A. A. PRICE CANDIDATE STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Below we print a clipping from the Canby Herald, on the candidacy of Al Price as a representative of the people of Clackamas county.

We have known Al for a number of years, and no man in Clackamas county is better qualified to represent the people of his district than he is. One of honor, integrity and ability, and will fight for the right of his constituency.

A REAL BUSINESS MAN

To the older residents of Clackamas county the life of A. A. Price, Democratic candidate for representative in the legislature, is an open book, showing his development from young manhood to mature years; from a position of obscurity to one of prominence; from comparative moderate means to reasonable affluence, and on no page of that book is there a line that his friends would have obliterated. In later years his counsel and advice have always been sought in commercial and social affairs of his home town, Oregon City, and valued, and his judgment on matters of importance has been invariably sound.

Should he be elected to represent the people of this county in the legislature they will have a good listener and a good business adviser; a sane, sound and sensible business man, safe as to our financial system, reasonable in all requirements, but unyielding to the demand for protection to American ideals of right living. A wholesome man of good physical proportions. A just and able and honest man.

Al Price is not rich, except in generosity, but his commercial success has given him a competence. The big thing about him is his unflinching common sense, and his marked ability to listen to others and promptly reach wise decisions out of the conflict of opinions. Those who know him most intimately think he fits the need of the hour and the position he seeks upon request of his many friends throughout the state.

Mr. Price is outspoken relative to his position on public problems and he has no hesitation in expressing himself along these lines either privately or publicly. He is a business man and always deals with public matters in a business way, making no attempt to dodge or straddle an issue. He is a business man thorough and complete, and the opportunity to send a real business man to the legislature is now before the people of this county.

DELIGHTFUL AFTERNOON AT LOVELACE HOME

On Tuesday afternoon, July 20, Mesdames John Lovelace and Raymond Lovelace entertained most charmingly in honor of Mrs. Wallace Smith, whose birthday fell on that day.

All were bidden to come to the John Lovelace home for the afternoon, where a delightful time was spent chatting.

At four o'clock, the guests were invited to get their hats and join in a "treasure hunt." After some little maneuvering they arrived at the Raymond Lovelace home where a beautifully appointed lunch was served.

Mrs. Smith was then presented with a basket containing cards and handkerchiefs gifts from the guests, and also a beautiful bouquet from May Rose Bartholomew.

Those present at this lovely affair were Mesdames Gohring, Wooster, Bartholomew, Rhodes, Johnson, Smith, Ahlberg; May Rose Bartholomew, Arnold and Junior Ahlberg, Jean Louise Lovelace, Miss Vivian Gorham, Miss Evelyn Hayworth of Stayton, and the hostesses.

NEW ELECTRIC BAKERY

It is reported that a fine electric bakery will soon be in operation in the Masonic building, which will, indeed, be a fine addition to the town. This is something which has long been needed in our community and we hope it shall be well patronized and shall prosper.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF BIDS

Board of Directors, school District No. 108, board to meet at high school building July 23, calls for bids for 70 cords of first class 4-foot wood delivered to the school building. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Wm. DALE, Clerk.

DOGS POISONED

Several dogs in this community were poisoned on Saturday and Sunday; whether accidentally or otherwise it is not known.

However, it was, indeed, sad to think such a thing should occur, for if anyone wishes to get rid of animals there are much more humane ways than by poisoning.

There is a possibility, however, that this poisoned food was scattered about for rats, but if such was the case, the owners of dogs should have been notified.

Some of the dogs died very suddenly and no help could be given them, but the Airdale belonging to Mr. Ray Johnson was taken to the hospital and is getting along very well.

HISTORY OF EAGLE CREEK GRANGE

Eagle Creek Grange was organized in 1873, held meetings for several years, when it was disbanded for some years. Again on the 13th day of June, 1901, it was reorganized in Wilbern's hall, by J. S. Casto, deputy grange organizer, with 25 charter members, of whom six are still living. They are: H. F. Gibson, Joe Brackett, H. C. Glover, M. C. Glover, Mrs. Maggie Bates and Mrs. Mollie Bates. It was given the name of Eagle Creek Grange No. 297.

The first Master of the newly organized Grange was Chas. Zeek, and the first secretary was M. C. Glover. Then on the 29th day of June, the charter book having arrived, the other officers were duly elected. The motion carried that the Grange meet on the 3rd Saturday of the month at 10 a. m.

Pomona was entertained for the first time by Eagle Creek Grange in October 1901.

The membership was steadily growing; at each meeting there was a class to be initiated. At the present time there are 80 members in good standing.

During these 25 years, or since the re-organization of the Grange in 1901, 288 patrons have signed the roll book.

At the January meeting, 1902, a committee: Bro. Gordon, Sisters L. Glover and E. Moelucke—was appointed to draw up by-laws.

At the April meeting, 1902, two committees were appointed, one to find a location to build a hall and the other to start a subscription fund.

After looking about a bit the present site was selected as a suitable place to build, and a hall 30x56 feet was erected, which is now one of the first Grange halls in the state.

The Grange held its first meeting in the new hall on June 18th, 1904, and in July they again entertained Pomona.

The first annual May picnic was given in May, 1908. On May 15th, 1926, we celebrated the 19th annual May picnic.

