HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By Lillian Duncan

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Springwater entertained the seniors of the high school at a Valentine party last Monday evening. Those present were Lola Moore, Helen Smith, Edna Bates, Ruth Glover, Vernice Fantz, Shirley Burnett, Grant Robley, Marvel Deal, Jim Jennings, John and Bernard Whitaker, Mildred and Gertrude Marshall, Cletus Johnson, Floyd Drew, Dave Ely, Harlow Sarver, Wilma Kitching, Joe and Vernon Marshall and Lester Cloaner.
 The Junior Syncoptators played for the dancing.
 A delightful luncheon was served and the whole evening enjoyed by all those present.

The Estacada boys and girls teams were defeated by the Sandy teams on our home floor Friday night by the scores of 17-15 and 25-17. After the games the teams were invited to the high school where sandwiches and chocolate were served them.

A game between Estacada and Gresham will be played on Estacada's floor this Thursday night, Feb. 17.

Reverend Simms gave an interesting talk before the student body last week on the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Dorothy Phillips, a graduate of Estacada Hi in '24, visited the school last Friday.

VALENTINE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gohring entertained at a Valentine party at their home Saturday evening. "500" was played and Mrs. R. H. Currin received high score and Mrs. Don Allen low score for women. Mr. A. E. Sparks received high score and Theodore Archbery low score for men.
 The house was decorated very attractively. The lunch was also in keeping with Valentine's day.
 Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Don Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Currin, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Eshleman, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heiple, Mr. A. E. Sparks and Mr. H. H. Sparks and Mrs. Gerald Wilcox.

TO SELL EGGS BY WEIGHT

A bill is before the legislature, introduced by the Marion delegation, providing that eggs be sold by weight instead of by the dozen.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness sympathy and the beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends in the loss of our beloved son and brother, Fred S. Bannister. We especially thank the members of the American Legion and Rev. Kirkwood.

EAGLE CREEK CHURCH

The special Gospel meetings, being held at the Eagle Creek church at 7:30 p. m. under the leadership of Rev. James A. Smith, evangelist, are well under way. Mr. Smith is not the emotional type of evangelist, but believes in a sane, scriptural evangelism, and his messages are clear-cut and right to the point.

Friday night, February 18, will be young people's night, and the subject is "The Faults of Your Neighbors." Some special music is also planned for that night.

You are cordially invited to come out and enjoy these meetings. Their success depends on you.

OBITUARY

Fred Bannister

Mr. Fred S. Bannister, 39, died at the state hospital at Salem, February 11. The funeral services were held at the Christian church in Estacada February 13 at 2 p. m., with Rev. Kirkwood of Springwater officiating. He was buried at the Odd Fellows cemetery under the direction of Joseph P. Gates of Gresham. The Carl Douglas post of the American Legion had charge of the services at the cemetery.

Mr. Bannister leaves a mother and one brother to mourn his loss. He was well known in and around Estacada and was one of the first from this vicinity to go across the waters during the World war.

Mittie Grimes Clay

Died at Estacada, Oregon, February 13, 1927, Mittie Grimes Clay, wife of Rev. B. F. Clay, after a long illness. She was born in Clark county, Kentucky, August 15, 1847. She was, since her marriage in 1878, a constant help and inspiration to her husband, a minister in the Christian church, and in all of the churches of which he has been pastor, she was an active leader in missionary work. Burial services were held here Tuesday.

WHY THEY DON'T VOTE

The National Civic Federation, according to a recent statement, has reached the "unpleasant conclusion" that apathetic voters cannot be "hurrahed" into going to the polls.

The federation has come to this conclusion after a diligent and non-partisan research into the results of the recent election, and it announces further that the total vote in the off year election of 1926 was less than the total vote in the 1922 off year election in twenty-four states, while in forty-one states the figures for 1926 fell far behind the figures for the presidential election. So it appears that when it comes to voting, we are still slipping in America, in spite of the many appeals which have been made during the past few years, urging the sovereign citizen to "come out and vote."

In an effort to get out the vote in 1926 there was cooperation among a number of national civic organizations of the highest standing. That these efforts failed is evidence of the fact that there is something seriously wrong with the American voter or with the conditions surrounding him.

Many reasons have been given for this steady decline in the vote, but the chief reason is not hard to find. The apathy of the voters has increased in proportion as the partisanship and interest in party principles among the voters has decreased. In other words, as our party spirit declines, and our people have put before them personalities instead of principles, the interest in voting subsidies.

Many of our older voters can well remember the days when party spirit ran high. There was interest in the principles of the two great political organizations. The voters discussed these principles, argued them back and forth, and then when election day rolled around they came out and voted their convictions at the polls.

Then came the day of the primary. Principles were lost sight of and the personality of the various candidates became the interesting issue, not only in the primary but in the election too. The whole basis of our elections changed. Instead of voting for principles we began voting for the fellow who talked the loudest or the fellow who promised us the most—and generally delivered the least.

As a result our political campaigns, primary and general began to be filled with bitter personalities, with petty bickerings of a personal nature. Instead of one election every two years we began to have four or five, most of them full of bitter personal quarrels. Our political demoralization became complete and remains that way. If you don't believe this just look over the present situation in some of our chief governing bodies and become convinced.

As a result a great many people have become disgusted and have formed the habit, in increasing numbers of washing their hands of the whole political situation and remaining away from the polls. Unfortunately the people most easily disgusted with politics are people of the conservative or constructive type of mind, with the result that the political atmosphere has suffered accordingly.

The real reason therefore for the apathy among the voters is the substitution of political personality and demagoguery for political principle, a condition which the party primary has been the chief factor in bringing about.

High wages in the United States have been both a cause and a result of more efficient production. A better income for the laborer has meant a greater individual output. The same number of workers was able to produce a larger volume of commodities. The resulting fall in the price of commodities added a still
