Notes and Comment

Chad Alton in Sutherland Sun

Sir Oliver Lodge says miracles happen every day. He's right. The weather man says it will and it doesn't.

Of forty women recently tried in Chicago for husband murder only nine have been convicted and none of them are in jail.

A man must place small value on a life in this world when he commits suicide because he loses a game at checkers, as did a Pittsburger. And not only that and more strange, he lost to his wife.

And now an Iowa professor says George Washington was of Swedish descent. We do not care to contradict the gentleman, but anyway, we have history for it that George was no liar.

Congressman Miller of Washington has introduced a bill in congress prohibiting the sending of firearms through the mails. Which should be done and will, providing the manufacturers will permit it.

The country will watch with some interest the pronounced determination of Mayor-elect Walker of New York to darken Broadway after January 1st. He will have a big job on his hands, as crime and Tammany combined are no mean foes.

Congress is promising the American taxpayer a slash as a Christmas present. Unfortunately however for most of us the cut is only for the ones who are liable to income tax and abundantly able to pay. Those who have the least get no relief.

On December 4th the Portland Oregonian celebrated its 75th birthday anniversary. "Hoary with age" this publication has developed along with the Oregon Country into a great and useful newspaper, one of many on the Pacific coast.

In spite of the fact that France was a signer of the Locarno peace pact, she still talks and worries about an air attack on Paris. Perhaps for the reason that Russia did not dip her pen in the ink and sign on the dotted line.

A Spokane lawyer advocates the abolishment of all divorce laws and substituting a state maintenance law barring remarriage. This might operate to cause many couples to remove from the state whose presence could be dispensed with just as well as not.

The arrests in one Pacific coast city for the month of November totaled 3676. Of this number 2213 were for traffic violations, the remainder being for drunkenness and minor offenses. Without this explanation some person might become unduly excited at the total figure.

Persons who attend church, and few do, and those who attend the theatres, and a lot of them do, wish those who conduct the places would provide cough drops at the door. Seems every one afflicted with a cough visit one or the other of the two places.

If we should destroy all evidence of wealth, should arrive at a socialistic state where none could possess more than another and each could have as much, then we would also destroy the desire to progress, the impulse to attain greater things, and when our necessary wants were supplied stop at that. The greed for money and material substance crowds us along. Absolve us from that greed and the bootlegging question would settle itself.

There's a man out yonder in a Far Country whose teeth must gleam when he learns of the Spanish lady who recently at the age of 68 gave birth to her twenty-ninth son. As there is luck in odd numbers, this may or may not be her last. Caruso the great tenor, was the eighteenth on his mother's list.

Here's a German himself, one Moske, who says the German defeat was due to lack of turnips. After the boast of the French that they did it, the British positive that Tommy Atkins brought it about, and American Buddies swearing our intervention saved the day, this turnip claim is disheartening, to say the least.

Love of dumb animals is an excellent quality, but when a man carries it so far as to commit crime in its name it is rather overdone. A Montana cowboy has been arrested in Illinois for attempting to destroy by fire a packing plant used to convert horses into dog food. Said he loved horses so well he couldn't bear the thought of such a thing.

A French chemist has patented a process for making wool fabric from wood. Hail the day when ye country editor can go out in his woodshed, gather up a basket of chips, send it to the factory and receive back the wherewith to cover his lean and hungry form. (P. S. Wood taken at this office on subscription.)

Los Angeles felicitates itself that the Florida boom deprived it of many crooks, both real estate and otherwise. It had always been supposed the town was made up of retired farmers with a paucity of dollars and a few last-stage patients and others who went down there to end their days in writing back what a beautiful place it was.

Mail carried by the department without charge in the year ending June 30 totaled one hundred and eighty-three million pounds, upon which if postage had been collected would have amounted to over fourteen million dollars. This free postage was granted congressmen and others who mail out speeches and political matter that they could not otherwise get any one to listen to, were never read by those receiving them, and only served to clutter up the mails of the people and cause a deficit that has to be met by the taxpayers.

By the end of this year Chevrolet will have produced more than 524,000 passenger cars and trucks for 1925.
