NEW CITY OFFICERS

The election of city officers which was held at the same time and place of the general state election, were mayor, recorder, treasurer and two aldermen. No election had been called or candidates filed made little difference as the following were elected: H. C. Stephens, Mayor; Wm. Dale, Recorder; Nina B. Ecker, Treasurer; C. P. Rose, Alderman, 4th ward; J. C. Duss, Alderman 5th ward. There were some 50 or more voted for who failed to make the grade. You might say they also ran.

BUCKWHEAT FEED

Buckwheat has a characteristic hard, black hull with practically no value as a feed. Unadulterated buckwheat middlings, which are difficult to obtain, are made from that part of the kernel just beneath the hull, and are very rich in protein, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The middlings are usually mixed with the hulls and sold as buckwheat feed or buckwheat bran. This product has a lower feeding value than wheat bran.

3 MILLION TROUT PLANTED

J. C. Moreland, superintendent of the Delph Creek trout hatchery, located about six miles from Estacada, last week released between 200,000 and 300,000 Eastern Brook trout for planting in the mill pond on the Clackamas river at Estacada.

These little beauties were in the pink of condition, and from four to six inches in length, and not one was lost in the planting. The water in the pond is about 75 feet in depth and some two miles long. We believe the larger body of water develop and grow. In one year these fish should be from seven to ten inches in length. The Clackamas river is noted for the abundance of insect life upon which fish there should be no doubt of the rapid development of these fish.

The planting of these fish was under the supervision of Tom Craig who has been with the commission for a number of years in this particular branch of the business, and if you could see him work you could not help saying, Tom you know your business.

Mr. Moreland has been with the Fish and Game Commission for a number of years and is conceded by those who know him to be one of the best informed men in the state on fish culture, especially all kinds of game fish. He has raised and released several million trout of different varieties this year, which have been planted in nearly all of the important streams in this locality and other parts of the state.

We understand the commission intends to repeat this plant next year, and if this is done you sports who cannot catch fish at Estacada next year had better say that you never heard of Ike Walton.

ELECTION DAY

There has not been an election in Estacada in a number of years when the voting public was any more interested than on Tuesday, and no election went off with less excitement.

At no time has there been a more friendly feeling between parties, or factions, than at this time. All were interested in some particular candidate, and were not disturbed very much over the measures on the ballot.

Below is given a short tabulation on the results in Estacada, Garfield and Springwater precincts on senator and governor.
