Estacada Is Starting Point For Many Interesting Trips

There is an interesting fact quite generally known locally, no doubt, but outside the immediate confines of Clackamas county not known to any great number of those who during the summer and vacation season love to get out for a spell of roughing it along the streams that flow down from the snows of the Cascade Range. There is no finer sport or more invigorating pastime than in taking a camping outfit, and the lighter the better, and hitting the trail into the infrequented places that have not yet felt the influence of man and his efforts to subdue nature by clearing the land and bringing it under cultivation to supply his needs. Every man who has red blood coursing through his veins feels the urge at times to get away from the hurly-burly of city life and get out into the wild places and enjoy a season of commune with the forest primeval, the leaping torrents of the mountain streams, and indulge in other ways the instinct of his savage nature.

The fact not known, as was started out to say, is that Estacada is the starting point for just such an outing as has been outlined. The trip can only be made over narrow trails, perhaps some of which the trapper will have to make himself and as the railway ends at Estacada is the starting point for shank's horses into the region that will repay the time spent many times over in keen pleasure and the toughening of sinews brought about by a week or ten days away from civilization. No need to tell a hiker to carry rod and gun, for by these he should be able to subsist with what few condiments he can easily carry in his blanket roll.

Leaving Estacada the Clackamas river may be traced into the South-eastern part of the county until it trickles from the snows about the Pin-heads and Sisi Buttes, or more easterly where it drains the small snow-fed Clackamas lake, far up in the Cascade Range. Confluent all the way up to its source are numerous smaller streams helping to swell the volume of the main river, and which should be ideal for the home of many mountain trout to provide a tempting feast for the frying pan. This region will be found very rough and mountainous and provide occasion for bringing the kodak into use, as that instrument should form an important part of every pack. These headwaters are all in the Oregon National Forest which one enters soon after leaving Cazadero, and contains the finest body of merchantable fir timber in the west.

Indeed the scenery throughout all Eastern Clackamas county easily reached from Estacada, is so entrancing that a fortnight may be spent in searching out the various points of interest. One may tire in clambering thru the many canyons or climbing the lofty peaks, but the delights are worth the efforts. And to the man who feels his blood thrill as he gazes upon and wanders among nature unadorned, there is no greater satisfaction than becoming so weary and fagged that when the soft night settles down and the cool winds waft gently off the snowy peaks, he can cast himself upon the ground beneath sheltering trees, roll up in his blanket and sleep a sleep that has been foreign to him since childhood.

As the trail to all this practically starts from Estacada, the hiker can outfit all his needs at this point. In this outfit the kodak must not be overlooked, as he will want to bring back remembrances of the trip. Nothing need be taken along but what can be easily carried on the back, and that with a will to enjoy a pleasant hike is amply efficient to make such a trip long to be remembered.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

All regular services are being conducted the same as usual during the summer. Let us not forsake the worship during vacation. We had 54 at Bible school Sunday. Let's keep it that and above all summer.

Sunday's sermons are as follows: morning, "The Divine Mission of the Church." Evening, "A Young Jewess Queen Who Believes In God's Providence."

Everyone is invited to attend.

SPRINGWATER BALL TEAM DEFEATS CLEAR CREEK

The baseball game at Viola between Clear Creek and Springwater did not prove quite so easy a conquest for Clear Creek as the game played a week ago with Sandy, in spite of the base umpire's extravagant imagination at times. The score this game was 10 to 7 in favor of Springwater.

Emery Closner behind the bat played his usual good game and is in a class with Koehler and Berry, while Hughes or French could not have out-done Bronson when it came to shooting the pill across the plate. Owen Scott on first could show up such men as Kopp and Lafayette and if McLaughlin or Prothro had been on third they could not have done better than did Billy Tucker.

The supposedly ferocious bat-swingers of the Clear Creek lineup were apparently not up to their usual good selves, else they would have surely made more runs than the score shows, or it may have been possible the score keeper ran the lead out of his pencil and was unable to borrow a fountain pen quickly enough to record the runs.

The scout from the New York Nationals was there as per schedule but after the first few innings when he had sized up the players, he took to the tall timber and had not been heard from up to a late hour Sunday night, so we suspect it will not be necessary for the Clear Creek manager to draw on his extra "material."

The line-up for Springwater was: Harold Bronson, pitcher; Emery Closner, catcher; Owen Scott, 1st; Lester Closner, 2nd b; Billy Tucker, 3rd b; Lloyd Skagg, ss; Bill Pinkley, lf; Earl Closner, rf; and Jack Tucker, cf.

The Springwater team has lost but one game during the season.

A benefit dance will be given by the Springwater baseball team at Baker's hall on Saturday evening, June 12. Good music, and a good time is promised. Everyone is urged to attend.

Teams wanting games with Springwater write Lester Closner or phone 23-21 Estacada.

SPECIAL CLUB MEETING WILL COMPLETE PLANS FOR JULY

There will be a special meeting of the Community Club next Monday evening, June 14, at the Estacada hotel. The meeting is called for the purpose of completing the plans necessary for the entertainment of the Greater Clackamas Union of clubs in July.

So far the Ways and Means committee composed of A. G. Ames, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Morgan, Mrs. Yocum, Mrs. Heiple Mrs. Rose and Mr. Lawrence have worked hard and assure a successful program. There are still several points to be decided upon and it is the wish of this committee that everyone attend this special meeting Monday to help complete their plans.

