FARM REMINDERS

Growers are making preparations in eastern Oregon to put out bait for grasshoppers at the correct time, states the entomologist of the experiment station. These insects are likely to be serious this season, he says. If growers wait until they appear and start destroying crops it will be too late to control them.

Shade for bees is not recommended in Oregon, says H. A. Scullen, of the experiment station. Bees do not dry out well unless they have sunlight. If a shed is used for protection it is built high enough to allow the sun to penetrate. The double telescope cover usually gives enough protection and shade.

Bees for the beginner are obtained in Oregon from mid-March to mid-April, says H. A. Scullen, bee specialist of the experiment station. Good colonies are bought from a dependable beekeeper in the neighborhood. If they cannot be had in this way they are shipped in 2-pound combs packages, or in 2-frame nuclei. Sometimes a swarm is captured and transferred from a hollow tree, or is attracted by a decoy hive.

A New York man who once peddled ice is now head of a ten million-dollar merger. There is nothing more profitable than a pair of ice scales.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Children enjoy junket made with vegetable coloring.

Common brown manilla paper absorbs fat from fried cakes, potatoes and croquettes.

Soaking material in sour milk or buttermilk removes mildew.

Infertile eggs bought for preservation will keep longer than fertile eggs under adverse conditions. They contain no developed germ, are slow to decay and cost no more than fertile eggs.

Baking soda, often used with green vegetables to set the color and make more tender, kills some of the vitamins.

Rayon requires special care in laundering. As with silk, it should not be rubbed directly with soap, but treated with a solution of mild soap dissolved in lukewarm water before put with materials to be washed. It is then washed with a gentle, squeezing motion, wrapped in a soft towel to absorb excess moisture and ironed with a moderately hot iron.

The greasy condition of doughnuts is removed by plunging them quickly into hot water immediately after they are fried.

One heaping tablespoonful is equal to three level tablespoonfuls, and one rounding tablespoonful is equal to two level tablespoonfuls.

The lower crust of berry pie will not be soggy if sprinkled with flour or flour and sugar before the filling is poured in.

A man in Los Angeles the other day refused to pay the barber because the barber failed to give him a hot towel. Most of the men we know would rather pay not to get one.

If we were appointed to the senate and the senate refused to seat us, we wouldn't worry any, because we have been thrown out of better places than that anyhow.

GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Jack Duus, Margaret Betts and Jean Graybeel are back in school after an enforced absence due to chicken-pox.

Ruth Barr, Imogene Clester, Bob Cooke and Charles Surfus have a record of perfect attendance during the month of February.

The first-grade pupils have derived considerable amusement and some benefit from an interchange of letters with Theodore Ahlberg who is confined at home with the chicken-pox.

Mrs. Ernest Duus and Mrs. L. Trexell visited the primary room Friday afternoon.

Little Marjorie Hogan, granddaughter of Mrs. Page has joined the ranks of the third grade under the instruction of Mrs. Lane.

Merle Boyer, Walter Scrutton, Helen Haden, and Rose Baker are absent from the fourth grade room on account of sickness.

The P. T. A. benefit show given Friday night and Saturday afternoon was well attended. Mrs. Gardner's room won the ticket-selling contest, selling over $12 worth of tickets, for which a prize will be awarded. Miss Beck's room came out second.

Six boys and girls in Miss Beck's room got 100 per cent in the recent county spelling test. They were Lois Bates, Carol Yocum, Glen Cary, Ella Hayden, Amanda Sarver, Lyle Darrow and Glen Marchbank.

There were seven boys and girls in Miss Beck's rooms who were neither absent nor tardy during the past month. They were Lyle Darrow, Gilbert Gilgan, Neva Lemon, Carol Yocum, Louise Armstrong, Glen Cary and Catherine O'Brien. The last four named have been neither absent nor tardy since they entered school this year.

Pulitzer Would Have Had Royal Birds Shot

Fitzroy Gardner, in his book "More Reminiscences of an Old Bohemian," tells this story about Joseph Pulitzer: "On one occasion, having to stay one night in London, and fearing that his rest would be disturbed by street traffic, he instructed his London representative to obtain at any cost the use of some private house where no traffic could be heard. One of the mansions in Kensington palace gardens was rented for a week for the purpose of a night's occupation. Pulitzer was quite satisfied with the arrangement until, in the early hours of the morning, he was awakened by the piercing shrieks, not many yards away, of peacocks from Kensington palace. He rang for his valet, gave him a revolver—Pulitzer generally had one—and told him to go out and shoot the birds. The valet, not daring to disobey his master, did some desultory firing; the neighborhood was alarmed; police rushed to the spot, and Pulitzer was seriously inconvenienced by the enforced temporary absence of his servant."

