If the motor propelled vehicle is to compete with the railroads, why should they not pay for the use of the roads constructed at public expense and Who do you think will pay to re,consturet our roads when they are hammered to pieces by trucks? ROAD BEING SECURED You will note thatthe argument against this bill is signed by Ore-J. W. Smith of Macksburg and gen Motor Stage Association by J.

> Suppose htat the railroa dshould submit a proposed law for their own government which would exmpt them from all supervision. What would we think of it? This just what the motor busses have done. They can do no more than o confuse the people so that neither will carry. I shall vote 324 for the

> Fourteen is an act setting aside 10 per cent of the fees by state board of commisions and placing same in the general funds. I assume that the legislature has invesigated and found that these boards and commissions can be operated on 90 percent of their income, therwise it would not have passed this bill. I shall vote yes for this

> Fifteen on page 54 is an initiative bill providing for the levy and collection of an income tax; on page 79 is another which I have numberand which is also an income tax bill.

> These bills are identical in their provisions go far as I can see, ex cpt that theone on page 54 has a provision for an offset or credit for taxes paid. You will note that this tex offset is not allowed as a deduction (see page 55 column 2) but it is subfracted from the taxes after the same has been computed. Therefore the property tax offset bill (page 54) will produce legs income to the state than the grange bill, (page 79) the difference being the total amount of property tares paid by income taxpayers, what amount will produce cannot be estimated at this time, but it is safe to guess that it will be small as compared with the amount produced by the grange bitt which is estimated at $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 annually.

The in come tax law of Oregon, sponled by the people produced about $3,000,000 annually and as result the state tax rate was reduced, and since the money is now lest to ug it will naturally follow that the state tax rate will again increase. It may be as claimed that an income tax law will keep some out of the state; there are always some people who will gag at a gnat and swallow a fly, but on the whole to property owners in Oregon than any sum of money which may have

As heretofore indicated I very much fear that the voters will be divided as to the two measures and defeat both of them.