The entertainment of the county organization is of vital interest to everyone. The cities that have been the hosts in the past have shown a fine spirit of co-operation in perfecting the details that have made for a successful meeting. We will reap a great benefit from the meeting in July. To extend a cordial greeting to several hundred residents of other parts of the county is a large undertaking. We must get everyone behind the July meeting and put it over to the best of our ability.

The special meeting will be called at 8 o'clock. Everyone is urged to be there promptly.

"LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY" COMING TO LIBERTY

"Little Annie Rooney" Is my sweet-heart, became a world "hit" as a song in days of yore. Now it has made as great a hit as a screen picture. Mary Pickford won her title as "The World's Sweetheart" through her wonderful personality and superb artistry and she is at her best in "Little Annie Rooney," which will be at the Liberty on June 14 and 15. It is a picture for everybody and holds laughs, tears and human interest. Little Annie is a policeman's daughter who leads a gang of dirty-faced boys. Many fights with a rival gang of boys take place. She has a secret infatuation with "Joe" a truck driver who is a friend to her brother. The picture contains many amusing scenes and holds interest to the very last. Don't miss Mary Pickford as "Little Annie Rooney" at the Liberty theater on June 14 and 15. The remainder of the cast is: William Haines, "Joe Kelly;" Walter James, "Officer Rooney;" Gordon Griffith, "Tim Rooney;" Carlo Schipa, "Tony;" Spec O'Donnel, "Abie;" Hugh Fay, "Spider;" Viola Vale, "Mamie;" Joe Butterworth, "Mickey;" Eugene Jackson, "Humidor;" Oscar Rudolph, "Athos."

CHORAL SOCIETY PROGRAM

The Estacada Choral society appeared in concert on Friday evening, at the Liberty theater, presenting the cantata, "The Rose Maiden," under the direction of Mr. David Horner.

The audience was rather small, due to the lateness in the season for such affairs, since so many are away, but those who did hear the cantata were deeply impressed with the very fine work and fascination of the cantata.

The work of the soloists was delightful throughout and each one showed a most sympathetic interpretation of his part.

Mrs. Harold Horner's accompaniments are always interesting and played in a very finished manner.

The chorus is indeed fortunate in the choice of their leader, Mr. David Horner, who is thorough and efficient in his work and under his splendid direction has accomplished much during the past season.

It is quite a regrettable fact that more people did not attend this closing concert and hear something really worth while, for it was surely one of the finest and biggest things given in our community.

It is surely hoped that the chorus will continue this splendid work and plan more such fine evenings of music in the future.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Greater Clackamas Union Of Clubs to Meet June 14

A meeting of the Greater Clackamas Union of Clubs will be held at Oak Lawn in the Oak Lawn Farm Bureau hall, Tuesday, June 15.

The meeting will be unique and different from the meetings held previously, inasmuch as it will bring many Clackamas county people to the most fertile farming district in Clackamas county, and as these meetings have been more or less along the line of discovering that Clackamas county is a big district and that we who attend the meetings are learning much about our county and the good people who are its inhabitants, it will be an eye-opener. The meeting is being arranged by the Farm Bureau of Oak Lawn, and the hall at that place was built by them.

A splendid old-fashioned program of fiddle, accordion and quartette music is being arranged and a harmonica contest will be held. Those entering the harmonica contest will be allowed to choose their favorite piece of music. The contest will be an interesting part of the program. On account of the time it takes to introduce each person at these meetings, this part will be eliminated so those present may reach home at an early hour.

Oak Lawn is reached now, while the regular road through Barton is being repaired, by turning to left at the corners where garage and stores are at railroad crossing at Canby, and proceeding straight ahead on that road and turning to the right on second road beyond the Yoder store. Signs will be placed on the road at Canby and the other road so there will be no difficulty in reaching Oak Lawn, which is ten miles from Canby.

Oak Lawn has for the past two or three years had the largest community exhibit at the county fair at Canby.

Many of us do not realize that until good roads were built there, Marion county was the outlet for that big region, but now they are more a part of this county and it is well for all who can attend the meeting next Tuesday to see what a community like Oak Lawn can do in the way of community betterment.

STATE GAME WARDENS HOOK SALMON ILLEGALLY

That a state warden had a permit to hook salmon illegally was the excuse given by state officials to Bill Cox, Donald Hass and a companion when they reported to them that they had seen a warden hooking salmon up the river.

The three young men were seen on the river and questioned severely as to what they were doing there. They then reported that they had seen a warden hooking salmon up the river but the state officials smoothed the matter over by telling the boys that the warden they had seen had a permit to catch salmon illegally.

The three boys were brought by the State Fish and Game Commission to testify against the defendant in the trial of Harold Forchner accused of foul hooking of salmon. No evidence was brought against the defendant. The trial was before Judge Wooster, on Monday, June 7. The attorney for the defendant was W. W. Smith, with attorney Lindas of Oregon City for the State Fish and Game Commission. The jury was out ten or fifteen minutes and brought a verdict of not guilty.

JAMES PICKARD PASSES

After an illness of several years James Pickard died Saturday, June 5, at 6 p.m. In conformance with his wishes short funeral services were held at the Odd Fellows cemetery where he was buried.

Linn who have cared for him as one of their own relatives. Mr. Pickard was proprietor of the second hand store here for a number of years and made many friends who regret very much to learn of his death. He leaves one brother who lives in Downing, Wisconsin.

Miss Ruth Dillon was a Portland visitor one day last week.

Mr. Lloyd Day was a recent visitor here from Corvallis visiting friends and relatives.
