THE TELEPHONE STANDS FOR DEMOCRACY

Practically any town of any size in the United States periodically reads an item like this about itself: "Telephone company to enlarge its facilities here to care for future growth of the community."

No village is too small to interest the telephone company, whose aim it is to anticipate the telephone needs of every community and rural district.

It is this desire to extend its service to the farthest corners of the nation and into the smallest homes, which has given the United States a telephone service which is so far beyond that enjoyed by any other nation that comparisons are impossible. The telephone, in America, is not confined to government uses, to the aristocracy or to the official class.

No industry is more representative of democracy than the telephone; it serves all on the same basis and with the same courtesy. No other industry has a greater distribution of its stocks and bonds among its employees and the people of the nation.

LIVING BEYOND THEIR MEANS

It has become a notorious and well established fact that while the Federal Government has reduced taxes and have living within its budget the average local and state government lives far beyond its means.

Department of Commerce figures show that government spending money faster than they collect it, and out of 48 states only 17 kept within their budgets in 1925.

BETTER FARMERS, NOT MORE

The future need of our country is going to be not for an increased proportion of farmers to the rest of the population, says Secretary Jardine, but for farmers with greater ability to apply the results of research in natural sciences, of invention, and of economic and sociological analysis to agriculture and rural life.

FROZEN PIPES

The middle of a frozen pipe should never be thawed first. Work toward the water supply. To thaw a waste or sewer pipe work upward from the lower end to permit the water to drain away.

It is said that the European press was painfully surprised at the tone of President Coolidge's Armistice Day address. All that you have to do to painfully surprise them is to talk as if we expected them to pay

HOME POINTERS

(From school of Home Economics, Oregon Agricultural College)

In roasting a turkey or fowl of any kind, dryness is prevented by roasting with breast down instead of up.

Milk is the most perfect food known. Every child needs at least a quart of milk a day, and every adult at least a pint a day.

Raw cranberry relish is delicious and easy to make. The cranberries are put through a grinder and equal amounts of sugar added. The mixture is then placed in a covered jar and allowed to stand for two weeks when it is ready to serve. It will keep indefinitely.

A delicious ten-minute dessert is made with one cup of thick cream whipped, white of one egg beaten until stiff, and 10 cents worth of peanut brittle rolled on the board with a rolling pin; combined by carefully cutting and folding together. It is served cold in sherbet glasses.

Stale bread is freshened by wrapping the loaf in a dampened cloth and setting it in a warm oven until the loaf becomes soft and is again like fresh warm bread.

Instead of candy, make sweets to tuck in the school lunch boxes by grinding together in the meat chopper 1 pound of figs, 1 pound of dried prunes or seedless raisins, or both, and 1 pound of nut meats. Mix thoroughly, roll out until about half an inch thick on a board dredged with confectioner's sugar, and cut into small pieces. Or make into balls, rolled in the sugar. Wrap in paraffin paper to keep.

Blood spots are removed by moistening a small piece of cotton cloth with saliva and placing it on the spot. Left a few moments the spot will disappear.

Oregon's building record for October shows 24 per cent gain over October, 1925.

Oregon state highways have cost $649,125, so far this year.
