How Wylackie Indians Capture Their Fish

Before beginning the fishing operations it was incumbent upon them to eat up five small deer which they had brought into camp. William Kent writes, in the Yale Review, concerning the Wylackie Indian tribe. This was a worthwhile performance. The deer were skinned and hung up near the fire. The Indians sat around, each with a sharpened stick. They went to the pendant carcasses and cut off strips which they then partially broiled and swallowed, and continued in this occupation without napkins or finger bowls for about fifteen hours, at which time they exhibited considerable distention. From time to time the stripped bones were handed out to the nondescript dogs that always signalize an Indian camp. After this sumptuous repast both people and dogs were able to endure several days of fasting without complaint.

However, after a due allowance of sleep, our friends went out for fish, and it was a most interesting performance. Out of respect for us they refrained from the easy use of dynamite and put in practice an ancient method of getting results.

Going to a deep pool in a rock cleft they beat upon the water with branches, threw in stones and scared the school of fish until, like so many small trout, they took refuge under the banks. Then an able-bodied Indian stripped and, taking in his hand a small scoop net without a handle, dived down into the icy depths. He swam under the rocky bank until only his legs were visible in the clear water. He succeeded in getting a big fish into the net and came in triumph to the surface to drag him out in shallow water. We who considered ourselves fishermen were forced to praise and admiration of such a feat. I commend it as real sportsmanship.

Put Implicit Faith in Power of Twins

Among certain savage tribes in southeastern Africa twins are regarded as the children of heaven and are believed to possess the power of controlling the elements.

In times of drought the people will dig a hole in the ground, put the mother of twins in it and pour some of their precious water upon her. They believe that this will cause rain to fall.

When a thunderstorm occurs the people appeal to a twin to "talk to heaven" on their behalf. In many cases the mediator is a mere child, but the natives have implicit faith in his power to persuade the thunder and lightning to go away and leave them in peace. As soon as the storm has abated the youngster is reverently thanked for his intervention.

Innocence

Just before the polo match one of the players was talking to a lady friend who sat in the enclosure.

"Have you ever seen a polo match before?" he inquired.

"No, never," she replied, "but I'm sure I shall enjoy it, and I wish you'd hurry up and begin, for I'm just dying to see those beautiful ponies kick the ball about."

Showers of Stars

Great showers of meteors or shooting stars have occurred on a number of dates. One of the most brilliant was that of November 12 and 13, 1833. On this occasion it was estimated that stars to the number of 240,000 fell in the space of nine hours, all from the same part of the heavens. Another great shower, though less intense, was observed in November of the following year. On November 13 and 14, 1866 there were other abundant meteoric showers, meteors falling at the rate of about 2,500 an hour. Observers have noted that these brilliant displays have occurred at intervals of about one-third of a century, the explanation being that a great cloud or distended stream of meteors revolves around the sun in that period, and that one portion of the elliptical orbit intersects that of the earth.

Discovered by Accident

Sheffield plate was discovered by accident in 1742 by Thomas Bolsover, a Sheffield mechanic.

He was repairing the handle of a pocket-knife composed partly of silver and partly of copper, says Good Hardware, and in making his repairs accidentally fused the two metals. He at once conceived the idea of uniting these two metals and used this as a substitute for making articles which hitherto had been made of sterling silver only.

He seems to have specialized in making small articles such as buckles, buttons, snuff boxes and match boxes, some of which were only half an inch in diameter. He did not appreciate how important his discovery was, and consequently did not reap the full results from his remarkable invention.

Capitalize Blunders

It doesn't make much difference whether your age is seventeen, seventy or one hundred and seventy you will grow and develop as long as you are willing to profit by your mistakes, says Harry Daniel in Thrift. Look your mistakes straight in the eye, shake hands with them and then bid them good-by forever. A bad habit is nothing but a mistake that has acquired a permanent address.

The average man of success today will say, "I owe my success to hard work." But he is holding out one of his choicest secrets. What he should say is, "I'm a success because I know how to clean up $100 worth of wisdom on every little $2 mistake I ever made." Mistakes seldom bite the first time.

Had Their Nerve

A well-known lecturer was promised $20 if he would give a talk at a charity affair in a small town. He consented, and drove in a motor car twelve miles through a heavy rain storm to keep his engagement. Though he had come prepared to speak for only half an hour he found upon his arrival that he was expected to occupy the platform for an hour, which he did. The hall in which the affair was held was poorly lighted and drafty and the lecturer was thankful when he was finally able to leave the platform. An envelope was handed him, and in it he found a $20 bill, together with a note reading: "If you will give us your fee God will aid you in your efforts."

NATIONAL RADIO FADING TESTS START FEB. 9TH

Dates for the National tests of radio reception to determine the causes of static and fading were announced today after 4,000 of the 4,500 designated observation stations had expressed willingness to take part in the survey which is being conducted by the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation in cooperation with the Northwestern University. The first test will be held on the night of February 9th, from 8 to 11 o'clock central standard time. The second and third will be on the two succeeding nights at the same hours. Subsequent trials will be held throughout the winter, should the data obtained indicate that real progress is a search for the causes of these two major radio annoyances is possible.

