Bootlegging can be stopped by arresting and fining the man or woman who gets drunk, irrespective of their social standing. The respectable or one who has money and is rich, fine that one ten times as much as the poor devil who has to pay his fine on the rockpile. Put some one beside a moonshiner or bootlegger to enforce the law. How in the name of justice can a criminal enforce any law? Disfranchise all moonshiners and bootleggers upon second offence.

There is so little chance of making a mistake with a man or woman about their guilt when driving an auto in a drunken condition with no regard for the lives of any one. A revocation of their license would be modest punishment.

There is no harm to come from a man who occasionally takes a drink of good liquor. He is usually a gentleman with one glass if otherwise so, and wealth or poverty will make no difference with his conduct as a good citizen.

To make a law prohibiting any privilege which the public has had and then furnish the violator with all the machinery of state or nation so the law may be violated and put men in office to give the favored criminal protection is a sad commentary on our so-called Christian civilization. It is an insult to human intelligence. It is not party, but corrupt politics.

A. E. Clark, a prominent Portland attorney, has announced that he will be a candidate for nomination as U. S. senator on the Republican ticket. There are few men in the state who are as well qualified for senator as Mr. Clark. He is a man of experience in every branch of knowledge along the lines that would make a good senator. He is well informed as to the needs of this state and has been identified with state and national affairs since he came here some twenty years ago. He has taken special interest in the civic affairs of Portland.

A Minneapolis astrologer, Ekstrom by name, told the Theosophical society that according to the stars the Volstead act is due for modification. He must have had a sup of jackass brandy himself.

Why the order from federal authorities prohibiting the Portland health bureau from manufacture of alcohol for city hospitals out of condensed booze? The process gave the public hospitals alcohol at very light cost. The new order requires it to be bought of bonded warehouses or other supervised dispensaries. The change serves no purpose, adds no safeguard, accomplishes nothing in law enforcement. It adds greatly to the public expense. It is a case of bumptious and bungling bureaucracy.—Journal.

There are too many of us who live decent lives and boast of our good citizenship and let it rest at that, never giving any thought to our duty to the remainder of mankind. We may be all of what we claim, yet if we take no interest in the welfare of those about us, do not help them to be as good as even we claim to be, we are negligent and have not yet attained to that degree of good citizenship that is demanded of each of us. We cannot afford to live solely to ourselves.

A Chicago university professor has been to great pains to figure out that 50 per cent of boys under 24 years of age chew gum while only 30 per cent of girls follow the masticatory habit. He might have furnished much more interesting information had he told us what per cent of young men earn their salt and how the percentage of girls who assist their mothers at the wash-tub average up with their gum-chewing activities.

The saying that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer has lost its quality of truthfulness, if it ever had any. Truly the rich are getting richer, but at the same time so are millions of others who toil with their hands. If the man in any station of life is not better off today than ten years ago, there is something wrong in his makeup.

King Tut, if he is resting any place where he can observe what is going on down here, can see that notwithstanding his mortal remains were encased in a golden coffin the greed of man would not let them rest easy. It may also be a lesson to those now living who seek to be laid away in golden coffins when they die.

They are eating us up with taxes. These go steadily up and we delve and moil incessantly to meet them. We hire peace officials, are taxed for courts to prosecute and convict criminals, and higher officials parole them out of prison to repeat the dose. If this thing keeps up the bottoms of our pockets will soon be reached. Then what?

The medical profession are finding, so they claim, that King Tut died because he had failed to have his tonsils removed. After all the years the young king has been dead they now mourn because they lost the opportunity of chopping him up.

Not, However, a Case of "Too Much Johnson"

The Johnsons now lead the Smiths in Seattle. For some time there has been an interesting race between the Johnsons and the Smiths as to which family should appear the greatest number of times in the local telephone book. Six months ago the Smiths led by four names, but since then the Johnsons have forged ahead rapidly, so that they now have a lead of 23. There are 295 Johnsons and 572 Smiths in the latest edition of the telephone directory.

Watching the South.

Wheat growers and dealers keep their eyes on the Argentine and Australia for the coming wheat harvest. The latest reports on these two countries are that the Argentine gives promise of large yields on increased acreage, while Australia seems likely to run about a third below last year's production.

The new "GMAC" time payment plan reduced Chevrolet time payments from $15 to $35.

Ma Ferguson, Texas governor, is showing her desire for law enforcement by offering a reward of $500 for each conviction of liquor law violators who are worth $5000 or more. It is the rich patrons, she says, who keep the bootlegger in business.

WISCONSIN TELEPHONES GROW 100% SINCE 1910.

The state of Wisconsin has had a hundred per cent increase in telephones since 1910. During the same period the population has increased by about 19 per cent. Wisconsin holds a leading position among the states in telephone development, ranking 12th in the number of telephones, in which New York leads, 11th in the number of long distance and local calls placed by subscribers and eighth in the number of farms having telephones. In 1910 there was but one telephone to every 12 inhabitants in the state. Now there is one to every six inhabitants.