Only a Life Interest

A Quaker was looking at one of the great pictures which Turner refused to sell. "Mr. Turner," said he, "my nephew tells me that thou valuest that picture very highly." "Well," said Turner, "it is true that I have been offered a very large sum, 1,500 guineas, for it, which I have refused." "Then," said the Quaker, "I should call that picture my dead stock. It just costs 75 guineas a year to keep that picture on thy wall." "I have never looked at it in that light," confessed Turner; "but I have only a life interest in it."

OREGON STATE NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Brief Resume of Happenings of the Week Collected for Our Readers.

George Franklin Elsin, 62, life-long resident of Oregon, forest ranger and ex-legislator, died at his home in Salem.

Bandon harbor between the Moore mill and the ocean will be dredged this summer, government engineers have announced.

Dr. Harold C. Bean of Portland was appointed a member of the state board of health to succeed Dr. C. M. Barbee who died recently.

Announcement of the resignation of Dean William G. Hale, head of the University of Oregon school of law was made at Eugene.

More than 2000 rabbits were killed in a drive northeast of Bend when 14 hunters, armed with shotguns, covered several sections of land.

A number of Salem high school students were called on the carpet for polling with eggs automobiles passing the school structure recently.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the building and machinery of the Stayton flax plant at Stayton. The loss is estimated at $8000.

Delegates from six Pacific and northwestern states attended a two day convention of the Northwestern Electric Light & Power Association at Portland.

The Pendleton Woolen mills, which have been closed since the death of Chauncey Bishop in January, resumed operations last week with a full crew of workers.

A district convention of the American Legion was held in Pendleton Saturday, with legionnaires from Union, Umatilla, Morrow and Gilliam counties in attendance.

The government will be asked to send the United States dredge Col P. S. Michie to Coos bay at once. Shipping is crippled there by the channel and bar conditions.

A special election will be held in Canby March 19 to vote on the question of levying a special tax of $3000 to purchase more land for the union high school grounds.

A branch of the state library, to serve the various counties in the interior, is to be established at Arlington, if the city will furnish quarters and a local librarian.

Crushed under tons of gravel and rock, Harry Woods, 22, was killed, and his companion, Clinton Moore, was buried for 38 minutes in an accident in a gravel pit near Bend.

A special election for the city of Hubbard has been called by the city council for April 28 to vote on bonds of $10,000 for establishment of an electric lighting plant.

The Southern Pacific has the necessary material on the ground and will begin at once the erection of a fine new passenger and freight depot at Algona in Klamath county.

Former Senator Robert N. Stanfield plans to return to Oregon in about two weeks, he says probably to engage once more in the sheep business. He will make Portland his home.

Reports filed with Clara A. Lee state insurance commissioner, show that a total of 35 fires in Oregon out side of Portland during February resulted in losses aggregating $146,930.

Transfer of the annual summer campment of the Oregon national guard from Medford to Garhart has been finally approved, except for minor details, by the war department.

After several weeks' investigation, a Baker county credit bureau was organized at a meeting of merchants in Baker, to prevent their incurring losses from the present credit system.

Governor Patterson issued requisition papers looking to the return to Oregon of Albert Brownlee, who is wanted in Lane county for murder. Brownlee was under arrest at Walls, Walla.

Carl Pope was appointed state land attorney for Marion county to succeed Draxler Small, who has resigned. L. P. Conn was appointed state land attorney for Lake county. He will succeed O. C. Gibbs.

More than 70 per cent of the 263 Oregon high school students who participated in the Bible study examinations in January failed, according to C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction.

Allan Jones, for the past four years, hallif of the state supreme court, has resigned to accept employment in the claims department of the United States veterans' bureau, with headquarters in Portland.

Governor Patterson has received information that federal quarantine has been ordered on alfalfa hay shipments to the state of Nebraska from Baker, Malheur and Union counties because of the alfalfa weevil.

It is not always because a cigar is badly made that the wrapper curls up and works off. It is often because a right-handed man is smoking a left-handed cigar. A left-handed cigar is one rolled by the maker's left hand, for all cigar makers must be ambidextrous.

A leaf of tobacco for the wrapper is cut on the bias and is rolled from left to right on the filler. The other piece, for reasons of economy, is then used, and must be rolled the opposite way by the workman's other hand.

The smoker, if he holds one of these left-handed cigars in his right hand, is sure to roll the wrapper the wrong way and loosen it. But the cigar is not a bad one—it is a left-handed one.

Ants Fight to Death

Extermination of red-ant, one of the most common pests in Australia, frequently is effected by starting a war between these ants and warlike soldier ants. The war between the two varieties of ants is started by placing a large uncooked bone near the nest occupied by the red ants, and when they begin feeding, the bone is removed gradually nearer the nest of soldier ants, a writer in the Sydney Bulletin tells us. When the two tribes meet while attempting to obtain food from the same bone, open warfare follows, during which casualties become exceedingly heavy on both sides. Usually the battle ends in the complete extermination of one of the armies.