It was originally planned to hold these tests in January, but owing to the international tests scheduled for that month it was decided to hold the fading and static tests at a later date.

Most of the observations will be made by broadcast listeners using standard receiving sets and depending for the accuracy of their reports up on their own ears. However, to insure the scientific accuracy of the result, twenty control stations equipped with electrical measuring devices and automatic recorders will be placed in the principal broadcasting centers of the country.

Tons of Sunflowers Produced in Canada

The Canadian sunflower crop has grown to enormous proportions, the plant having been found to form excellent silage. Sunflower yields from twenty to twenty-five tons per acre, a great deal more than the average corn crop, and the extent to which it has been cultivated in Canada shows how this plant, until a few years ago despised as a worthless weed, has become a crop of great economic value. The importance of the sunflower was first urged by Dominion government agricultural experts, who stressed its value for silage purposes. Farmers began to plant small fields, and found the experiment profitable.

Expansion has lately been so rapid that last year Alberta alone produced a crop of nearly 200,000 tons, at a cost which, in view of the food value of the plant, is declared to be the cheapest silage or fodder crop yet raised. Farmers report that live stock take readily to it.

Strictly Neutral

A junior football match was in progress and great excitement was aroused. One of the backs tackled the opposing center forward, and after much wild kicking both fell.

"Foul," said the referee, blowing his whistle. "Who for?" asked the home captain. "Us," came the reply from the highly excited official.—Vancouver Province.

Restoring Books

Books that have lain long in a damp place and acquired a musty smell should be thoroughly aired and exposed to the sunlight for several days. This should arrest the odor. Mildew may be checked by brushing over the books with spirits of wine or a few drops of essential oil, such as oil of cloves, applied with a soft cloth. The books should be dusted frequently.

Nothing Small About Him

Ernest Cassel, the financier, came to London when still a boy and entered the banking house of Bishoffshelm & Co. in an insignificant capacity. There he soon gave evidence of extraordinary ability and he advanced rapidly. One day the house was confronted with a difficult situation, the handling of which presented seemingly insuperable obstacles to all. Young Cassel suggested a solution which appeared to be feasible and was entrusted with the task. Having accomplished it successfully, to the complete satisfaction of his superiors, he was called into the office and informed: "We are entirely satisfied with the manner in which you have discharged this undertaking, and, as an indication of our appreciation, we have decided to raise your salary to five hundred pounds." Young Cassel calmly replied: "I suppose you mean five thousand pounds." Whereupon everyone looked with astonishment at everyone else, but Mr. Bishoffshelm retorted just as calmly and promptly, "Yes, sir."—London Advertiser.

COMMUNICATION

The Oregonian on the 6th published the following extract from the "Newberg Graphic".

"In keeping with his pledges to the dry forces of law enforcement, Governor Pierce continues to pardon, parole and relieve prisoners over the state. Someone will have to write a new song entitled, 'How you gonna keep 'em down in the pen?'"

Let's see, what newspaper was it that supported the Millionaire class' right to have liquor in their homes New Years Eve as against Prohibition Director Cleaver's seizure of same upon a search warrant, which was subsequently quashed; and the liquor, possession of which is unlawful in itself, ordered returned to its lawful owner!

Governor Pierce seems to be of the same opinion as the Governor of Texas who is liberating the "hip pocket" offenders from the penitentiary, because the law enforcing agencies of the state do not see the "truck load" offenders.

The law enforcing agencies are, in effect, conducting a nit-school, teaching disrespect for the law, whose graduates may turn upon their instructors, and make Russia look like Paradise, in comparison to the "Degree of Anarchism" conferred in the U. S. A.

Mr. N. E. Linn with help of some of his neighbors put in the concrete wall for his new home Friday.

Robert Currin was home Sunday. Lindsey Hale still seems to be improving slowly.

Mrs. J. H. Kitching, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kitching, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kitching, Mrs. Lester Hale and Geo. Kitching attended the funeral of their mother and grandmother at Salem, Sunday, January 10.

J. H. Kitching, who has been in bad health for a long time does not improve as his friends wish him to.

It is reported that there is a chicken thief or chicken thieves operating in Currinsville community that some have lost as many as twenty-five chickens. This is an offence that should be dealt with immediately and offenders given the extreme penalty of the law. It isn't fair for the women to care for their flocks as they do and then have a thief carry them away and feast off their labors.

Ruth Walter who has been sick for a few days is up and around again.

Willie Rhodes and Lloyd H. Ewalt have completed a new body on the new International truck of the Currinsville store and Lloyd made his first trip with it to the North Portland stock yards Monday. This truck has a specially built frame that can be removed quickly and converted into other uses in a few minutes.

W. O. Echols is buying and shipping.

Love After Marriage

Adolescent love is an event. Married love is a situation. The first is a critical phase of development, the second is sustained romance. The desire to retain a special mystery or attraction is imbecility. Love for a wife implies an inability to conceive of life without her. The music of the spheres begins, years after the marriage ceremony, when this happy condition is achieved. For both man and woman the domestic atmosphere should hold rest, understanding and sympathy. So is one ready for the great adventure.—Eaton Mayo, in Harper's Magazine.
