge When Jury Disagreed

Dr. H. E. Blazer of Denver, who has been on trial for some time, accused of first degree murder, is a free man. The jury who tried the case stood 11 for acquittal and 1 for conviction. The jury was dismissed. The district attorney, who prosecuted the case, recommended to the court that the charge against Blazer be dismissed, and this was done.

Blazer chloroformed his helpless 34-year-old daughter and characterized his actions as one of mercy.

The following story tells of the case:

To the little village of Dillonvale, Ohio, there came in 1890 a 26-year-old youth just admitted to the practice of medicine.

Harold Blazer, his life consecrated to the sufferings of humanity, settled down to the none too remunerative duties of a country doctor. There are those left in Dillonvale who recall the enthusiasm and the tenderness of the young practitioner.

Dr. and Mrs. Blazer were prominent in the social life of their village. They were comfortable and happy. Mrs. Blazer learned not to mind the long trips her husband was forced to make at night along country roads.

In May, 1891, a daughter was born to Mrs. Blazer. The child was named Hazel Ingrid and was normal and healthy. But six weeks after birth, spinal meningitis developed and for four or five weeks the child lay near death. The baby never lost the vital spark but it had burned so low it could not flame into radiant health. Hazel was a deformed imbecile, never to develop an adult brain or physique.

The shock and disappointment of this cruelty wore heavily on both the doctor and his wife. Not even the arrival of another daughter, Frances, several years later, alleviated the pair of Hazel's helplessness.

The stricken girl never fully developed; she has been termed a "hulk of a human." Her feet, legs and hands were shrunken, her body above the waist was better developed but hideously deformed.

Throughout her 34 years Dr. Blazer took care of his daughter. Mrs. Blazer was too frail to bathe, dress and care for Hazel when the girl had attained her full growth of about 90 pounds. She had to have specially prepared, pre-digested food. Her only amusement was rattling a piece of paper.

In 1899 Dr. Blazer gave up his regular practice and in 1910 moved to Colorado. He settled in Walsenburg, and became physician for the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. The years went by peacefully until in 1924 Mrs. Blazer died.

Dr. Blazer and his invalid daughter moved to Littleton in November of that year to the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Roy Bishop.

On March 24 of last year the Bishops left for the day. They returned at 6 o'clock in the evening and found Hazel dead from chloroform and the physician slashed across the throat with a razor.

Two notes, evidently written to Mrs. Bishop, were found. One of them read:

I am weary and afraid—afraid of being taken suddenly and leaving Hazel. I know my blood pressure is very high. I made up my mind a great number of years ago I would not leave her behind.

She is a burden, notwithstanding our love for her. With great love—Dad.

The other note referred to disposition of the bodies.

The coroner's inquest named Dr. Blazer responsible for his daughter's death and a charge of first degree murder was filed by District Attorney Joel Stone. At a preliminary hearing the doctor was released under $10,000 bond.

Selection of a jury proved arduous. Hailed as a "merciful murderer," sympathy poured in on the doctor. Of the first 44 men drawn from the field, 43 had formed an opinion. And out of these 32 only nine had formed opinions unsatisfactory to the defense.

The unique qualities of the trial attracted nation-wide attention. Noted physicians, scientists and clerics commented on the burning issue: "Is it ever right to take a human life?"

During the progress of the trial Prosecutor Stone made a bitter newspaper attack upon Blazer and upon those whose maudlin sym-