Members of the Grange who have served as Masters are: Chas. Zeek, E. N. Bates, H. C. Glover, M. C. Glover, F. W. Bates, Earl McConnell, H. M. Duss, A. M. Alspaugh, Roy Alspaugh, Millard Trullinger and Clara Hicinbotham.

This year the officers of Eagle Creek Grange are all women.

Just tell your people to write me for a copy of this survey, and I shall be glad to forward it promptly.

O. A. C. WARNS AGAINST USE OF OIL SPRAYS

Samples of both pears and apples which had been sprayed with oil, either mixed with arsenate of lead or applied before or after arsenate of lead had been sprayed, have been wiped (more carefully than in the ordinary packing house) and tested for arsenic.

Eight analyses of this fruit showed that between .028 and .041 grains per pound of arsenous oxide still remained on both apples and pears. This is far in excess of the .01 grain per pound permitted by the federal authorities.

In order to avoid the possibility of excess arsenic on the fruit, we recommend that no oil sprays be applied on either pears or apples between now and harvest time.

Lime sulphur (320B) 1 1/2 to 2 gallons to 100 gallons of water is the standard summer spray for red spider mites, but it is liable to burn tender skinned varieties of apples and pears.

Dusting with very fine sulphur has given satisfactory results against mites. The best results are obtained when the nights have some humidity and the days have bright sunshine with a temperature of 75 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade or above, but not above 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Since pure sulphur tends to become lumpy, some lime is added to facilitate dusting. The proportions of 90 pounds of sulphur to 10 pounds of lime appear to be satisfactory.

Within recent years substitutes for lime sulphur have been devised which do not have the caustic or burning action of the latter, and hence are safer to use on tender skinned varieties of pears and apples and on stone fruits. These sprays are not very active as insecticides when the weather is cool, and hence can not always be relied upon for effective action. They are, however, more active in warm weather and are of value in checking red spider outbreaks. Among these wettable sulphurs and colloidal sulphurs may be mentioned the well known Atomic Sulphur, "Dry Mix" sulfur and lime, and "Oregon cold-mix" lime and sulfur, not to mention many other satisfactory materials now on the market under various commercial names.

DINTY MOORE DEVELOPS FINE AUTO CAMP

(By Elmer M. Golder)

You often read in the newspapers about Dinty Moore, and how Jiggs gets in bad with his irate wife when he attempts to visit "Dinty Moore's". Well, Dinty Moore of Eagle Creek is running a somewhat different place of business than the Dinty Moore of eastern fame, but no doubt he is as progressive, even though not as daring, as that old Dinty in the eastern city.

We'll call him J. M. Moore, as that's his name, and if you'd like to know just how to find his place, just turn east from Clackamas station and go to Carver—keep on the north side of the river and go through Barlow and Eagle Creek, watching the road signs as you go along, as you'll see several of them telling about "Dinty Moore" and his auto camp. You will find this wonder place a short distance east of Eagle Creek stores on the main highway to Estacada, right along Eagle Creek, the creek runs right through the 40-acre tract belonging to Dinty.

About 14 months ago Moore started up business here, by opening a confectionery and service station, and preparing one of the finest camp grounds in Oregon. This confectionery building looks lots better than it did a year ago, as Dinty has put some finishing touches to it that couldn't help but spruce it up, but above all he has developed a Dickens of a fine auto camp ground, and you can drive down on the flats and all around with your car and have a good road wherever you go. All the conveniences you could desire are there, including four rest rooms, swimming holes, wading pools for little folks, fountains, and mind you, the water comes from a wonderful spring, the water of it so good that people of the cities take some home in bottles and jars for a treat, as it is better than city water, so they say.

Every man, woman and child called Mr. Moore "Dinty". So when he opened up business his friends persisted in calling him "Dinty Moore" and he saw fit to name his camp "Dinty Moore's Auto Camp." He has some more improvements in mind that he would not divulge information on at this time, but no doubt will let us know about his plans soon. "Dinty" has lived around Estacada for many years and is well known. He has always taken a great part in community enterprises and says he's going to keep right on boosting for better things.

CHAMBERLAIN IS MARRIED IN THE EAST

Washington, July.—Ex-Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon and his bride, formerly Mrs. Carolyn B. Shelton, were on their honeymoon at Virginia Beach, following their marriage. Senator Chamberlain is 72, his bride 30 years younger. Chamberlain has been practicing law here since his retirement from the senate in 1921.

Mrs. Shelton, who came from Oregon on the senator's staff when he entered the senate, is well known in official circles because of her long service, as clerk of the committee on military affairs, which position she occupied throughout the war period.

News of the marriage came as a surprise to most of his friends here.

Members of Mr. Chamberlain's family were not surprised to learn of his marriage, and had been anticipating the news for some time.

Mrs. Shelton was formerly Miss Caroline Skiff of Halfway, Ore., and has been associated with Mr. Chamberlain for over 30 years in his law practice. She served later as his secretary when he was governor and went with him to Washington when he became senator.

While secretary to the governor she received considerable recognition during Mr. Chamberlain's absence from the state, when she occupied the executive's chair for a few days.

The bride is well known in Portland and has many friends here. Mr. Chamberlain's family includes Dr. Charles Chamberlain and Mrs. Horace Tevis, both of Portland, and Mrs. Rowlan Gaither, Mrs. Charles Donald Wood and George E. Chamberlain Jr of California.—Oregon Journal.
