HANEY'S ABILITY IS RECOGNIZED

Portland, Aug. 9th. (Special)—That recognition of the services of Bert E. Haney, as United States Shipping Board Commissioner, is not confined to Pacific coast states alone, is evidenced by a letter just received by the Democratic nominee for United States senator, from Malcom Stewart, chairman of the Middle West Foreign Trade Committee, Cincinnati, Ohio, an organization devoted to the interests of foreign trade and markets, and the promotion of the American Merchant Marine. The membership of this organization comprises most of the corn and wheat growers and manufacturers of the middle western states.

"Better late than never, but I do want to tell you how very happy we were to hear of your success in the recent primary. You know we have a very warm regard and admiration for you and the excellent work you did while a member of the Shipping Board and we naturally hope to see you continue in positions that will enable us to keep up our joint work for a real American Merchant Marine.

"Of course, our committee takes no part in politics, but it is vitally interested in policies. The work you did on the Shipping

Board convinced us that you are the type of man we need in public office and if you get to the Senate, and personally hope you will. I am sure we can expect the same kind of constructive, energetic work that you so consistently displayed while a member of the Shipping Board. I am convinced that the Congress as a whole is taking much more interest in the merchant marine and is ready to grant what may be needed to maintain proper services. We do need a few more members who have studied the subject thoroughly and are able to convince their colleagues of what is needed. And I unhesitatingly place you in this class.

"It was unfortunate that you should have a controversy with the administration before leaving the Board, but you certainly maintained your honor and self-respect, and many of us feel that you contributed largely to the success of your state in holding the Northwest place on the Board. Regardless of your politics, I rather imagine your state will feel that you are a worthy representative and will send you to the United States senate.

"You probably heard of the efforts we made to have the American Oriental Mail Line sold to an Oregon-Washington company. We think the administration made a great mistake in

STANFIELD MUM ABOUT CANDIDACY

Washington, Aug. 5.—Leaving the question of his independent candidacy for the senate unsolved, Senator Robert N. Stanfield is on his way to Portland. Upon leaving Washington he declared he had on announcement to make, and that nothing need be expected from him until after he had looked over the field at first hand. He left his friends here in complete uncertainty as to his final action.

Pressure upon the senator to say that he will not be a candidate recently has been renewed, with indications that Frederick Steiwer, or his managers, in combination with Steiwer's leading newspaper supporter, are acting in concert to force a declaration from Stanfield. It has been urged upon him that Steiwer personally had nothing to do with the spurious yellow tickets, and it has also been urged that the volume of such tickets was not sufficient to affect the result.

Senator Stanfield is understood to have received these suggestions without enthusiasm. He feels that the number of false ballots has little to do with it, since the evil design has been revealed and proof secured that it was deliberately conceived and in part, at least, carried out. If Steiwer had promptly repudiated and denounced the methods used in his behalf and assisted in clearing up the clouds that hang over the conduct of his supporters on primary day, there might have been another story.
